BIDDLE IS GIVEN 30 DAYS TO TRY CIO POLITICIANS

Dies Accuses 71 on U.S. Pay Rolls.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., Aug. 2.—A 30 day ultimatum was served today upon Atty. Gen. Biddle as the house committee on un-American activities voted to recommend the prosecution of 71 government officials on the basis of evidence they were leagued with the CIO political action committee in illegal electioneering.

Atty. Gen. Biddle.

Sept. 1 was the deadline set by Chairman Dies [D., Tex.] for Biddle to act. If the attorney general does not follow his oath of office, Dies said, and fails to proceed before that date against New Dealers who have violated the Hatch act's prohibition against political activities by federal employes, congress will be asked to take the matter into its own hands.

Impeachment Is Threatened.

Dies said in a telephone conversation from his home in Texas to the committee's chief investigator, Robert E. Stripling, that he had in mind the passage of legislation making it a penitentiary offense for a government employe to cooperate with a political organization while on the federal pay roll.

Sentiment was also reported strong among the committee members, two of whom have lost their seats in congress as a result of the CIO-PAC's slush fund influence and government hookup, for initiation of impeachment proceedings against Biddle, if he refuses to take action.

Seven of the eight members of the committee urged prosecutions.

Phone Calls Listed.

The evidence consists of hundreds of long distance telephone slips and telegrams showing communications between high government officials, including Biddle, and the New York headquarters of Sidney Hillman's CIO-PAC during the primary campaigns. Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, the President's wife, who holds no official office, also was consulted.

Prosecution of the Hillman group under the Smith-Connally act prohibiting labor organizations from contributing to campaign funds was also recommended.

"Thirty days is a reasonable time in which Mr. Biddle can decide to act," Dies said. "If he doesn't move by then, I shall take to the floor of the house in behalf of legislation divorcing the government from the CIO by making it a penitentiary offense to engage in political activities while accepting federal salaries.

[The Hatch act merely provides for removal from office of politically active employes.]

Charges It Is a Racket.

"The way they are operating now has become a racket. These people get on the government pay roll and obtain all the information they need and then quit their jobs to go to work with the PAC. It is a trick to perpetuate the New Deal."

Fifteen top officials of the CIO-PAC were on the government payroll before they joined the political action committee, Stripling said. Their names and CIO-PAC positions are:

Hillman, chairman; C. B. Baldwin, assistant chairman; Charlotte Carr, New York director; C. A. McPeak, Texas director; George S. Mitchell, southern states director; Amer Lehman, western states director; Raymond S. McKeough, Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin director; Leisa Gronson, Los Angeles official; Joseph Gaer, research staff; Emil Corwin, radio director; Clark Foreman, secretary; Thomas Burns, assistant chairman; "Ping" Ferry, publicity director; Verda Barnes, women's division director, and Thomas R. Amlie, research chief.

Pick Douglas Site for Huge Air Terminal

BY FRANK STURDY.

An air lines' engineering committee has made a report to the Chicago Plan commission recommending the Douglas airport near Park Ridge as the most favorable site for development into the new and larger major air terminal Chicago requires to serve post-war air travel.

The committee representing the air lines, whose needs are of paramount consideration in planning a principal terminal, made its survey at the request of the commission, which has the report on file, but has not yet announced it. Eventually the commission will report to the city council.

At present, Chicago airport at 63d st. and Cicero av. is one of the best in the country because of its system of paved dual runways. The airport is one mile square.

Enlargement a Huge Task.

The runways must be lengthened to accommodate the larger, heavier, and faster planes expected after the war, but this cannot be done without acquiring land, condemning buildings, and relocating a railroad if the airport is to be expanded to the dimensions the future will demand.

Whenever the existing airport is superseded by a larger one it can continue to serve a useful purpose as a base of feeder air lines or other nonscheduled commercial operations, cargo and mail air transport, and civilian flying. About $13,000,000 has been invested in it.

As alternatives to expansion of the present airport at an estimated cost of 50 millions of dollars, the committee considered the Douglas site, an area in Clearing west of Cicero av. at 74th st., a Lake Calumet fill, and an island airport in the lake off 39th st.

Lake Fort Cost Immense.

From the standpoint of accessibility, unlimited opportunity for any unforeseen enlarging that might prove necessary, general attractiveness of location and lure for recreation seekers, the committee found the lake front site desirable, it is understood. The only objection raised to it was cost. Estimates of the expense of a lake fill to provide runways comparable with those to be had from a land site of 3,000 acres are loose at best, but approach 125 million to 150 million dollars.

Travel time over a connecting causeway from such an island to Outer dr. and thence to the loop would be 10.8 minutes, according to a plan commission study. The present airport is now 36 minutes from the loop, but that time will be cut to 20.4 minutes when the proposed southwest express highway is constructed.

Competing Sites Eliminated.

The Clearing site is farther from the loop than the present airport and would depend for its utility on the same southwest highway. It has no special advantages to recommend it. At Lake Calumet, industrial smoke from the many mills and factories near-by would be a hazard requiring control at the cost of inconvenience to the industries, and probably some millions of dollars.

These, in brief, were the considerations, it is understood that led the committee to conclude that the Douglas site, which is free from physical disadvantages and can be acquired and improved at an esti-

Race-Provoked Strike Breeds Violent Day in Philadelphia

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 2 [Special].—Government intervention in the city-wide tie-up of this war center's public transportation systems was awaited tonight as tension was increased by a new shutdown on transit lines that had resumed service briefly.

An appeal to President Roosevelt to "take appropriate action" was made by the war labor board after the board concluded that arbitration would not be effective in the two day shutdown that has curtailed war production and precipitated clashes between whites and Negroes.

Operate for Two Hours.

Such action usually is a prelude to government seizure of paralyzed facilities. It was believed that the army or the office of defense transportation would be assigned to operate the traction lines if federal control is exercised.

Subway crews returned to their jobs and trains were operated on a curtailed basis for two hours tonight, but the lines were tied up again when the men suddenly quit work again without explanation.

An international officer of the CIO Transport Workers' union, whose members comprise most of the 6,000 operators engaged in the walkout, said he thought there was not "a ghost of a chance" that the workers would return to their jobs tomorrow. He added that the only hope was "that something big will break in Washington."

Carry Guns and Knives.

Meantime, sporadic violence continued tonight in the dispute that grew out of the upgrading of Negroes to better jobs in the transit system. Police reserves and auxiliary officers raced to scenes of disturbances in many parts of the city. More than 300 Negroes had been arrested and 13 persons hospitalized in clashes in which both whites and Negroes were beaten.

Police said fast moving gangs of Negroes, comprised mostly of teenage persons, roamed some neighborhoods carrying guns, knives, bottles, stones, or bricks. They looted groceries, taprooms, and drugstores after smashing windows. They hurled stones at automobiles and pulled motorists out of cars and beat them.

A taxicab driver was slugged when he stopped his cab to discharge a passenger in a heavily populated Negro district. Another motorist, John Young, 39, was knocked unconscious with a brick when he left his car after Negroes had showered it with coal. Police said a white woman was slugged by a Negro in the same district.

A declaration of martial law was asked by the Philadelphia citizens' committee, comprised of white and Negro community leaders.

Byrnes Calls It "Strike."

By preventing workers from getting to their jobs the transit tie-up heavily affected industries in this vast war center, the country's third largest city. The war department reported serious effect on the production of radar, heavy artillery, bombs, and other supplies vitally needed on the fighting fronts.

Altho leaders of the CIO union contended the stoppage was not a strike, War Mobilization Director Byrnes termed the trouble a "strike" in announcing he had transmitted to President Roosevelt the WLB's appeal to him to act.

The stoppage developed suddenly early yesterday, without union authorization, in protest against the hiring of Negro drivers by the Philadelphia Transportation company, which operates all of the city's public transit lines.

CAT'S $100,000 WINDFALL MAY BE MERE $40,000

Dedham, Mass., Aug. 2 (AP).—The fortunes of Buster, 8 year old cat reported to have been left $100,000 by his late owner, Woodbury Rand, appeared to take a downward swing tonight.

Charles N. Rogerson, trustee and executor of the will, announced it was his interpretation Buster had been left but $40,000. Rogerson said Margaret T. Thomson, former housekeeper for Rand, who had been delegated under the will to care for Buster, may be the recipient of the windfall.

In the original will Rand left $60,000 for the "shelter and maintenance of the cat" and left $40,000 with the housekeeper for the "welfare" of Buster. Rand cut off seven relatives to whom he originally had bequeathed $20,000 — explaining he had revoked the gifts "because of their contemptuous attitude and cruelty toward my cat."

Pointing out that Rand, a Brookline lawyer, later made pen and ink corrections to a typewritten codicil of the will, Rogerson said the bequests to the cat and to the housekeeper are "one and the same sum and had been reduced from $100,000 to $40,000."

DOYLES NEED 16 COMMANDMENTS

So She Writes 10, He 6, to Save Marriage.

Daniel E. Doyle, 31, a street car conductor, agreed in Superior court yesterday to obey 10 domestic commandments written by his wife, Mildred, 28, in an attempted reconciliation, and she promised to follow six rules he proposed as a guide for her conduct.

Mr. and Mrs. Doyle, married Nov. 11, 1939, live at 1511 W. 72d pl. and have three children, Daniel Jr., 4; Jack, 2; and Thomas, 4 months old. She charged him with cruelty in a bill for divorce.

Wife Presents Demands.

"Mrs. Doyle does not like to see her family broken up," her attorney, Victor Frohlich, told Judge Joseph Sabath. "She is willing to live with Mr. Doyle again if he will keep 10 rules which she has prepared."

"Only ten?" asked Judge Sabath. "What are they?"

Frohlich presented a typewritten list:

"1. She to run home.

"2. Husband not to hit wife or call her names.

"3. Husband to allow wife more money for food and home expenses.

"4. Wife to have an allowance for her personal use.

"5. Husband to keep yard and outside of home neat and clean.

"6. On his days off he shall mow lawn.

"7. Wife to have every other Tuesday off to attend her club.

"8. Husband to take wife out once a week.

"9. Husband to give kisses and affection to wife.

"10. Husband permitted to keep $10 per week spending money."

Hubby Drafts Rules of Own.

Doyle said he would agree to the rules, but he would like some "freedoms."

"Write yourself out some," Judge Sabath told him.

Doyle sat at a table in the courtroom and wrote six:

"1. Wife not to break or destroy property in home.

"2. Wife to count 50 before doing anything.

"3. Wife not to get angry because she can't go out every time she wants to.

"4. Wife not to tell husband how much better neighbors and club women live.

"5. When wife goes to the store she is to buy all she needs so she won't have to make 10 trips each day.

"6. Wife to set table completely so she won't have to be getting up and down all time during meal."

2 COLUMNS KNIFE ACROSS PENINSULA; 1,022 AMERICAN TROOPS DIE ON GUAM

Marines Count 7,419 Jap Dead; Push Ahead a Mile.

PACIFIC FLEET HDQ., Pearl Harbor, Aug. 2 (AP).—United States marines fought their way more than a mile northward on Guam yesterday, meeting increased Japanese resistance, Adm. Nimitz reported tonight.

Casualties thru yesterday, the navy said, were 1,022 killed, 4,946 wounded, and 305 missing. Marines counted 7,419 enemy dead.

In the advance three towns—Saucio, Tot, and Timoneng—and the air field at Tiyan were taken. This made seven air fields taken in the Marianas.

Aircraft from carriers aided in the fighting yesterday with attacks by bombs and rockets on enemy installations and troop concentrations.

208 Killed on Tinian.

Caves and ravines on the southern end of Tinian Island were partly cleaned out yesterday and American troops buried 2,075 Japanese dead. Large numbers of enemy dead remained to be buried.

Our Tinian casualties were 208 killed, 1,121 wounded, and 32 missing.

Lt. Gen. Holland M. Smith, commanding general fleet marine forces, sent to Maj. Gen. A. D. Bruce, commanding general, 77th infantry division, a dispatch commending the division for its fight on Guam.

A fourth island, Rota, between Guam and Tinian, had been invaded by American troops, the Tokyo radio said. There was no confirmation of this report from Adm. Nimitz.

Japs Stream from Caves.

ABOARD U. S. EXPEDITIONARY FLAGSHIP, Tinian Island, Aug. 2 (AP).—Hundreds of Japanese civilians streamed out of hidden caves on Tinian Island today and gave up to American marines. Other leathernecks pressed the job of cleaning out remnants of an estimated 8,300 Japanese soldiers still hiding out.

Tinian town has been renamed Greenwich Village by the marines, who already have renamed the streets for Manhattan thorofares.

An American officer said it is possible that several hundred Japanese soldiers are hiding in cavelike communities where they had stored food and water. This makes it necessary to dig them out.

The closing hours of the fight for Tinian saw the Japanese failing to come out for their usual "banzai" attack. Instead they used small groups or a few hundred soldiers in suicide counter-assaults. Marine casualties were "very light."

Everything is rapidly turning American now. The marines enjoyed an open air movie last night.

NAZIS MAY QUIT IN 7 WEEKS, EDEN TELLS COMMONS

LONDON, Aug. 2 (AP).—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden assured the house of commons today that no peace would be made with Germany in the next seven weeks—altho he held out the possibility that the enemy might surrender in that period.

Opposing a government motion for a commons recess until Sept. 26, Laborite John Lawson said if the allies were to beat Germany in that period the government then would make peace—and he didn't like the sort of peace they would make.

Eden replied:

"You need not be anxious. There is not the least risk of anything like that happening. You are really confusing two different things—the surrender of the enemy with terms of the peace, which are an altogether later stage than the surrender."

8 MILES TO EAST PRUSSIA; REDS OPEN NEW DRIVE

LONDON, Aug. 3 [Thursday]—(AP).—The 3d White Russian army thrust within eight miles of East Prussia's pre-1939 border yesterday in the foremost of twin drives aimed at the heart of the Junkers homeland.

Other soviet armies tightened their siege of Warsaw, pushed a quadruple drive against possibly 300,000 Germans isolated in Estonia and Latvia, and broke thru German lines in a new offensive in the south toward Krakow, Poland's second city.

Take Town Near Border.

The closest approach to East Prussia came with the capture of a town eight miles southeast of the junction town of Schirwindt on the frontier, the Moscow midnight bulletin said. The Russians also captured a railway town nine miles from the border and the city of Vilkaviskis, two miles farther distant.

Koenigsberg, East Prussia's principal city, lay 96 miles due west.

The soviet bulletin also reported a Red army spearhead driving 40 miles due north from captured Kaunas and another to the northeast, further squeezing the Germans isolated in the North Baltic area.

Four Armies Advancing.

The Russian war bulletin did not mention directly either the fiery siege of Warsaw or the progress of the great Baltic entrapment, but German acknowledgments and other sources made it clear that four Russian armies methodically were proceeding with drives on Riga, Latvia, and the slicing up of the two isolated German armies in the North Baltic area.

The Germans also made the major admission that the Russians had thrown two strong bridgeheads across the Vistula river, 120 miles southeast of Warsaw, and had driven 17 miles west of the river at one place.

The Russians did not confirm the Vistula crossings, but by their own account were within 10 miles of the river and advancing speedily on a 50 mile front 80 miles east of Krakow.

Several of the gains recorded by the soviet bulletin were confirmations of German acknowledgments earlier in the day. These included soviet capture of two junction towns on either side of Mariampole, East Prussia.

Drive Along Canal.

Forty miles farther south, Gen. Cherniakhovsky's men were driving along the Augustow canal, only 11 miles from the original East Prussian border.

Outside Warsaw, Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky's forces, aided by the Polish corps organized in Russia, turned fresh showers of artillery and tank fire on the Germans.

Gen. Ivan C. Bagramian's Red army of the 1st Baltic front, which on Tuesday speared to the Baltic coast, 25 miles west of Riga, was reported in Moscow dispatches to have widened its corridor to 10 miles.

The Germans broadcast that another soviet thrust had reached 55 miles southwest of Pskov to the vicinity of Marienburg, on the road to Riga—a gain of 28 miles from last previously reported positions.

British Roll 17 Mi.; Germans Facing Normandy Trap.

BY E. R. NODERER.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

SUPREME HDQ. ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Aug. 3 [Thursday].—Two American columns smashing across Brittany today threatened the port of St. Malo and raced toward Rennes, half way across the Breton peninsula.

Dispatches from the front said the forces of Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley were "shearing the German front like a sword cleaving its way thru butter."

Other armored columns dashing out against crumbling German defenses to the east and southeast of captured Avranches widened the coastal corridor down which the Yanks were pouring into Brittany to nearly 20 miles.

All along the British and American fronts the Germans were in retreat.

British Drive Gains.

The German radio said the Americans were "driving on Rennes," and said the bold operational objective of this column probably was a break-thru to the mouth of the Loire river, 60 miles south, to lop off the whole peninsula.

Lt. Gen. Miles C. Dempsey's British army smashed thru the center of the Nazis' sagging Normandy line and thrust a seven mile salient eastward from the old Norman capital of Vire for a total gain of 17 miles south from Caumont in four days.

The British push extended over a wide front. They captured the village of Amaye-sur-Seulles, about 20 miles northeast of Vire, and had advanced another three miles south to within two miles of Aunay.

"The whole operation south of Caumont is a major success," Dempsey's headquarters said. "We have definitely broken thru on a part of the front where no progress had been made for some time."

Set Traps for Nazis.

In the area of Tessy, Percy, and Villedieu les Poeles, all of which are in allied hands, the Germans were reported putting up something like organized resistance. Even in this arc, however, the enemy was being pushed back against the Vire river where it might be caught between the eastward driving Americans and the British.

British troops were fighting in the streets of Vire and to the east, three miles north of their spearhead on the Vire-Vassy road, they captured Estry. Farther north, five miles below Villers-Bocage, key to the Nazi defense perimeter in the Caumont sector, the town of Aunay was threatened with encirclement. Two miles below it the British stormed Ondefontaine and fierce fighting raged there.

These advances by the British and Americans toward Caen threatened to encircle all of the German forces left in Normandy. They also represented a direct threat to the strongly fortified German positions at Caen and Villers-Bocage, both from the flank and the rear.

Battle South of Caen.

South of Caen, the heavy battle for Tilly la Campagne went on with the Canadians throwing in attack after attack against desperate German resistance.

Bradley's men in the west swept in two directions from captured Brecey, advancing on St. Pois, five miles northeast, and also striking some miles southeast.

Villedieu les Poeles, 10 miles north, by-passed in the southward surge, fell to the Yanks, and American columns stabbed eastward in the direction of Paris. They were within a mile of Juvigny le Tertre, 15 miles east of Avranches.

In Brittany Bradley's men were believed to be facing only two or three weak German divisions. It was thought therefore that a comparatively small American force on the line of the Vilaine river south of Rennes could contain these German forces until they could be mopped up at leisure.

The allied main body meanwhile will have a straight run thru eastward to the Seine river with its right flank on the Loire or Sarthe river and its left on the channel. In such a situation, it is believed, it would be beyond the German capacity to hold so wide a front continuously and in strength. This would offer the allies many opportunities to exploit their superiority in armor and mobility.

Already the German debacle had netted 20,000 prisoners and resulted in destruction or near destruction of a dozen German divisions.

Poses Another Cherbourg.

If the Germans stood to fight, field dispatches pointed out, they were likely to be destroyed, while if they tried to retreat they would likely suffer great losses in the giant funnel between the Seine and Loire rivers tapering toward Paris. The allied air forces have spent three months battering the bridges across both rivers.

"The Germans can't think of pulling back to Paris," a spokesman at Dempsey's headquarters was quoted.

Altho the Brittany peninsula is 100 miles wide and 150 miles long and many times the size of the Normandy peninsula, its conquest was proceeding rapidly and more Germans were threatened with entrapment there in "another Cherbourg" which would seal off the prize ports of Brest and St. Nazaire.

GERMAN WAR REPORT.

Of France, yesterday's broadcast German war bulletin said:

"South of Caen enemy attacks supported by tanks and strong artillery fire collapsed, with heavy losses inflicted on the attackers. On both sides of the Moyon and in the Percy-Villedieu area all enemy attacks were smashed. Thirty enemy tanks were destroyed here. Heavy fighting with advancing enemy tank formations is in progress south and southeast of Avranches, where 34 enemy tanks were knocked out.

"Last night German bombers with telling effect attacked enemy spearheads and villages where enemy troops were billeted."

ILLINOIS DRAFT HEAD DENIES HE PLANS TO QUIT

Col. Paul G. Armstrong, director of the Illinois state selective service system, last night denied published reports that he had resigned to accept a position with the United States employment service.

"There is no truth in the report," Col. Armstrong said, "and I don't know where it could have come from."

He said that he had spoken to various persons about another job, but that no decision had been reached, and that he has no present intention of submitting his resignation. He appeared indignant that the report had been published.

Col. Armstrong was reached by THE TRIBUNE at his room in the Morrison hotel late last night. Earlier efforts to verify the report were unavailing, with selective service spokesmen in Springfield and in Washington expressing doubts as to its authenticity.

In St. Louis Gov. Green, attending a governor's conference, said he had "heard" that Col. Armstrong was contemplating quitting in favor of the other post, but that he had not yet resigned.

ALLIES IN AREA THAT GAVE BIRTH TO VAUDEVILLE

BY JOHN THOMPSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

U. S. 1ST ARMY HDQ. IN NORMANDY, Aug. 2.—Not many allied soldiers know it but in their drive to the city of Vire they are coming in contact with the area which produced the term vaudeville. Below Vire is the Virene valley called Vaux de Vire, which was the subject of many gay songs in the 15th and 16th centuries, ballads about the district's cider and what it did to a man, and in time this was corrupted to vaudeville.

But from a military point of view, Vire has a great strategic importance, controling as it does 10 main highways which presumably are the key features of the desperate German supply and communications system.

Vire was the ancient capital of Bocage, a term meaning a country of small orchards interlaced with thick hedges. The French say that the bocage extends almost down to the Loire river.

GERMAN TANKS' GUNS BEST, BUT THEY DON'T WIN

Gen. Shermans Beat Enemy Armor.

BY JOHN THOMPSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

U. S. 1ST ARMY IN NORMANDY, Aug. 2.—While inferior in fire power to the German Mark V Panther and Mark VI Tiger tanks, the American Gen. Sherman has been taking the measure of Germany's best during the French campaign.

This is the opinion of the men who man our tanks. They are quick to assert that tank for tank, the Mark VI is superior. [But German prisoners declare that the new Russian tank is better than any German, American or British model.]

What the American tank of about 28 tons gives away in fire power, armor and shell penetration, its handlers believe, it makes up for in speed and maneuverability. In addition, our tanks usually have the support of a greater amount of self-propelled artillery, towed artillery and tank destroyers, giving them the protection necessary to execute maneuvers.

Nazi Silhouette Lower.

The Germans have built their tanks with a low silhouette, giving them the advantage of being less easily detected than the American tank which has a higher outline. The Tiger, a 42 ton monster, mounts a high velocity 88 mm. gun with a 360 degree traverse. It has very heavy frontal armor. The Panther is lighter, has less armor, is speedier, and mounts a high velocity 77 mm. gun.

In the matter of survival, the German tank crew has an advantage. The diesel engines of the German tanks are set afire less quickly than those of the Gen. Shermans which use gasoline. A direct hit on a Gen. Sherman usually means that if the crew is not killed, the men will be badly burned.

Doughboys Keep Toll Down.

In recent hedgerow fighting preceding the St. Lo break-thru and during the first phase of the new offensive, our armored columns lost no more than a handful of tanks. This was due in a large measure to the fact that the tanks punched thru earthen breastworks with doughboys on their backs, working in extremely close teamwork.

When our armor lashed out in blitzkrieg fashion, tank losses mounted but were still extremely low. For example, one entire heavy armored division estimated it lost only a few tanks and much less than 10 per cent in one week. For every tank lost a new one was in action again within one day.

These losses were incurred because the tanks had to smash thru as a spearhead and often without complete reconnaissance or doughboys with them. This meant that sometimes they were chopped down by anti-tank guns trained to cover curves in the roads or by German tanks.

Planes Destroy Many Tanks.

The Germans lost heavily in tanks thru attacks by American planes. In actual tank for tank encounters after the break-thru, American armored experts estimated that the Americans and Germans traded even, tank for tank.

Both types of German tanks are vulnerable when attacked from the side. And that is the way the Gen. Shermans go after them.

Whenever groups of Tigers or Panthers tried to break thru an encirclement ring, the Americans would ring them with Shermans and self propelled guns and call for more artillery support and dive bombers.

Faced by these odds the Germans always lost more heavily. When a general was asked whether he thought the American tank inferior to the Germans, he replied: "Well, I know one thing. Our tankers aren't afraid to take them on any time."

BRAIN CONCUSSION IN ACCIDENT SUFFERED BY ROMMEL: BERLIN

LONDON, Aug. 2 (AP).—Berlin admitted tonight that Field Marshal Rommel, second in command of German armies of the west, had met with an accident while driving in France during an air attack and is suffering from brain concussion. His condition is satisfactory and his life is not endangered, it was said.

This followed reports from allied sources that Hitler's favorite either was critically injured or had died as the result of a strafing attack on the Caen area July 17.

First report from an allied source that Rommel had been hurt came Saturday when an American officer said French civilians agreed with reports of German prisoners that the marshal had died of wounds. On Monday German propaganda outlets denied the reports, saying Rommel was in good health.

NAZIS' 'MURDER' OF 19 PRISONERS IN FRANCE TOLD

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 2 (AP).—Nazi S. S. troops in Normandy "willfully murdered" 19 Canadian soldiers recently, Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King announced today.

In Normandy the Canadian army commander, Lt. Gen. Crerar, ordered the stark facts posted in every barracks. He warned, however, that the Canadians should not take any form of retaliation.

Mackenzie King told the house of commons that the troops, one an officer, were shot after capture and that a court of inquiry composed of British, United States, and Canadian officers had verified the charge. He laid the act to the 12th S. S. [Elite Guard] reconnaissance battalion of the 12th S. S. tank division. Thru Switzerland a protest has been made to Germany, along with a demand for punishment of the guilty.

U. S. BOMB KILLED LT. GEN. McNAIR, ARMY REVEALS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 2 (AP).—An American bomb dropped short of its target killed Lt. Gen. Lesley J. McNair, former commander of the army ground forces, in Normandy July 25, the army disclosed today.

His death occurred during the intensive aerial bombardment which cleared the path for the break-thru by American forces now storming Brittany.

McNair had previously been reported killed by enemy fire.

Bede Irvin, Associated Press photographer, was killed by the same premature release of bombs.

McNair was in Normandy as an observer. His death was announced last Thursday.

TURKEY BREAKS WITH NAZIS AS PRELUDE TO WAR

Moves Up Guns, Tho It Wants No Fighting.

ANKARA, Turkey, Aug. 2 (AP).—Turkey broke diplomatic and economic relations with Germany today at the request of Great Britain, backed by American diplomacy, but she clung to the hope of avoiding actual warfare.

Sukru Saracoglu.

Prime Minister Sukru Saracoglu announced the government's decision with his request for grand national assembly approval. Most deputies, like the prime minister, had been up almost all night at a caucus of the people's Republican party where the matter was threshed out.

Quick assembly ratification was expected.

[The Nazi reaction to the break was quickly apparent in a Berlin dispatch which said the action initiated a policy the "consequences of which, if Turkey should continue along this dangerous road, are not very difficult to see. War with Germany will of necessity follow. The decision taken today can only be called a new step along a very dangerous phase of Turkish policy."]

100 Germans Rounded Up.

Anti-aircraft guns moved thru the streets of Ankara today directly past the assembly house, and thruout the nation Turkey was girding herself for war.

In Istanbul police rounded up more than 100 Germans considered dangerous and put them under observation.

The Turks hope their action will not bring war. They do not wish to go farther than the evacuation of Germany's diplomatic and consular and secret service from Turkey and the halting of all trade with Germany.

Saracoglu explained that whether or not the rupture is converted into war lies at the moment entirely in the hands of the Germans. Turkey will defend herself against any attacks.

According to one report, Turkey's break with Germany had been decided upon before United States Ambassador Laurence A. Steinhardt left Ankara for Washington a month ago.

Lift War Materials Ban.

Saracoglu also announced that the Atlantic allies had agreed to help Turkey face war with the axis. He revealed that the allied ban on shipments of war materials to Turkey, effected after the failure of the February military talks in Ankara, had been lifted.

Prime Minister Churchill's announcement that Britain will back Turkey was welcomed in the large Turkish cities, all of which are within easy bombing range of axis air fields.

Coastal cities were blacked out and this action was expected to be extended to Ankara and other cities shortly. Government liquidators took over affairs of German banks.

Illinoisan Owes His Life to Proximity of Nazi Tank

WITH THE 9TH INFANTRY DIVISION IN FRANCE, Aug. 2.—To the fact that he lay so close to a German tank its guns could not be depressed to fire at him, Pvt. John Howard of Bradford, Ill., owes his recent return to his unit. With Robert F. Salter of St. John's, Mich., he was in a jeep driven by Pvt. Charles J. Ward, 1941 Early av., Chicago, which turned a corner to meet, almost head-on, a Nazi Mark IV. tank. Howard in attempting to leap to a ditch rolled so close to the tank that its guns could not reach him. He "played dead" until the vehicle moved off a half hour later, then rolled into a ditch, where he was rescued by a Yank tank crew.

Mrs. E. H. Condee and her son, Elbridge Jr. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Pvt. Elbridge Hanecy Condee, former attorney, has a two and a half weeks' old son, Elbridge Hanecy Condee Jr., but he hasn't heard the exciting news. He hasn't received any mail since the middle of May, his wife, Beatrice, reported yesterday at her home, 4439 Berkley av.

Pvt. E. H. Condee.

Condee was ordered to France the week after the invasion. He was wounded on June 19 and returned to England, where he was hospitalized for a month. After his release from the hospital, he wrote to his wife that he dreamed the anticipated arrival of the child occurred on July 15. "Skippy," as the infant is known, arrived as scheduled in his father's dream on July 15 in Jackson Park hospital.

"If only he could know that the baby has come and both he and I are fine," Mrs. Condee said yesterday. "Skippy has blond 'pinfeathers' on his head and he is so strong he can turn completely over by himself."

NAZI PICK-A-BACK AERIAL WEAPON PROVES A DUD

ON THE BRITISH FRONT IN FRANCE, July 27 [Delayed] (AP).—A German attempt to exploit a new aerial weapon—a pilotless pick-a-back bomber crammed with high explosives—ended in a crash into the sea off a British beachhead, it was disclosed today. The plane was shot down by an RAF fighter several nights ago.

"It made a colossal splash but that's all," said Capt. R. C. Lewis, who saw the destruction of the plane.

"The idea is old. It's a Messerschmitt-109 fighter 'married' to a Junkers-88 bomber," Lewis said. "The Junkers is stripped of all armament and its nose filled with explosives to make a warhead. The planes take off together, pick-a-back style, with the Junkers controled by the Messerschmitt pilot who guides it until the last moment when it is set on a course to crash against a selected target."

U. S. AND BRITISH TANKS DEFENDED BY CHURCHILL

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Aug. 2.—Prime Minister Churchill assured the house of commons today that British and American tanks engaged against the Germans in France are "in every way fitted for their tasks."

Allied medium tanks can defeat heavier German tanks without difficulty, he asserted, "provided our tactics are good." He said Gen. Montgomery reported that Germany's tank models, the Tiger and Panther, were "unreliable and vulnerable, and that the 17-pounder could go right thru them."

Continuing amid laughter, he said the "notorious Churchill tank is the most thick skinned in Europe and is coming into its own. The Churchill can be either defensive or offensive," he concluded, to a fresh burst of mirth.

TURKS DEPRIVE NAZIS OF NEST FOR THEIR SPIES

BY SAM BREWER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ANKARA, Turkey, Aug. 2.—The breach in relations with Germany means certain immediate practical results. The German embassy and consulates immediately cease to function, which means the Germans thus lose the benefit of the look-out posts from which they have been collecting and reporting intelligence, not only on Turkey but all the middle east.

Several hundred picked German agents here would cease to be useful cogs in the Nazi organization and will remain idle and useless pending their return to Germany.

Will Lose Imports.

A neutral power — presumably Switzerland, which already is acting for the interests of so many belligerents in so many places—would take over protection of the German interests.

Relations with other axis powers are not expected to be broken off, but probably they, like Germany, will lose the benefit of large amounts of foodstuffs and other commodities heretofore imported from Turkey.

No German Action Seen.

Informed Turkish circles do not expect any violent German reaction. Some observers believe Von Papen had long known such a step was coming, realized the necessity, and knew that it did not imply any direct anti-German action.

A Balkan satellite radio station, for the last couple of months, has been broadcasting the story that any hostile action by Turkey would mean the immediate bombardment of Istanbul with flying bombs from Bulgaria. Military men scoff at this, saying Germany needs her strength elsewhere and is unlikely to act at all unless Turkey makes a military move.

Welcomed by U. S.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 2 (AP).—The state department issued the following statement today:

"This government welcomes as a step toward full coöperation with the United Nations in their struggle against Nazi aggression today's decision of the Turkish national assembly to sever diplomatic and economic relations with Germany."

Learns of War

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

ARNOLD EARNEST.

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 2 [Special].—Arnold Earnest, 24, who said he had lived in a cave three years and didn't know the nation is at war, pleaded guilty before United States Commissioner Louis O. Charlton today of failing to register for the draft. He was held under $5,000 bond for further action.

Earnest, stalwart, 6 foot farmer, with a handlebar mustache, was quoted by United States Marshal Raymond Thomason as having explained he "went so long without registering for the draft" after the first registrations began in 1940 that he decided he "might as well take to the jungle." He added, "I didn't mind the fighting so much but I thought I'd rather get killed over here than over there."

He said he lived in a cave deep in the woods of his native county of Fayette and lived on rabbits and squirrels which he trapped or killed with rocks.

ALLIES TO ISSUE BULLETIN A DAY FROM FRANCE

SUPREME HDQ., ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Aug. 2 (AP).—Effective tomorrow supreme headquarters will issue only one statement on daily operations in Normandy, at 4 a. m., central war time.

Headquarters heretofore also issued a bulletin at 4:30 p. m., central war time, preceding each with a background conference for newspaper men. A conference also was held at 10 a. m., C. W. T., and it will be abandoned.

Instead, headquarters will hold a background conference for correspondents at 3 p. m., C. W. T. This will last about an hour.

It was officially stated that the changes were due to supreme headquarters shifting back from its special invasion system by which twice-a-day roundup reports were received from the front to the regular once daily roundup customary in other theaters. It was explained that greatly expanded operations made impractical the extra work entailed on the operational staffs.

Reports from the front will continue to flow back thruout the day, however, and important news will be released as it becomes available. As a rule, however, these reports are not suitable for a formal statement.

REPORT NAZIS RECALL TROOPS FROM FINLAND

Hint Mannerheim Dealt with Reds on Peace.

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 2 (AP).—Evacuation of German troops from Finland to Estonia was reported tonight and reliable advices said that Finland's new president, Marshal Baron Gustav Mannerheim, had received advance assurance from Russia that the Krémlin would consider an application for an armistice which would guarantee tiny Finland's independence.

An authoritative report said the Germans were evacuating an infantry division sent to the Karelian front last June as their part of Nazi Foreign Minister Von Ribbentrop's bargain to keep Finland in the war with Russia.

Hint Division Withdrawn.

Another report said at least one division of German troops long stationed in northern Finland also had been sent to Estonia, suggesting strongly that Nazis may be in process of abandoning all of Finland, as a result of Mannerheim's replacement of Risto Ryti as president. Ryti had pledged the country to full military partnership with the Germans.

Meanwhile, Finnish political groups discussed formation of a new cabinet, upon the character of which informed sources believe hangs Finland's hope for peace with Russia.

The Germans, meanwhile, professed to welcome the appointment of the 77 year old Mannerheim as president of their co-belligerent.

Resignation Nullifies Pact.

A Nazi government spokesman was quoted by the DNB news agency as saying that Ryti had retired solely in order to concentrate Finland's military and political authority in the hands of a single man. He said this meant the Finns were accelerating their war effort rather than slowing down.

Ryti's resignation, in effect, canceled his pact with Germany, in which he promised—without consulting his cabinet—that Finland would not make a separate peace. Finns in Stockholm predicted the next move would be the resignation of Premier Edwin Linkomies and his cabinet, leaving Mannerheim free to form a "peace government."

Eero Vuori, head of the Finnish trade unions and an ardent peace advocate since contact first was established with Moscow last March, was mentioned as the most likely premier.

REPORT REDS' TERMS.

A Stockholm report by Reuters' says that according to information reaching the Swedish afternoon newspaper, Aftonbladet, the Russians have offered the Finns substantially the same peace terms as those of last February. They included:

1. Rupture of relations with Germany and internment of German troops and warships in Finland.
2. Reëstablishment of the soviet-Finnish treaty of 1940 and the withdrawal of Finnish troops to the 1940 frontier.
3. Repatriation of soviet and allied prisoners as well as civilians.
4. The question of the demobilization of the Finnish army to be left for negotiation.

The newspaper said Finnish delegates, with Sweden as intermediary, met soviet representatives in Stockholm early last week without reaching any definite result. They met again at the end of the week and the Russians announced they would talk peace if a government under Von Mannerheim was formed.

'BANZAI' ATTACK ON YANK LINE IN GUINEA CRUSHED

GHQ., SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Aug. 3 [Thursday]—(AP).—Japan's banzai shouting troops, locked in the Wewak sector of British New Guinea, tried another of their desperate charges against the American lines and lost heavily, headquarters announced today.

"Another enemy attempt to turn our Afua flank has been repulsed, while our forces in the coastal sector cleared the area one mile east of the Driniumor river," the bulletin reported. "Enemy casualties in all sectors were heavy."

The Japanese, using a sizeable force on a restricted front in a series of waves, attacked twice Tuesday in typical mad charges.

Clear Mile of Jungle.

American troops and artillery killed the shouting attackers by the score and sent the enemy reeling back all along the Afua village front, two and a half miles inland.

Along the coast, where several American battalions crossed the river mouth Monday, the Yanks cleared a mile of jungle area with slight opposition.

"Leading elements of the coastal force are now in contact with Japanese elements," a headquarters spokesman said.

The Americans have worked 17 miles east from Aitape. Australians at the Sepik river, 130 miles east, are pushing the other jaw of the trap in which 45,000 men of Japan's 18th army are trapped at Wewak.

Consolidate Near Base.

Seven hundred miles west of Aitape Americans were consolidating their newest base at Sansapor, on the tip of Dutch New Guinea. Up to Tuesday the Japanese still had offered no resistance there.

Allied troops still mopping up on the islands in Geelvink bay, 200 miles east of Sansapor, reported an additional 354 Japanese dead on Biak and 249 more dead on Noemfoor.

On Biak patrols captured 70 additional Japanese prisoners and 79 Indonesians, former prisoners of the Nippon army. At Noemfoor, 145 more prisoners were taken. Enemy casualties on the two tiny islands now exceed 5,200.

LINES OF FRENCH REFUGEES TRAIL BACK TO HOMES

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

SOMEWHERE IN NORMANDY, Aug. 2.—A number of war refugees, mostly the middle-aged and children, today were traveling north toward their homes in the villages and on the farms that they had left when the campaign started in this area. Traveling in family groups, they are making their way on foot, on bicycles, and in two-wheeled carts against the current of military might. Invariably they are happy and most of the time they wave.

Some push baby carriages loaded with household goods. Others have bicycles with two-wheeled carts trailing behind. A few have two-wheeled carts drawn by horses.

Frequently a line of big trucks or tracked vehicles swings out toward the center of the road to pass a family group headed north. The Americans seem to be extremely patient with the people.

Tokyo Announces New Thailand Cabinet Head

New York, Aug. 2 (AP).—The Tokyo radio announced today that Maj. Kovit Aphaiwongse had been named to head a new Thailand cabinet to succeed Luang Pibul Songgram, whose government resigned Saturday. The broadcast also reported the appointment of Prince Pradist Manutharm as president of the regency council, created to represent the authority of the king following the abdication of the late King Prajadhipok in 1935, when 10 year old Prince Ananda Mahidol was proclaimed king. The latter is now attending school in Switzerland.

TITO'S PARTISANS SEIZE PLAV AND PUSH NAZIS BACK

LONDON, Aug. 2 (AP).—Yugoslav Partisans, now developing a successful operation along their entire front, have captured Plav in southern Montenegro and are driving the enemy toward the Albanian interior, Marshal Tito's headquarters announced today.

A broadcast said Kladanj and Olovo were overrun in a drive thru eastern Bosnia where parts of the German Prince Eugen division were declared smashed. Only one Yugoslav setback was reported. The Germans fought their way from Doboj into Teslic in central Bosnia.

JOINT U. S. BOMB ATTACK HITS AT NAZIS IN FRANCE

LONDON, Aug. 2 (AP).—More than 1,000 United States bombers from Italy and Britain made a two way smash at German oil resources and flying bomb installations in France today and struck heavily at transport facilities. Munitions stores and railway installations were raided by 300 Marauder Havoc bombers.

From British bases the United States 8th air force sent 500 heavyweights against a robot supply depot at Meru, north of Paris, fuel dumps at St. Souen and Genevilliers in the Paris area, several Loire valley bridges, and other targets in northern and central France. Their fighter escort, also about 500 strong, and another medium force of lighter craft strafed ground targets.

From Italy, the 15th air force also sent 500 Flying Fortresses and Liberators, which pounded rail and oil storage facilities in the Rhone valley and other targets in southern France.

POLISH UNDERGROUND FIGHTING GERMANS IN STREETS OF WARSAW

LONDON, Aug. 2 (AP).—Polish forces were declared by Polish military headquarters to be waging open warfare against German troops on the streets of Warsaw today as British and American support was thrown behind an effort to form a Polish coalition government satisfactory to the soviet union.

The Warsaw underground, under command of Gen. Bor, revolted at 5 p. m. yesterday, it was announced. The uprising, it was reported, was according to plans previously outlined by the Polish government in London.

A Moscow dispatch said there was optimism in the soviet capital over the progress being made in the negotiations by Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, premier of the exiled Polish government in London, looking toward formation of a coalition regime.

4 ILLINOISANS HELP CAPTURE GUAM AIR STRIP

BY HAROLD SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GUAM, July 29 [Delayed].—Scores of Japanese died today in two pillboxes as the 1st provisional marine brigade completed capture of Orote air strip, and at least four Illinoisans had a hand in the American advance.

Three, members of a company which had taken 49 casualties in earlier actions here, were Corp. Harry Coffman, 23, son of Mrs. Clarence Hambrink, 6307 Cuyler av., Chicago; Pvt. John C. Peterson, 23, 517 Kennon rd., Rockford, son of Albin and Ruth Peterson, and Pvt. Wilfred Medinger, 20, son of Henry and Mary Medinger, Cordova.

The fourth was Pvt. John L. Starofsky, 18, son of Mrs. Margaret Starofsky, 1401 13th st., Moline, a veteran of several Pacific battles. Starofsky "forgot" his age and joined up when he was 16.

SHIMADA OUSTED AS CHIEF OF JAP NAVY COMMAND

New York, Aug. 2 (AP).—The Tokyo radio announced today that Adm. Koshiro Oikawa, an official in the navy ministry, has been named chief of the naval general staff, succeeding Adm. Shigetaro Shimada. Shimada, navy minister in the ousted Tojo cabinet, had also held the post of chief of the naval general staff, retaining it July 17 when he quit the cabinet.

Domei also reported the appointment of Adm. Naokuni Nomura as commander in chief of the Yokosuka naval station, in Tokyo harbor. Nomura served several days as navy minister in July. He succeeded Shimada and held the post until the appointment of Adm. Mitsumasa Yonai as navy minister in the Koiso cabinet.

Shimada and Adm. Zengo Yoshida, commander of the fleet in Chinese waters, were named to the supreme war council.

CHINESE HALT 10 JAP ATTACKS AT HENGYANG

CHUNGKING, China, Aug. 2 (AP).—The Chinese threw back 10 Japanese attacks on the outskirts of Hengyang in Hunan province yesterday and recaptured five more points south of the city in the bloody stalemate along the Canton-Hankow railway, the Chinese high command announced today.

Lienhua, northeast of Hengyang, fell to the Japanese, however, and Ninghsiang was reported the scene of a bitter street battle.

Push from India.

SOUTHEAST ASIA COMMAND HDQ., Kandy, Ceylon, Aug. 2 [(AP).—British troops are advancing on the Tiddim road leading out of east India behind heavy artillery and air support, allied headquarters announced tonight. In one sector Japanese forces were reported fleeing swiftly.

In North Burma Chinese units in the southern sector of besieged Myitkyina and Americans north of the town made progress, the bulletin said.

VICTORY MAY BE SOON, CHURCHILL TELLS COMMONS

Gives High Praise to U.S. Army in France.

LONDON, Aug. 2 (AP).—Prime Minister Churchill told the house of commons in a comprehensive review of the war today that "I fear greatly to raise false hopes, but I no longer feel bound to deny that victory may come perhaps soon."

With caution tempering his optimism, Churchill said the latest news from France "seems to me extremely good," that the Red army was "tearing the guts out of the German army," and that "the interval between the defeat of Hitler and the defeat of Japan will be shorter—perhaps much shorter—than I had at one time supposed."

The war, he said, "approaches perhaps its closing stage."

Of the revolt of the generals in Germany, Churchill said that "potent as may be these manifestations of internal disease, decisive as even they may be one of these days, it is not in them that we should put our trust, but in our own strong arm and the justice of our cause."

Praises American Troops.

Speaking for an hour and 40 minutes before a house which laughed frequently at typical barbs dug into the enemy, the prime minister said he had "upon the whole a good report to make to the house."

"On every battlefront all over the world," he said, "the armies of Germany and Japan are recoiling. In the air, on the sea, and under the sea, our well established supremacy increases with steady strides."

Churchill stressed American victories in the Pacific, "opening to us the prospect of a more—much more—speedy climax in the war with Japan," and the "splendid and spectacular victories" won by the Americans in France, who he said are now proceeding at "almost a gallop" in their southward plunge.

He praised too the "parade of the nations" northward thru Italy, but added that the Russian army has done the most good work.

Salutes Stalin.

"In the air and on the ocean and on the seas we can maintain ourselves," he said, "but there was no force in the world which could have been called into being, except after several more years, that would have been able to maul and break the German army and subject it to such a terrible slaughter and manhandling as has fallen upon the Germans by the Russian soviet armies.

"I salute Marshal Stalin, that great champion of his country, and I firmly believe that our 20 years' treaty with Russia will prove to be one of the most lasting and durable factors preserving peace, order and progress in Europe.

"It may well be that the Russian successes have been somewhat aided by the strategy of Corporal Hitler. Even military idiots find it difficult not to see some faults in some of his actions.

Hopeful for Poland.

"Here he now finds himself with perhaps 10 divisions in north Finland and 20 or 30 cut off in the Baltic states, all of which three or four months ago might have been brought with their materials and weapons to stand between Germany and the Russian advance."

Of Russian-Poland relations he remarked that "this is a hopeful moment for Poland," and added:

"Russian armies now stand before the gates of Warsaw. They bring the liberation of Poland in their hands. They offer freedom, sovereignty and independence to the Poles. They ask that there shall be a Poland friendly to Russia. This seems to me very reasonable."

Churchill confirmed the announcement in Ankara of Turkey's break with Germany, and assured that country of British support.

Tells Romania to Quit.

He advised Romania to make terms with Russia, and he warned that other Balkan satellite of the axis, Bulgaria, that "the moment of repentance has not passed, but is passing swiftly." He asked "what will be the place of Bulgaria at the judgment seat when the petty and cowardly part she has played in this war is revealed?"

Churchill expressed regret that Argentina had "chosen to dally with evil, and not only with evil, but with the losing side."

Improved relations between the United States and Gen. Charles de Gaulle were welcomed by the prime minister, who held out the prospect of territorial compensation for France when he said that the future status of the Rhineland soon would be a matter of discussion in which the voice of France must be heard.

Recounting the events that led to the invasion of Normandy, he said:

"In April, 1943, Gen. Morgan of the British army became head of a British-American planning staff which surveyed the whole project. They made a plan which I took with me last year to Quebec, where it was submitted to the President and the combined British-American chiefs of staff.

Promise to Stalin Told.

"At Teheran we promised Marshal Stalin that we should put this plan, or something like it, into operation at the end of May or the beginning of June, and he promised, on his part, that the whole of the Russian armies would be thrown, as indeed they have been, into a general battle in the east.

"In January of this year, commanders were appointed. Gen. Eisenhower assumed command of the expeditionary forces gathering in Britain. No man ever labored more skilfully, more intensively, for the unification and goodwill of the great forces under his command than Gen. Eisenhower. He has a genius for bringing all the allies together and is proud to consider himself an allied as well as a United States commander, Gen. Eisenhower forthwith entrusted Gen. Montgomery with the command of the invasion troops, British and American.

"As is well known I was opposed to making this great invasion across the channel in 1942 and thereafter it was plainly impossible owing to our having chosen the Mediterranean and our amphibious resources all being concentrated there.

"I do not believe myself that this vast enterprise could have been executed earlier. We had not the experience; we had not the tackle.

Great Harbors Created.

"New light is playing on the possibility of invading across the channel, light which I hope will not altogether be lost upon our own people in a day when we have handed over our burdens to others.

"In less than a month harbors had been created compared with which Dover seems small. At these harbors and on the beaches a very large army was landed and by the end of June in spite of the worst June gales in 40 years a solid base was created which gave us the certainty of being able to conduct an offensive campaign on the largest scale.

"These operations were protested and supported by a considerable British fleet assisted by a strong detachment of the American fleet, the whole under Adm. Ramsay.

Part Taken by Air Force.

"In spite of gales, in spite of mines, in spite of more than 100 German submarines waiting baffled in Biscay ports and swarms of E-boats and other marauders, a ceaseless traffic has been maintained over the 100 mile stretch of the channel, and Gen. Eisenhower with his lieutenant, Gen. Montgomery, now stand at the head of a very large and powerful army equipped as no army ever has been equipped before.

"Overwhelming air power was of course as indispensable as sea power to carrying out such an operation. Strategic bombing by the combined British and American bomber forces and the use of medium bombers and the fighter force was an essential prelude to the landing in Normandy.

"Since those days we have been in constant battle, Gen. Omar Bradlay clearing the Cherbourg peninsula and Gen. Dempsey occupying the area around Caen. We have inflicted losses on the enemy about double those suffered ourselves. That is remarkable considering that we were the challengers.

"Now at last we are beginning to gain space to deploy, which is necessary for armies of the size we are using.

Views Battle as a Whole.

"The first American army advancing down the Atlantic coast has reached a point on the River Selune and may well be approaching the important railway center of Rennes, about halfway across the base of the Brest peninsula. Further to the east the Americans have by-passed the town of Villedieu and captured Brecey. The British attack also has made very good progress, and has advanced in the center about 12 miles.

"It is the wish of Gen. Eisenhower that the battle in Normandy should be viewed as a whole. This should certainly not prevent the house of commons from expressing its unstinted admiration at the splendid, spectacular victories gained by the United States troops both at Cherbourg and in the southward march now becoming almost a gallop down the peninsula.

"The Germans certainly have had remarkable opportunities of revising the mocking and insulting term which they put upon the military value of the American army at the time they declared war on the great republic.

"Lest our enemies should suggest that the burden of the struggle has been unfairly shared, or make invidious comparisons of any kind, let me say that the losses of the British and Canadian forces together are about equal to those of the larger United States forces in proportion to their relative strengths. It has been share and share alike in good fortune and bad, all along the front."

Tells Victories Over Japs.

The prime minister had this to say of the war in the Pacific:

"Immense armadas of the United States are equipped with aircraft and every conceivable form of craft needed on the sea for amphibious warfare, all on the greatest scale, armed with science and led with commanding skill both on sea and land under both Adm. Nimitz and Gen. MacArthur, who commands not only American but also powerful Australian and New Zealand forces, we have gained important and expanding success.

"New Guinea has been dominated, the Marshalls and Saipan have been taken. Fleets and other forces of the United States have already advanced thru the far flung outer defenses of Japan and in some parts have pierced to the inner defenses, thus opening to us the prospect of a much more speedy climax in the far east.

Thousands Starving.

"Many scores of thousands of Japanese have been by-passed and are starving to death on the islands or in the jungles with only such aid from Japan as can be given by submarines.

"Reverberations of these events in Japan, with the sense of growing weakness on the sea and in the air, the sense of vast dispersal of air forces and economic tribulation at home, have produced the fall of Adm. Tojo, chief war leader of Japan and a close colleague of Adm. Yamamoto, who declared at one time that he would dictate his peace terms to the United States in Washington."

Tells of World Council.

Turning to the political aspect of the war, Churchill said:

"Our landing in Normandy, the course of the war, the whole tide of events show quite clearly we shall presently once again have to deal with the problems of France and Germany along the Rhine, and from that discussion France can by no means be excluded.

"I look forward to the closest association of British empire, United States, Russian, and French representatives in settlement of these important European problems. We are an alliance of united peace-loving nations who have been forced to take up arms to defend our own fundamental rights and we must not fail in the hour of victory to make the arrangements necessary to continue to use that peace for which we shall have so dearly fought."

Saves Paper

Miss Darlene Pachankis receives citation for saving paper from Col. H. A. Montgomery.

Miss Darlene Pachankis, 22, of 5919 S. Troy st., a stenographer in the office of the army engineer, Great Lakes division, Civic Opera building, received a citation of merit yesterday for a suggestion that has saved nearly 50 per cent of the paper used by the office. She made a survey of correspondence needs of the office and proposed a reduction in the number of carbon copies by approximately one-half. The citation was given her by Col. H. A. Montgomery, division engineer.

BRITAIN'S PEACE TALK DELEGATES ARE ANNOUNCED

Washington, D. C., Aug. 2 (AP).—The British information service today announced the British delegation to post-war security talks with this country, Russia and China will be headed by Alexander Cadogan, permanent under secretary for foreign affairs.

Three important military men are included, as counterparts to American generals and admirals named yesterday to participate in the talks.

The British officers are Lt. Gen. G. N. Macready, head of the British army staff in Washington; Adm. Percy Noble, head of the British admiralty delegation, and Air Marshal William Welsh, head of the R. A. F. delegation.

Other members of the British group are William Malkin, legal adviser to the foreign office; Gladwyn Jebb, foreign office secretary general; A. H. Poynton of the colonial office; Col. Capel Dunn, war cabinet officer; Peter Loxley, secretary to Cadogan; Prof. Charles Kingsley Webster, foreign office, and Paul Falla, foreign office.

CHICAGO BOMBER PILOT REPAYS A FRIENDLY VISIT

Capt. William E. Hartnett, 24, of 4101 W. Washington blvd., pilot of the army bomber Chicago Cyclone III., with 58 missions over France and Germany to his credit, repaid a courtesy extended him on his departure for war in 1941 when he dropped in yesterday for a visit with Assistant State's Attorney William J. Tuohy.

Tuohy, a friend of the family, saw Hartnett off when he left for military service with the 132d infantry, Illinois National Guard, in February, 1941.

Capt. Hartnett wore out the Chicago Cyclone I. after 19 missions. Cyclone II., overran the landing runway one day and made way for the third Cyclone, which helped bomb the French coast on D-day.

4,735 KILLED IN BRITAIN BY NAZI ROCKET BOMBS

14,000 Injured in 7 Weeks of Attack.

LONDON, Aug. 2 (AP).—Prime Minister Winston Churchill disclosed today that robot bombs had killed 4,735 persons in seven weeks. He offered Britain no guarantee that the problem would be solved speedily, but said the defenses were gaining power.

He promised the Nazis that as a result of the attacks "the severity of the punishment by our fighting men will be appreciably increased."

Besides the number killed, he gave these details on the destruction caused by the bombs from June 15 to July 31:

Fourteen thousand seriously injured and many more slightly injured.

Seventeen thousand houses totally destroyed and 800,000 damaged, many, however, only to the extent of broken windows.

One million persons not in essential work, including 225,000 mothers with children, assisted in leaving London.

Nazis Launch 5,340 Robots.

During the seven weeks period, 5,340 robots were launched against England, he said. In the first three weeks of the attacks 2,752 were killed and 8,000 injured. There was a decline in the last four weeks, indicating allied defenses and bombing of the launching areas were having their effect.

"If the Germans imagine that continuance of the present attack, which has cost them very dear in many branches of production, will have the slightest effect upon the course of the war or upon the resolve of the nation, or upon the morale of the men, women and children who are under fire, they will only be making another of those psychological blunders for which they have so long been celebrated," the prime minister said.

"There is no question of diverting our strength from the extreme prosecution of the war or allowing this particular infliction to weaken in any way our energetic support of our allies.

Warns of New Attacks.

He continued:

"As long ago as Feb. 22 I warned the house that Hitler was preparing to attack this country by new methods and it is quite possible that attempts will be made with long range rockets containing a heavier explosive charge than the flying bombs and intended to produce a great deal more mischief. London, we may expect, will be the primary target on account of the probable inaccuracy of the rocket weapon."

The weight of the robots dropped during the seven weeks, Churchill said, was some 4,500 tons.

"During the same period," he said, "the allied air forces dropped 48,000 tons of high explosive bombs on Germany."

COMMONS VOTES 7 WEEK RECESS OVER PROTESTS

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 2.—Over the protests of individual members of parliament, all parties in the house of commons fell in with the government's wishes and voted a seven weeks' summer vacation until Sept. 26. The house will not be recalled before that date unless some startling development in the war situation makes reassembly necessary.

Many members of parliament expressed doubts about absenting themselves from Westminster for seven weeks. Emanuel Shinwell, a Laborite, moved for an amendment providing that the house resume on Aug. 29. He said there was widespread dissatisfaction on several matters which the M. P.'s wanted to ventilate.

"What's to be done about the international monetary agreement, the world bank, and the international shipping agreement?" he asked. "All this is being done surreptitiously in a subterranean fashion behind our backs."

Cites Flying Bombs.

Shinwell wanted the M. P.'s to be on hand to keep an eye on the flying bomb situation, charging that the government's arrangements for national defense, evacuation, and even anti-aircraft defenses "were merely a series of improvisations largely inspired by questions in this house."

Independent Capt. A. S. Cunningham-Reid supported Shinwell. He said, "Not only London but the whole of southern England is now in the front line, and it is disgraceful that the government should intend to dismiss its members as if we were in piping times of peace."

Richard Acland, leader of the Commonwealth party, questioned whether commons would be in a position to handle the situation if "a rapid collapse of the Nazi military machine" occurred. Hugh Lawson, also of the Commonwealth party, said he had no confidence in the war cabinet and the higher direction of the war.

"Government Running Down."

Aneurin Bevan, a Laborite, asserted that it was obvious that behind the seven weeks' recess was the fact that the "coalition government is running down and is hanging on week by week and month by month, hoping that some internal crisis will come."

Even a Conservative, Mrs. Mavis Tate, objected to the long holiday, insisting that commons had ample problems on hand calling for immediate action.

After Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden repeated assurances that the house would be recalled immediately if vitally important developments took place, the motion for a seven weeks' holiday was carried 296 votes to 26.

JOLIET SCHOOL THIEF PAYS $100 IN ATONEMENT

Joliet Township High school board was richer by $100 yesterday after receiving an anonymous typewritten letter. It read:

"Dear Sirs: While I was going to high school I had a bad habit of picking up things that didn't belong to me and which belonged to the school. It was a very bad habit and now I am trying to make things right. I am enclosing $100. Do with it as you see fit. Please forgive me. God bless you all."

La Verne Hahney, president of the school board, said that the $100 bill pinned to the letter may be used to start a fund for some special school project.

LABOR FRONT'S LIBERALISM HIT BY BISHOP SHEIL

Democracy has no connection with capitalism or any other philosophy of economic life, Bishop Bernard J. Sheil declared last night in a lecture at the Sheil School of Social Studies, 31 E. Congress st., of which he is the founder.

He defined democracy—the subject of his address—as "a faith deriving from a definite philosophy of human nature and society, that overflows the limits of both economics and politics."

Bishop Sheil struck at the "so-called bourgeoise liberalism of the labor front," which, with capitalism, tends to make humans simply factors in the economic system, he said. Democracy, he added, should imply more dignity to humans as individuals.

430 ITALIAN WAR PRISONERS WORK IN U. S. ARSENAL

Captives at Rock Island Given Special Status.

BY HARRY McCLAIN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Rock Island, Ill., Aug. 2.—Rock Island, the army arsenal built during the Civil war and which was the prison for 12,000 confederate soldiers, again houses prisoners of war, but under somewhat different circumstances. The prisoners are Italians captured in North Africa and Sicily less than a year ago.

Four hundred and thirty enlisted men and eight officers are in the Italian group, divided into two quartermaster service companies. The Italians perform all sorts of labor for the Rock Island ordnance center.

Because the Italians have signed agreements binding them under the United States articles of war and are performing needed labor willingly, their prisoner status is more technical than actual. Altho they are restricted to the government reservation, they are not under guard.

Paid at Prisoner Rates.

For their work at the arsenal the Italian enlisted men are paid 80 cents a day, the standard rate for prisoners of war. The Italians, however, get only two-thirds of their pay in canteen coupons and are allowed one-third in cash.

Each of the Italian companies is commanded by an American captain who is assisted by six American enlisted men who speak Italian and serve as interpreters.

The Italian commissioned officers are responsible for much of the administrative work within the companies and also for discipline, altho under the agreement signed by the prisoners they may be tried by court martial. Any who refuse to work or who engage in political activity will be returned to ordinary prisoner of war camps.

Served Italian Diet.

Because the standard Italian diet differs from American diet, the prisoners get food to which they have been accustomed. Spaghetti is a staple item and is served once a day. Cooking is done by prisoners directed by their own mess sergeant.

The Rock Island arsenal stores, ships, and repairs all types of guns and tanks. Ordinarily prisoners of war could not be required to work on weapons, but because of the signed agreement the Italians may, and do, work wherever they are needed.

Brig. Gen. Norman F. Ramsey, commanding officer of the arsenal, today said he is greatly pleased with the work of the Italians and is happy to have the labor of 430 men because civilian labor is not available in the community.

Prisoners Attend Mass.

Last Sunday the prisoners were marched from the island arsenal to Rock Island to attend mass. Otherwise none has been off the grounds. Arsenal officials do not plan to permit groups to visit this and surrounding towns for the present, if at all.

On their march to church the prisoners wore the khaki uniform of American enlisted men and a green brassard carrying the word "Italy." Their overseas caps also carry a small patch with the Italian identification.

BULK OF SERVICE FORCE AT CAMP GRANT TO LEAVE

Camp Grant, Ill., Aug. 2 (AP).—Most of the army service forces at Camp Grant—once equipped to train 30,000 men a year at its medical replacement center alone—will be transferred to Fort Lewis, Wash., by Oct. 15, Maj. Gen. Henry S. Aurand of the 6th service command announced today.

He added that the remaining military population at the camp after transfer would be "quite inconsequential." He said some preliminary movements in the transfer already had been started but most remained to be moved.

Brig. Gen. James E. Bayliss, camp commander, will be transferred to Fort Lewis as commander of the medical replacement training center there, he said.

Gen. Aurand said the prisoner of war camp at Camp Grant would be retained.

OPA Director Isbell Called to Washington

Marion Isbell, acting area office of price administration director, who took office Tuesday, was recalled to Washington, D. C., last night for 10 days to assist the newly appointed national head of the institutional rationing branch of the OPA, the office Isbell held before taking the area job. L. E. Frazar of the regional OPA office will fill his post in his absence.

CHUTIST'S SON PHONES DAD OF HIS FIRST LEAP

Robert A. Starnes, 18, son of Arthur Starnes, famous Chicago parachutist, started down his father's path yesterday when he made his first jump from an altitude of 2,800 feet at the navy parachute riggers' school at Corpus Christi, Tex.

Robert A. Starnes.

The boy's father, operator of a parachute service at 203 N. Wabash av., jumped from 30,800 feet in October, 1941, and fell 29,300 feet for test purposes before pulling the ripcord. Young Starnes, a parachute rigger third class, described the sensation of his first jump in a telephone call last night to his father and his mother, who were at home at 5417 N. Kenmore av.

"It was just like I expected from what you had told me, Dad," he said. "I was the lead man in our 'stick' but they wouldn't let me try a delayed jump. I started looking for the ground and couldn't see it for a while, then there it was over my left shoulder. I landed standing up."

GEORGE VI. BACK IN BRITAIN AFTER TOURING ITALY

LONDON, Aug. 3 [Thursday] (AP).—King George VI. returned to Britain today after touring the Italian battle areas, landing somewhere in England at 7 a. m. [midnight Chicago time] after an uneventful flight.

Blast 400 Yards from King.

CASSINO, Italy, July 31 [Delayed] —(AP).—King George VI. climaxed a fast moving eight day tour of Italy by driving without pause thru the scene of complete devastation which marks this famous battleground.

A demolition charge went off on a hillside above the town about 400 yards in front of the king's party as the motor column approached Cassino. Altho thousands of mines have been removed, the whole area still is dangerous and the king was advised not to leave his car.

CUBANS FIGHT BLOODLESS DUEL WITH PISTOLS

HAVANA, Cuba, Aug. 2 (AP).—Eugenio de Sosa Jr., director of the newspaper Diario de la Marina, and Dr. Guillermo Belt, confidant of President Elect Grau San Martin, engaged today in a bloodless duel with pistols.

De Sosa, who issued the challenge, made no attempt to shoot, holding his pistol at his side until Dr. Belt fired and missed. They were reconciled.

The duel grew out of a controversy over the prospective price of Cuban sugar to be sold to the United States in 1945.

ALLIED FORCES PUNCH TO 5 MILES FROM FLORENCE

ROME, Italy, Aug. 2 (AP).—New Zealand veterans of the North African campaign have bludgeoned their way to within less than five miles of Florence from the southwest, capturing a commanding ridge from which they looked down today upon the spires and towers of that ancient city.

A field dispatch from Associated Press Correspondent Lynn Heinzerling said the New Zealanders were pushing forward against infantry backed up by huge Tiger tanks, adding that the 8th army still faced much hard fighting before it could force the Germans to retire to their "Gothic line" defenses north of Florence.

Win Two Mountain Positions.

British troops, probing toward Florence directly from the south, were reported to have gained two unidentified mountain positions without opposition.

[A broadcast by the German Transocean News agency Wednesday night reported that Marshal Rodolfo Graziani, minister of defense in the Mussolini regime, had been named commander in chief of a new army composed of German and Italian divisions fighting in Italy against the allies. There has been no recent official allied report of Italian troops fighting alongside the Nazis on that front.]

Little Action on U. S. Front.

American forces holding a 30 mile stretch of the south bank of the Arno river inland from the Tyrrhenian sea apparently were awaiting the conclusion of the battle for Florence before renewing their offensive. Only artillery fire and patrolling were reported from that sector yesterday.

Robber Cows 3 in Office and Escapes with $282

An armed robber yesterday took $282 from the offices of the Personal Finance Company of Chicago, 841 E. 63d st., after threatening the manager, P. B. Ebrenz, 1434 Bryn Mawr av., and two clerks.

Jennifer Jones, young actress who last year captured an Oscar, highest award of Hollywood's Motion Picture academy, paused in Chicago for a few hours yesterday on her way back to the west coast. During the last five days Miss Jones made a whirlwind tour of 21 army camps. She declined to remain in Chicago for the preview of her forthcoming picture, "Since You Went Away," because her two children expected her home.

CAROLINA STORM LOSS ESTIMATED AT 2 MILLIONS

Wilmington, N. C., Aug. 2 (AP).—The tropical hurricane which struck the Wilmington shipyard and resort area last night caused property damage which police estimated at approximately 2 million dollars. No loss of life has been reported.

Small shacks were blown down at Wrightsville and Carolina Beach, and some residences were unroofed and water reached second story level in many of them. The boardwalks at the beaches were uprooted and concession stands alongside were destroyed.

High water caused most of the damage. The hurricane apparently spent itself over the swamps of eastern North Carolina today.

FARMERS BRAND NEW DEAL LAND PRICE A GOUGE

Farmers' anger was rising yesterday against the New Deal ruling that land taken from them for war purposes and now no longer required will be offered to them at higher prices—in many cases—than they received from the government.

Earl C. Smith.

This was reported by Earl C. Smith, president of the Illinois Agricultural association, after a visit to Springfield, where he was a member of a group seeing Gov. Dewey. The land involved in the first sale of its kind is at Illiopolis, where it was used as a "protective border" for the Sangamon ordnance plant.

"The federal government is not warranted in going into the real estate business to reap a profit from the accidents of war," Smith said.

Smith emphasized there is no criticism of the army engineers office, Great Lakes division, which is handling the sale under a policy laid down by W. S. Clayton, Washington, D. C., surplus war property administrator. But some of the farmers are angry, he said. The Sangamon county farm bureau has protested.

Sen. Lucas yesterday sent a protest to Washington, contending there are increases as high as $100 an acre.

BALTIMORE SUN BACKS G. O. P. 3D TIME IN 107 YEARS

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 2 (AP).—The Baltimore Sun [Ind.-Dem.] will announce tomorrow its support of Thomas E. Dewey for the Presidency—the third time in its 107 year history that the newspaper has backed a Republican nominee.

In 1896 the Sun supported William McKinley, as opposed to William Jennings Bryan, and in 1940 advocated the election of Wendell Willkie in opposition to a third term for President Roosevelt. The newspaper supported Mr. Roosevelt in 1932 and made no choice in 1936.

The newspaper will say in a three column editorial announcing its support of Dewey that "Mr. Roosevelt's decision to run for a fourth term makes it necessary for the Sun to oppose him in order to do what it can to forestall the evils which such a decision brings into view.

"Fortunately, the Republicans have nominated an able candidate in Gov. Dewey. Good Democrats and good citizens generally can support Mr. Dewey with few reservations and no misgivings. . . .

"Three terms for a President are one too many. In a fourth term, with the unifying ties of war time emotion removed, the forces of disintegration which we all know exist would be free to do their worst. The national safety would be compromised. Mr. Roosevelt's record could be much better than it is and Mr. Dewey's much worse and still the public interest would demand a change."

2 LOST AURORA SOLDIERS ARE DECLARED DEAD

Capt. Merle C. Eby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Eby, 240 Williams st., Aurora, who has been missing over northern France since June 26, 1943, has been declared officially dead, his parents were advised yesterday by the war department. A similar message was received by Mr. and Mrs. John Rall, route 3, Aurora, whose son, Pvt. Harold Rall, 22, had been missing in the Philippines since May, 1942.

Army Nurse Fatally Hurt in Accident, Parents Told

Second Lt. Wilma J. Jervis, 22, an army nurse at Birmingham General hospital at Van Nuys, Cal., was fatally injured there in an accident, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Jervis, 114 River st., Aurora, were advised yesterday by the war department. No details of the accident were given. Lt. Jervis received her training at Broadlaws General hospital, Des Moines, Ia., and was transferred to California Jan. 1. The body will be taken to Chariton, Ia., for burial.

REDISTRICTING FAILS TO DEFEAT REP. FISH IN RACE

New York, Aug. 2 [Special].—Rep. Fish, victor by 2,938 votes for renomination in yesterday's Republican primary, announced today he would file as an independent Jeffersonian for the November election.

This move was taken to counteract the strategy of his defeated rival for the nomination, Augustus W. Bennet, who said he would run as an independent Republican.

Altho Fish won by a substantial margin he suffered thru the redistricting which took Dutchess and Putnam counties out of his district, leaving him only Orange county out of his old district, the 26th, consisting of Orange, Dutchess, and Putnam counties. His new district, the 29th, consists of Orange, Rockland, Sullivan, and Delaware counties.

Faces Harder Fight.

A survey of the primary results indicated Fish will face a far harder fight for reëlection this fall as a result of the change than would have been the case if he could make the race in his old territory, which he has represented for 24 years, and which included the Hyde Park home of President Roosevelt.

The new territory given Fish normally is as overwhelmingly Republican as the territory taken away, but yesterday's voting indicated Fish's personal popularity with his old constituents is not duplicated among voters new to him.

In Orange county Fish piled up 10,329 votes to 5,099 for Bennet, but Fish eked out a victory in Sullivan county by only 171 votes and lost both Delaware and Rockland counties by margins of approximately 2 to 1.

Strong Fight in Rockland.

Rockland county, where live many actors, writers, and artists, was a center of opposition to Fish. Playwright Maxwell Anderson and Actress Helen Hayes took to the stump to urge his defeat, attacking him for his pre-Pearl Harbor opposition to war and his nationalist policies. There the vote was 2 to 1 against him.

Delaware, most northerly of the counties in the 29th, gave Bennet 3,097 votes to 1,543 for Fish.

In Sullivan county, where Fish nosed out Bennet with 1,293 votes to 1,122, most of the year round residents are farmers, but there are many summer residents, some of whom vote there.

Won by Big Margin in '42.

Two years ago in his old district Fish defeated Bennet in the primary with 17,179 votes to 7,201. The total yesterday was 14,263 for Fish to 11,325 for Bennet.

"I am confident not only of winning this fall but of getting three times the majority I received in 1942," Fish said after studying the returns. In the 1942 election he had a 4,000 vote margin over Ferdinand P. Hoyt, Democrat and personal friend of President Roosevelt.

Bennet received the Democratic and American Labor nominations without opposition. Fish said he had decided to file as an independent Jeffersonian in deference to a "sensational" Democratic write-in vote.

Kennedy Loses Seat.

Redistricting in New York City which combined the old 20th district of Rep. Vito Marcantonio with the 18th, hitherto a Tammany stronghold and comprising all of Yorkville on the upper east side, cost the Democratic party a congressman.

This was Rep. Martin J. Kennedy, who lost the Democratic nomination to Marcantonio, head of the left wing of the Communist-dominated American Labor party. Marcantonio's well oiled machine bowled over opposition in the new territory to score a "grand slam," winning the Republican and American Labor nominations as well.

Lt. Robert C. Palmer, an attorney now on active duty with the navy, lost the Republican nomination to Marcantonio by a vote of 2,949 to 2,720, but announced he would demand a recount. John S. McCook, Palmer's campaign manager, said void ballots, many of them for Palmer, were especially high in the northern part of the district, and accused Marcantonio's henchmen of "counting out" Palmer in East Harlem.

Demands Funds Inquiry.

McCook said a congressional investigation of Marcantonio's campaign expenditures would be demanded. He said he had received reports that Marcantonio had a "huge slush fund" and made heavy cash expenditures.

"CIO funds have been freely handed out everywhere," McCook said. "Polling places were jammed with Marcantonio's workers, who in some cases openly threatened and intimidated Republican voters."

Mercantonio was openly opposed this year by Republican leaders and was recently read out of the party "as an agent of the Kremlin" by county leader Thomas J. Curran.

Seeks Daughter

MRS. MARIETTA SCOTT.

While she waited in a loop hotel to keep a luncheon date with her estranged husband, Robert L. Scott, 25, a photographer, he was at her house taking away their 3 year old daughter, Mrs. Marietta Scott, 22, of 1822 Byron st., told Judge Joseph Sabath in Superior court yesterday.

Scott said he sent the child, Bobetta, to relatives in Minneapolis, Minn., because he understood his wife had threatened to injure the girl. Mrs. Scott said he had misunderstood her. Judge Sabath ordered Scott to call his relatives in Minneapolis and return Bobetta to her mother by noon today.

Mrs. Scott, who appeared with Attorney Harry X. Cole, has a bill for separate maintenance pending against Scott, charging him with misconduct. They were married Oct. 20, 1939, and she said Scott has been living in a hotel since March 10. He obtained the child by the luncheon date ruse July 28, she said. Scott was ordered to pay temporary support of $40 a week.

PERIL TO UNIONS IS SEEN IN CIO'S BIG SLUSH FUND

Labor Paper Warns of Public Reaction.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12.—Labor, the weekly publication of 19 railway labor organizations, charges editorially that Sidney Hillman's plan to raise great slush funds to carry the coming election, coupled with his "open alliance with the Communists presents a situation which is full of ominous possibilities for the entire labor movement."

An editorial in a recent issue said that never has any labor group attempted to raise such sums as the 6 million dollar goal of Hillman's CIO political action committee. It asserts CIO "tests" for candidates are not trade union yardsticks and issues of no concern to working men frequently are emphasized.

"As a consequence candidates with good labor records are being vigorously and even viciously opposed by the CIO, while candidates with comparatively poor labor records are ardently approved by the CIO," the publication said.

Warns of Reaction.

The publication said that while no fair minded American can question the right of workers to organize for political purposes, Hillman simply does not know the American people if he imagines that a proposal to raise 6 million dollars to control a Presidential campaign will not cause repercussions.

"Inevitably Mr. Hillman's proposal will strengthen the hands of organized labor's foes and increase the demands for more rigid regulation of labor unions," the editorial charged.

The paper said Hillman's alliance with the "Reds" also is a matter of moment to all trade unionists, and recalls that the American Federation of Labor unions were for years "plagued by Communist efforts to penetrate their ranks."

Resisted by AFL.

"They were successfully resisted, but only after long and bitter and costly struggles," the editorial said. "Now, with the approval of the CIO, Mr. Hillman has thrown the doors wide open to the Reds."

The publication is edited by Edward Keating, former congressman, who frequently has been critical of Mr. Roosevelt and the New Deal. Apparently concurring in the views expressed, the AFL news service is reprinting and circulating the editorial.

14 POINT POLICY IS DRAFTED BY G.O.P. GOVERNORS

Write a New Platform: State-U. S. Harmony.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 2.—The Republican governors of 26 states, comprising 75 per cent of the population of America, in opening a two day conference here today agreed to a list of 14 major governmental functions in which a new administration in Washington next January can end the jurisdictional conflict and turmoil of the last 12 years.

The 26 chief executives, each with an equal voice in discussions and decisions, expect to be able by tomorrow night to issue a statement of Republican party policy seperating the national and state responsibilities and obligations on each of these subjects. It was emphasized this statement will not amplify any planks of the national G. O. P. platform, but it was conceded the governors are writing a new campaign issue for their ticket: intergovernment harmony.

Dewey Presides at Meeting.

The governors met behind closed doors at a long table in the Statler hotel, with Gov. Dewey of New York, the Presidential nominee, at one end and with Gov. Bricker of Ohio, the Vice Presidential nominee, at the other. There was no formal selection of a chairman. A tentative agenda drafted by Dewey and Bricker in Albany, N. Y., last week, was discussed, revised, and approved, each governor first telling the views of his state on the squabbles between local governments and the federal bureaus.

Fourteen committees were appointed, not by any chairman, but by mutual agreement. Each will prepare a report on an assigned subject to be presented to a general meeting later.

List of Committees.

The subjects and their committees, with Dewey and Bricker to work with all of the groups, are as follows:

1. Agriculture—Green [Ill.], Hickenlooper [Ia.], Martin [Pa.], Schoeppel [Kas.], Sharpe [S. D.], Snell [Ore.], and Thye [Minn.].

2. Highways—Ford [Mont.], Griswold [Neb.], Saltonstall [Mass.], Sewall [Me.], Thye [Minn.], and Willis [Ky.]

3. Insurance — Baldwin [Conn.], Edge [N. J.], Goodland [Wis.], Hickenlooper [Ia.], and Saltonstall [Mass.].

4. Labor—Blood [N. H.], Green [Ill.], Kelly [Mich.], Langlie [Wash.], Martin [Pa.], Warren [Cal.].

5. National guard—Bacon [Del.], Hickenlooper [Ia.], Martin [Pa.], Vivian [Colo.], and Willis [Ky.].

Goodland on Expenditures.

6. Public expenditures—Baldwin [Conn.], Goodland [Wis.], Griswold [Neb.], Willis [Vt.].

7. Public lands — Bottolfsen [Idaho], Ford [Mont.], Snell [Ore.], and Warren [Cal.].

8. Public works — Bottolfsen [Idaho], Edge [N. J.], Langlie [Wash.], Saltonstall [Mass.], and Willis [Ky.].

9. Reconversion and post-war jobs—Baldwin [Conn.], Donnell [Mo.], Edge [N. J.], Kelly [Mich.], and Langlie [Wash.].

10. Social welfare and public health—Bacon [Del.], Blood [N. H.], Thye [Minn.], and Warren [Cal.].

11. Taxation—Bacon [Del.], Donnell [Mo.], Goodland [Wis.], Griswold [Neb.], Martin [Pa.], and Schoeppel [Kas.].

12. Unemployment compensation and employment services—Kelly [Mich.], Saltonstall [Mass.], Sewall [Me.], Vivian [Colo.], and Wills [Vt.].

Green on Veterans' Affairs.

13. Veterans' affairs—Blood [N. H.], Green [Ill.], Kelly [Mich.], Langlie [Wash.], Schoeppel [Kas.], Sewall [Me.], and Vivian [Colo.].

14. Water resources—Bottolfsen [Idaho], Donnell [Mo.], Ford [Mont.], Sharpe [S. D.], Snell [Ore.], Vivian [Colo.], and Wills [Vt.].

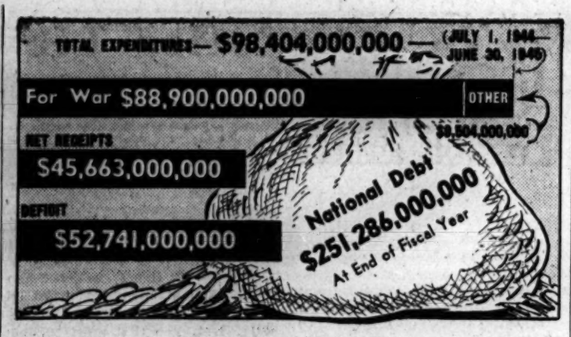
Rep. Halleck [Ind.], as chairman of the Republican congressional committee, who is an onlooker at the governors' conference, said he approved the program in behalf of his committee. He said it will help to elect a Republican congress.

Dewey announced progress at a meeting with reporters in the early afternoon. He commented that the assembly of all 26 Republican governors, without a single absentee, was noteworthy in itself—"without parallel in history," was the candidate's description.

Reporters asked if the governors had discussed politics, the organization of their states for the fall campaigns. Dewey said they had not talked politics yet but he expected they would.

ROBBERS GET WATCH AND $12.

David De Koven, 852 Belle Plaine av., a radio script writer, told police yesterday he was robbed of a watch and $12 by two men while sitting in Lincoln park with Miss Mary Hardy, a radio actress.



G.O.P. GOVERNORS FIND CHEER IN MISSOURI POLL

Thinks Clark Showing Weakens Democrats.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 2.—Political prospects for November were an engrossing topic among the 26 Republican governors today, outside the formal meetings on party domestic policies. Many held that Missouri, a doubtful state, has been made more doubtful for the Democrats by the results of yesterday's primary.

It was reasoned by that that the defeat of Sen. Clark by Atty. Gen. Roy McKittrick for the Democratic nomination for senator has strengthened the chances of Gov. Donnell, who won the Republican senatorship nomination. It also is regarded as increasing the G. O. P. possibilities in the state for the national ticket.

As the experts view it, the McKittrick vote contains the dyed-in-the wool Roosevelt Democrats, while that of Clark embraces Missouri Democrats who hold the midwest nationalist view on post-war relations with other countries. A considerable part of this vote is expected to swing to Donnell in November and to the Republican national ticket.

Blow to Hannegan.

The defeat of Clark also is interpreted by some governors as a rebuff for Democratic National Chairman Hannegan and Sen. Truman of Missouri.

Herbert Brownell, national G. O. P. chairman, tonight announced a conference of Republican leaders from 11 midwest states will be held Friday morning in the Stevens hotel in Chicago. Attending the meeting, which is to formulate campaign plans, will be leaders from Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Ohio, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota, and Wisconsin.

Brownell, who will leave tomorrow for Chicago, said plans will be made over the week-end for opening a Chicago office for the national committee, probably at 105 West Adams street.

Talk of the Missouri situation brought other G. O. P. governors from midwest states in the region between the Alleghenies and Rockies to declare their states are retaining their Republican trends. Governors Green of Illinois, Hickenlooper of Iowa, Schoeppel of Kansas, Kelly of Michigan, Bricker of Ohio, Griswold of Nebraska, Sharpe of South Dakota, Goodland of Wisconsin, and Thye of Minnesota look for their states to land in the Republican column.

Minnesota, which some have been regarding as doubtful but probably Republican, was taken out of the doubtful column by Roy Dunn, national committeeman, who was on the scene. He reported anti-New Deal sentiment in his state is growing stronger than ever.

The Pacific States.

The Pacific states came in for considerable inquiry in the informal chit chat. Gov. Snell of Oregon declared much hard work still is to be done and predicted an aggressive campaign will land Oregon in the G. O. P. column in November. This is the Pacific coast state which so far has been deemed most likely to go Republican.

Gov. Warren of California parried a question regarding November prospects in his state, which is listed among the doubtful ones.

"We don't count votes for the Presidency in August," he said. "The campaign for us has not started yet. We don't have the organization you have in the midwest and the east." "Warren, who could have had the Vice Presidential nomination if he had wanted it, but preferred to serve out his term as governor instead, said Bricker is a "splendid running mate for Dewey" and that the Ohioan has a large following in California.

"The California governor expressed the idea that the rejection of Vice President Wallace by the Democrats will "cut both ways" on the west coast where Wallace has both friends and enemies.

Kentucky Safe—Wills.

Since the 1940 census more than one and a half million persons have gone into California, seat of airplane and other war plants, and Warren says if the state does not manage to retain its industrial position unemployment "such as we have never seen will result."

Washington is likely to be in the Republican column, said Gov. Langlie of that state. "In the primary this year," he said, "the Republican vote was heavier than the Democratic. If Republicans do a good job I think we'll be in Washington, D. C."

Kentucky, a traditionally Democratic state, which went Republican last year in its state election, is headed to the Republican national ticket, in the opinion of Gov. Wills. His election was attributed to an uprising against the New Deal.

Delaware, one of the doubtful states, according to Gov. Bacon, has a "good chance" of going Republican.

Democrats Nominate AFL Agent for St. Louis Mayor

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 2 (AP).—Patrick J. Burke, an AFL union business agent, won the Democratic nomination for mayor of this city by a majority of 16,315 votes, defeating former Director of Public Welfare Joseph M. Darst. Burke will oppose Aloys P. Kaufmann, unopposed Republican incumbent, in the November elections.

APARTMENT RIFLED; LOOT $1,500.

Jewelry, silver, and clothing valued at approximately $1,500 were stolen from the apartment of Garland W. Kimball at 2362 E. 68th st., he reported to police yesterday.

52 Billion Deficit

Washington, D. C., Aug. 2 (AP).—Gearing his figures to the assumption of a German collapse before next June 30, but a longer conflict with Japan, Budget Director Harold D. Smith today estimated war spending during the 1945 fiscal year will be approximately 90 billion dollars.

"If victory in Europe should be delayed, the production of munitions will be stepped up to whatever may be needed," he said.

The new war spending estimate, contained in a statement revising the budget estimates of Jan. 10, is little changed from the former one. The biggest change is an increase of nearly 5 billion dollars in net receipts for the fiscal year—from $40,769,000,000 to $45,663,000,000.

Revised budget figures include:

Expenditures—$98,404,000,000. [Not including a $625,000,000 expenditures-less-receipts figure for government corporations which would make the over-all total $99,029,000,000.]

Net receipts—$45,663,000,000.

War spending—$88,900,000,000.

Excess of expenditures over receipts—$52,741,000,000.

National debt at end of fiscal year—$251,286,000,000.

CLARK CONCEDES DEFEAT, WARNS OF CIO MENACE

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 2 (AP).—Sen. Clark, conceding defeat for Democratic renomination at yesterday's primary, said in a statement it "represents a notable temporary triumph for the Communist controled CIO in its efforts to take control of the Democratic party."

Roy McKittrick.

Roy McKittrick, attorney general of Missouri, was leading for the nomination by about 18,000 votes on nearly complete returns when Clark issued a statement saying: "No man should ever offer himself for a political office unless he is prepared to stand on his record and accept defeat if it should come to him.

McKittrick had challenged Clark's record in the senate, saying it had stamped him as an "isolationist."

Cites St. Louis Stand.

Clark, who said he carried "the bona fide Democratic counties of Missouri," asserted rural Missourians were "alert to the menace of the CIO." He added, "it behooves the people of St. Louis to become similarly minded."

McKittrick, who ran as an administration supporter, received the backing of the CIO political action committee. St. Louis, the senator's home for years, gave McKittrick a 17,000 majority.

The attorney general polled 161,915 votes to 143,971 for Clark with 4,254 of the state's 4,512 precincts reported. There are about 30,000 absentee ballots to count.

Donnell Picked by G. O. P.

Gov. Forrest C. Donnell was named by the Republicans for the senate seat. Donnell was immediately hailed by G. O. P. Presidential Nominee Thomas E. Dewey, who said he was "delighted to be running on the same ticket."

Lebanon, population 8,000, furnished both gubernatorial nominees, with State. Sen. Phil M. Donnelly winning the Democratic nomination and Jean Paul Bradshaw, gaining G. O. P. indorsement.

COLE CONCEDED KANSAS WINNER BY LAMBERTSON

Topeka, Kas., Aug. 2 (AP).—Rep. Lambertson, Kansas Republican veteran of eight terms in the house, whose criticism of the war records of President Roosevelt's sons created a stir last year, today conceded defeat as returns from yesterday's primary piled up a lead for his opponent, State Sen. Albert M. Cole of Holton.

With returns tabulated from all but one of the first district's 428 precincts, the vote was 20,502 for Cole and 18,331 for Lambertson.

Two other Republican law makers won renomination. They were United States Sen. Reed and Rep. Thomas D. Winter.

Lambertson in 1943 intimated the President's sons had been coddled, saying he had been told by "a distinguished American" that one of them had been "lifted" from Guadalcanal. His statement was followed by many protests both in and out of congress.

CHECK PASSER GETS $45.

Ralph Vitullo, owner of a tavern at 2658 Van Buren st., told police yesterday that a stranger had cashed a worthless $45 check in the tavern.

"But, Margie, there's something important I'd like to talk over with you! Can't we even turn this thing off during the commercials?"

REVEAL TRUMAN PUT BOTTLENECK BLAME ON F. D. R.

Testimony Recalled by Vandenberg.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 2 (AP).—Sen. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] said today he read to Republican senators at a conference yesterday excerpts from the Congressional Record of Aug. 14, 1941, which he said showed Sen. Truman [D., Mo.], Democratic Vice Presidential nominee, once was critical of President Roosevelt.

"I haven't anything to say about it," Vandenberg told reporters. "The fact is that I read it at the conference. It speaks for itself."

Stettinius Blamed.

The Record showed Truman, chairman of the senate war investigating committee, submitted a report on that day critical of certain phases of the home front defense program and charging the wastage of millions of dollars in camp construction.

Responding to Vandenberg's question as to where final authority rested with respect to priorities and curtailments, Truman said no final conclusion had been reached "but the last information I have is that it rests with Mr. [Edward R.,] Stettinius." The present undersecretary of state then was chief of the OPM priorities division.

The Record continues:

VANDENBERG: In other words, the senator is now saying that the chief bottleneck which the defense program confronts is the lack of adequate organization and coördination in the administration of defense?

Only One Responsibility.

TRUMAN: That is exactly what the hearings before our committee will prove.

VANDENBERG: Who is responsible for that situation?

TRUMAN: There is only one place where the responsibility can be put.

VANDENBERG: Where is that—the White House?

TRUMAN: Yes sir.

FOUND UNCONSCIOUS ON PORCH.

Eric Rosenquist, 51, of 1646 Berwyn av., was found unconscious yesterday on a rear porch of the building at 1451 Carmen av., where he is employed as janitor, apparently after suffering a heart attack. He was taken to Edgewater hospital.

S. C. DEMOCRATS INDORSE F. D. R. IN SPECIAL SESSION

Columbia, S. C., Aug. 2 (AP).—South Carolina Democrats in a special state convention today indorsed Presidential electors pledged to the Roosevelt-Truman ticket and accepted by silence the national party platform.

A brewing struggle between a strong anti-fourth term minority and a pro-New Deal group failed to materialize when neither alteration of the states' rights plank of the state party platform nor indorsement of the national platform was sought. Both had been threatened.

COMPLETE PLANS FOR SALE OF WAR PLANE SURPLUS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 2.—The Defense Plant corporation, a subsidiary of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, has completed arrangements for the sale of war surplus airplanes at 30 centers, Secretary of Commerce Jones announced today.

Among the designated centers are the Robert Slamp Flying service, Lansing, Ill.; Lysdale Flying service, Minneapolis, Minn., and the Racine Flying service, Racine, Wis.

Jones announced delivery of the planes to some of the sales centers already has started. The military services will, over a period of time, declare large numbers of airplanes to be "surplus," but only a small fraction will be adaptable for use as personal craft, he said: Light 65 horse power trainers will be sold as fast as they are put up for sale and there will not be enough of them to meet demand, he believes.

Army and navy primary trainers of from 165 to 220 horse power will be available in greater numbers than the light trainers, Jones said, and a limited number of advanced light twin engine trainers will be sold. Large twin engine cargo planes, which will be in demand for commercial transport purposes, will not be available except in limited numbers until the war ends.

Civil aeronautics administration personnel, working in close coöperation with the Defense Plant corporation, will assist in the sales and storage of surplus planes, Jones said. All planes will be disposed of on an "as is" basis without warranty.

Information on planes to be disposed of and sales conditions may be obtained by writing regional CAA offices and asking to be placed on the "invitation to bid" list.

FBI MEN PURSUE FAKE ENSIGN AS CHECK PASSER

While federal bureau of investigation agents all over the country were looking for a man in a naval ensign's uniform, posing as Gordon Lamont, secretary of the New York bond house of Lamont, Corliss & Co., he appeared in a St. Louis traffic court last Monday, paid a small fine for speeding, and walked out.

That was disclosed yesterday with the issuance here of U. S. commissioner's warrants for the arrest of Harry Alan Duke, alias Edmund Forrest Hunt, on charges of impersonating a navy officer, illegally wearing a uniform, and violating the national stolen property act.

He is wanted here for cashing three checks totaling $600 at the Drake hotel and the Palmer House.

In some manner, Duke obtained a wallet belonging to Lamont in New York. Using the credentials it contained, he scattered bad checks in New York and Washington. Then he came to Chicago.

By the time the checks he wrote here bounced, he had gone to St. Louis. FBI agents here discovered where he was and asked St. Louis police to hold him.

But by the time St. Louis police had traced him to the traffic court, he had paid his fine and left.

PET DOG LOSER FIGHTS TO OUST VETERINARIAN

The veterinary examining board of the state department of registration and education, after hearing conflicting witnesses in an inquest into the death of a dog yesterday, delayed a decision pending study of a transcript of the testimony. The decision involves the question whether George M. Urbanek, veterinarian at 6320 Broadway, should have his veterinarian's license revoked, as asked by Mrs. Viola Duick, who owned the dog.

L. A. Merrilat, chairman of the examining board, said testimony showed the 8 year old German shepherd dog had been under treatment by four other veterinarians within a month before he died, with symptoms of heart, kidney, and asthma trouble. Mrs. Duick, who lives at 3437 N. Paulina st., charged Urbanek with negligence, saying the dog died March 10, two days after she took it to him.

Hearing the case with Merrilat were William W. Warnek and W. H. Shaw, other members of the board.

WOMAN'S LEAP FROM A TRAIN COSTS HER LIFE

Mrs. Esther Stover Tepp, 51, of 19 S. Second st., Highland Park, died last night in the Highland Park hospital a few hours after her feet were cut off by a North Shore Line train near her home.

Dr. H. B. Roberts said she told him she was on the train, which was traveling from Waukegan to Chicago, and slept past her station. She was injured, she said, when she jumped off the train as it made a momentary stop at Laurel av. Mrs. Tepp, a widow, was employed by the Johns-Manville company in Waukegan.

Benjamin Dickenson, 45, janitor employed in Highwood taverns, suffered a broken arm when a North Western train knocked him down yesterday as he was walking along the tracks near Highwood av.

ORDERS PROBE OF REPORT ARMY DESTROYS GOODS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 2 (AP).—Lt. Gen. Brehon Somervell, commanding the army service forces, has ordered an investigation of reports that army equipment and supplies were being destroyed along the Alaska highway.

Reports in the Canadian house of commons that huge medical stores, and other supplies and equipment were being destroyed as United States army camps were closed along the highway, prompted Somervell to order the investigation and a report to Washington by the northwest service command in charge of the highway.

Disposal of equipment and supplies used by army engineers during construction of the road is being studied by the Canadian and United States governments, but the engineers have instructions meanwhile to salvage all usable material as the camps are dismantled.

18 BESIDES CECIL LOST IN CRASH AT PACIFIC BASE

Washington, D. C., Aug. 2 (AP).—Eighteen other officers and men were lost in the airplane crash in which Rear Adm. Charles P. Cecil, 50, was killed at an unnamed Pacific base Monday, the navy announced tonight. All aboard were listed as dead or missing.

Among the four known to be dead are Cecil, the 11th flag or general officer of the naval service to die in combat areas, and Capt. Horatio G. Sickel, 47, who won the legion of merit for establishment of naval operating bases in the North African invasion.

The missing, the navy said, include Lt. Walter S. Gifford Jr., 26, son of Walter S. Gifford, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph company. Others are Lt. [j. g.] Leland L. Newcomb, 26, wife, Mrs. Pearl I. Newcomb, 136 Corner st., Watertown, Wis., and Lt. Col. Robert S. Brown, army, former editor of the Columbus [O.] Dispatch.

HEAD OF MENTAL HOSPITAL GETS MILITARY LEAVE

Dr. Vladimer G. Urse 38, superintendent of Cook County Psychopathic hospital since 1941, has been granted a military leave of absence and will leave Saturday for army duty. He has been commissioned a major.

Dr. John J. Madden, 42, assistant psychiatrist for the last eight years, has been named as acting superintendent by the county board of supervisors.

Dr. Urse will report to Carlisle barracks, near Harrisburg, Pa., and expects to be sent later to the Lawson General hospital at Atlanta, Ga. He has been connected with Psychopathic hospital since February, 1932.

Suspend Gasoline Dealer for Duration of Rationing

The office of price administration yesterday suspended for the duration of rationing John Peschke, gasoline station owner at 3968 Belmont av., for turning in counterfeit coupons for 2,515 gallons. He did not appear at a hearing conducted by John R. Allen, regional hearing commissioner.

THE QUESTION.

What do you do when your wife starts to cry?

WHERE ASKED.

Del Prado hotel [of players of Philadelphia Athletics baseball team].

THE ANSWERS.

Jess Flores, pitcher—If we lose an important ball game and I feel badly about it, my wife sometimes sheds a few sympathetic tears to show me that she's sorry, too. That's the only time I've ever seen her cry. I just pat her on the back and say, "Don't cry—it's all over now and we'll win the next game."

Don Black, pitcher—What I do when my wife cries all depends on why she's crying. If it's for something that I did or didn't do [which is usually the case], I tell her I'm sorry, that I didn't mean to do it and hope that she'll forgive me. With my apology I always offer the most plausible excuse I can think of.

Harold Epps, outfielder — When my wife starts to cry I just laugh. That makes her so disgusted she cries all the longer and louder. After she whimpers for a while she realizes it doesn't do any good and stops. If I pampered her, she'd probably cry just as much. A good cry every now and then does a woman a lot of good.

Luman Harris, pitcher—I've always been a peace loving husband and I never do anything that I think might make my wife cry. If she did have something to cry about, I don't think she would because she's just not the kind. I've never seen her shed one tear and if she did I would be at a loss as to what to do.

Dick Siebert, outfielder—It makes me mad when my wife starts moanin' and groanin' around. She never gets any sympathy from me when she cries because I don't like it. I go and read my newspaper or listen to the radio. She knows I don't like to see her cry, so for a long, long time I haven't seen a display of tears.

Joyner White, outfielder—My wife hasn't cried for a number of years but when she used to do it I'd baby her and treat her real nice. I did that because even if she didn't really have any reason to cry she probably felt sorry for herself or was feeling low. I felt it was up to me to make a special effort to be good to her.

FOREMAN FINED; CHARGE HE BEAT UNION OFFICIAL

H. J. Montie, 8405 S. Lawrence av., general foreman of the New York Central roundhouse at 63d st. and Indiana av., was fined $5 and costs in Judge N. J. Bonelli's Wabash av. court yesterday on a charge of disorderly conduct. Montie's attorney was given until Sept. 12 to file an appeal. Complainant was Sam McWilliams, Negro, 3128 Vernon av., president of local 510, International Brotherhood of Firemen and Oilers, who charged he was beaten by Montie when he asked for an appointment to learn why the foreman slapped one of his workmen. Montie told Judge Bonelli he didn't assault the union official, that he "only slapped him on the hand."

Bandit Victim, 5 Feet Tall, Trails Suspect; 2 Nabbed

After two husky 6 foot robbers took $101 from him Sunday in an alley near 62d st. and Maryland av., Noble Hoover, 10701 Champlain av., followed one of them to 6411 Maryland av. and notified police. They arrested Raymond McCarney, 42, and his brother, 43, both of that address, who have long police records. Hoover, who is only 5 feet tall, identified the towering brothers yesterday in Felony court and Judge Francis Borrelli held them to the grand jury in bond of $10,000 each. They denied the charge.

NAVY CAPTAIN'S WIFE IS ROBBED OF AUTO AND DOG

Mrs. Mercedes McCambridge, wife of Capt. Louis McCambridge, naval surgeon serving overseas, was held up and robbed of her automobile and its contents Tuesday night by three Negroes who accosted her at 56th st. and Outer dr.

The three men, Mrs. McCambridge reported to Hyde Park police, crowded into the car as she slowed down at the street intersection. They forced her to get out, and drove away with the car, a blue Mercedes sedan. The loot included three suitcases containing clothes, $150 in travelers checks, and a brown cocker spaniel dog.

Mrs. McCambridge said she was driving from Madison, Wis., to her home in Bethseda, Md., at the time of the robbery. She continued her journey by train.

REMOVE POINTS ONLY ON C BEEF, NEW WFA RULE

Marvin Jones, war food administrator, yesterday amended a previous announcement that beef steaks and roasts will be made ration free, effective Aug. 13. He issued an order limiting the removal of points to C grades, or utility beef.

This left AA [choice], A [good], and B [commercial] grades of steaks and roasts on the ration list. D grades [canner and cutter] have been off the list for two months. All beef sold in retail shops is required to carry its government grade stamped on the skin or fat, and butchers must note the grade on price tags.

Pork loins and hams, now point free, will be returned to rationing at the same time. Point values will be assigned them soon, the office of price administration said.

'Miss Lieutenant' . . . . . By Nina Wilcox Putnam

(Copyright: 1944: By Ines Eliot.)

SYNOPSIS: Lt. Carol Melton, awakened by an alarm clock, realizes she is not in Kansas, but is an army nurse in North Africa. Her patient, Col. Barlow, is in love with her, but a childhood sweetheart stands between them. Carol's identical twin, Lita, married a Frenchman and lives on the Riviera. Carol overhears a military conference in which the need for maps and photographs of the crooked little towns along the Riviera is discussed. She informs Col. Barlow that Lita's husband has a collection of maps, drawings, and photographs of all secret passageways along the coast, that she was educated in Nice, and speaks French fluently. She persuades the colonel to recommend her for the mission. Carol is called to American headquarters.

INSTALMENT IV.

A SERIOUS LEAKAGE.

"I'm only asking for the chance to go, sir!" Carol's own voice seemed strange to her.

"Very well, then!" said the general. "You will be transferred immediately to intelligence on special duty. But even that must be done with the utmost secrecy. This place is still crawling with undependables. So when you leave here you will apply for sick leave. A private room will be assigned to you near the gate of the convent. You will go to bed and feign sickness. The nuns can be trusted, especially the superior, Mother Michalette. But no one else must know you are not ill. You will wait in that room until you receive a certain signal, and when you receive it you

AIR LINES PICK DOUGLAS PORT FOR A TERMINAL

Estimate Construction Cost at 25 Millions.

mated cost of about $25,000,000, is the best solution.

The airport was built for the Douglas Aircraft company, now constructing C-54 Skymaster cargo planes in a huge factory on government owned land, leased for war production, on Mannheim road just south of Higgins road.

Built for testing and flying away the C-54s, the airport is 1¼ miles square, with three runways, two 5,500 feet long, and one 5,700 feet long. All the runways are 150 feet wide, of concrete.

The area is flat, the land mainly in farms, and buildings and obstructions consequently are few. The site could be expanded to 3,000 acres or more if need be, and the necessary terminal buildings and field facilities including 10,000 foot runways, could be built for an estimated $25,000,000.

Clear of Industrial Smoke.

There is no industrial smoke of the sort that frequently produces conditions of poor visibility at the present airport, tho the weather may be bright and clear a few miles away.

The site, however, is farthest from the loop in both miles and time among those considered. An express highway to the northwest is included in the plan commission's $267,000,000 program for the city and the commission gives 27.4 minutes as the travel time from the Douglas site to the loop over the high speed road. On present roads the time is 41 minutes.

How an airport at the Douglas site, or anywhere else, is to be financed was not discussed by the air lines' committee, it is understood, as the question was deemed to be one for local governments to solve.

Douglas Site in County Area.

Post-war policies on the point are now being widely discussed. The United States Chamber of Commerce recently recommended that a system be adopted similar to that in which the government assists states in constructing highways, matching state or municipal appropriations.

The Douglas site is in territory under the jurisdiction of the Cook county board. Presumably, the city and county could agree on a plan of joint financing.

The air lines' interest in costs, frequently mentioned in the past in connection with the lake front site, is that they lease space for hangars and pay landing fees, and could not afford to meet charges designed to amortize an investment as large as $150,000,000.

While an airport of the size proposed for Douglas is being constructed the present Chicago airport would be the major terminal. The air lines say they believe it will be adequate for the next five years, with the construction of a new terminal building to overcome what is at present its greatest lack.

Another air lines committee has agreed on a terminal building plan, and will meet today in the Palmer House to further it. The proposal is for a $1,200,000 building to be paid for by the lines, which will be reimbursed by the city thru remission of fees.

The new terminal, which it is hoped will be completed by next July, would have loading stations for 16 Douglas DC-6 passenger transports of the type the lines will put in service immediately after the war. The same stations would accommodate 21 DC-3 planes of the type now standard. With the utmost crowding, only 9 DC-3s can be accommodated at the present terminal.

Plans for New Building.

Without modifying any of the existing runways, the plan is to erect the new terminal building at the northeast corner of the airport, in the shape of a V, with the base on Cicero av.

The base of the V would spread 900 feet on the street, from a point just north of 57th st. to a point just south of 58th st. The legs of the V would form a building 40 feet wide and 14 feet high, of one story, with the roof a public observation deck.

On the outside of the structure, planes would load and unload in an estimated 30 minutes. At that rate, the building would serve 64 plane movements—the landing and take-off of 32 planes—each hour.

The plan proposes a public building, four stories high with the airport control tower atop it, for the center of the terminal, with space for a postoffice, handling of express, restaurants, shops, and other conveniences for air travelers and visitors.

A. F. Heino, architect, of United Air Lines, is chairman of the terminal building committee, and other members are E. H. Sittner, American Air Lines; Walter Prokosch, Eastern Air Lines; R. M. Huber, TWA, and F. R. Meisch, Northwest Air Lines.

ALLEGED PELLEY LINKS HEARD AT SEDITION TRIAL

Washington, D. C., Aug. 2 (AP).—The government introduced testimony in the mass sedition conspiracy trial today intended to connect other defendants with the activities of Defendant William Dudley Pelley, former leader of the Silver Shirts.

Jesse B. Kling, former secretary and proofreader for Pelley, testified to working for him in Asheville, N. C., and Noblesville, Ind., between 1936 and 1942.

In response to questions by O. John Rogge, chief prosecutor, Kling told of seeing several of the defendants in Pelley's offices. Those he named included George E. Deatherage, former commander of the Knights of the White Camelia and head of the American Nationalist federation; Frank W. Clark, Ernest F. Elmhurst, and Howard V. Broenstrupp.

The witness was asked whether he ever saw another defendant, Herman Max Schwinn, former west coast leader of the German-American bund.

"I believe I did," Kling replied, "but I wouldn't know the man."

Defense counsel protested this answer, but Chief Justice Eicher allowed it to stand.

Brooklyn Man 1st to Give 24 Pints of Blood to Yanks

New York, Aug. 2 (AP).—The Red Cross today acclaimed Ben B. Hofstadter of Brooklyn as the first person in the United States to give 24 pints of blood to the military forces.

PAPER PROMOTES SEDITION TRIAL, THEN DROPS IT

Washington, D. C., Aug. 2 [Special].—The New Deal Washington Post, which took a leading role in promoting the sedition trial of 26 defendants which has been under way here for the last 13 weeks, has abandoned special coverage of the trial because it no longer considers its newsworthy.

"Of late the trial has not produced enough news to justify assigning a man to it full time," Frank Dennis, assistant managing editor of the Post, explained today.

He added that the reporter who has been covering the trial for the last 13 weeks has been sent back to the capitol and that the newspaper hereafter will depend for coverage on its reporter regularly at the courthouse and on news services.

Worked Up Evidence.

When the government was working up evidence which led to indictments in the sedition case, Dillard Stokes, a Post reporter, was assigned by the Post to work with the justice department.

Rep. Hoffman [R., Mich.] charged in the house in December, 1942, that Stokes, in collaboration with the justice department, used assumed names to lure a number of those later indicted to mail him copies of alleged seditious utterances. This enabled the government to obtain the indictment in Washington, Hoffman said, on the pretext that by mailing the material to Stokes they had committed an offense within this jurisdiction.

Finds Justice Unlikely.

Editorially the Post washed its hands of the trial in its issue of July 28, stating that "we think the time has come to recognize the unlikelihood of securing any fair approximation of justice from this unhappy experiment." The editorial added that at its present pace the trial would run on for several years after the war, and concluded sadly that a trial involving more than two dozen individuals "is almost certain to be a fizzle."

UTAH MOTORIST HITS LOOP CRITIC IN FACE; SEIZED

Lawrence S. Meyers, 49, of Central dr., Flossmoor, assistant vice president of the Marsh & McLennan company, 164 W. Adams st., was halfway across Wabash av. at Madison st. last night when the green light changed to red.

An automobile, bearing Utah license plates, which had stopped for the red light on Wabash av., suddenly started toward Meyers, who placed his hand upon its radiator and shouted to the driver to watch where he was going.

Meyers continued east across the street and had walked a short distance when a man came charging up to him and struck him in the face, shattering his spectacles and possibly fracturing his nose. It was the driver of the Utah car, who had swung around the corner and parked.

Meyer's assailant was arrested by Central police. He gave his name as Glenn McDermott, 58, of Oakland, Cal., who is staying in a hotel at 640 N. Wabash. He said Meyers had cursed him. Police charged McDermott, an insurance salesman, with assault and battery.

RACE AS A SMEAR WEAPON.

Rep. Hamilton Fish was renominated by the Republicans of the 29th New York district, who gave him a comfortable margin over Augustus W. Bennet, an internationalist whom he decisively defeated in the election two years ago.

This time Bennet sought to deny the voters any choice in the election by an attempt to corral all three nominations—those of the Republicans, Democrats, and the Communist controled American Labor party. He got the latter two without contest and thus he and his supporters of all parties were able to invade the Republican primary and devote all their energies to the contest against Fish. The peculiar election laws of New York permit such tactics and Bennet, perhaps, cannot be censured too severely for doing what the law allows, even tho the practice is a perversion of the election process.

Bennet must, however, bear the stain of his supporters. In his quest of the Republican nomination he collaborated publicly with the Benedict Arnold socialites who are plotting to return America to its former status of a British colony, the Communists, who would destroy the American government, and the rat press of the neighboring metropolis, the New York Post and PM. He did not make the slightest move to repudiate any of these unsavory supporters, even when they descended to new depths in a smear campaign against Fish.

A reporter for the Post, by provocative questions, extracted from Fish the statement that "Jews are more or less for the New Deal, unfortunately." The wisdom of such an utterance may very well be questioned, but to stretch it to make a charge of racial prejudice is the dirtiest kind of dirty politics. That charge does not lie easily against a man who led a company of Negro soldiers in the last war and offered to do physical battle on their behalf when they were abused by members of a southern unit stationed near by.

The truth is that the charge of anti-Semitism against Rep. Fish was used to cover the real antagonism of his opponents which arose from the fact that he has been an outspoken nationalist. The Post confessed as much in an election editorial when it said: "The injection of race into politics is only a symptom. Its source is that fanatical and distorted nationalism, alias isolationism, which breeds racialism."

In the eyes of the New York Post the tens of millions of people of the middle west who, regardless of their religion or racial background, have shown themselves in one election after another to be strongly nationalist in their sentiments are a mere rabble of Ku Kluxers.

The injection of racial issues and the attempt to rouse race hatred in political contests is not only unfortunate, it is despicable. Such issues can be and are raised as easily by charging, on flimsy evidence, that a candidate is anti-Semitic, or anti-Negro, or anti-Catholic as by those who actually attack minority groups. Whichever way it is done it is still dangerous, despitable, and thoroly un-American.

REFORMS AT ST. CHARLES.

A recent series of wholesale escapes from the state training school for boys near St. Charles resulted in an investigation by a committee from the state welfare department.

As a result one of the executives of the school, who was held to be lacking in administrative and disciplinary ability, was let out. Better food is to be provided. Inmates are to be required to keep themselves and their cottages cleaner. Discipline will be tightened, and the supervisors of the cottages, of which there are 125 at St. Charles and its branch for "hard cases" at Sheridan, are to be placed under closer supervision.

All this is in refreshing contrast to the attitude of preceding state administrations, whose method of dealing with scandals at St. Charles was to sit tight and hope that the public would soon forget. The reforms should improve conditions at St. Charles, but they won't cure the fundamental trouble of which the periodic outbreaks at St. Charles are only a symptom.

The St. Charles school has been a victim of sentimentalists, on and off the bench, who refused to recognize a criminal when they see one. This state used to have a reformatory at Pontiac. It was filled up with young murderers and other felons who should have been sent to the penitentiaries. In time it was made in name what it had become in fact, a part of the state prison system.

John W. Gates gave the St. Charles institution to the state as a home for dependent and wayward boys, and Mr. Gates didn't regard 16 and 17 year old gunmen and rapists as merely wayward, altho the Juvenile court has, frequently. St. Charles eventually got the offenders who should have gone to Pontiac if Pontiac had not already been filled with confirmed criminals.

Downstate judges still send dependent boys, boys whose only offense is poverty, to St. Charles. In Cook county such boys are usually placed in foster homes. That may be the preferable method, but it is a crime against dependent boys to apprentice them in crime to the delinquents and criminals sent to the school from Chicago.

St. Charles can't be, at the same time, a prison for youthful but hardened criminals, a correctional institution for delinquents and truants, and a refuge for unfortunate boys. Father Flanagan, J. Edgar Hoover, and the United States marines, together, couldn't run such a place and do justice to all of the inmates and to the public. The functions must be separated, and the statutes written more closely to prevent courts and social workers from downgrading them, as they have downgraded Pontiac and St. Charles in the past, by reducing and waiving charges of crime.

THEIR PLACE IN HISTORY.

The Wall Street Journal notes that the New Dealers are going to keep a record of their war time activity in world affairs "complete to the point of boredom." It says that OPA has hired a full time historian to record its daring deeds and that dozens of top drawer burocrats are under contract to publishers to tell all about their efforts "in the drive for essential production." Altogether, records and archives of the Roosevelt administration promise to be the most voluminous of any in world history.

All the little commanders in chief in the New Deal army are just as anxious about their place in world history as is the big commander in chief. They are not willing to wait for historians to judge their worth and merit, but will do the job themselves, in imperishable official records.

This tight little lives and letters club, dedicated to self-eulogy, is part of what Mr. Roosevelt calls his "win the war' administration. A great majority of American citizens have smelled powder in this conflict, either on the battlefields or in grueling jobs in war plants. To them the New Deal's personal history projects will stack up as one cockeyed way of winning a war.

HITLER, HIS ARMY, AND THE PEACE.

Sumner Welles, former undersecretary of state, risked some observations in his new book, "The Time for Decision," on the German general staff, its war obsession, its plans for the next war, its political dominance and its relations to such figures as Hitler and Wilhelm II. before him and the unfortunate characters of the intervening republican regime, and got into print just in time to have the events of the last two weeks mortify his conclusions.

No one could defend the innocence of the German general staff—the officer caste and the men to whom soldiering is a profession and war its logical occupation. They helped to wreck the republic. They welcomed Hitler as a rabble rouser who could get them what they wanted. The idea that he is a figurehead and that the army chiefs hold the power lacked evidence before the recent purge and seems to be totally destroyed by it. Ten years ago Hitler proved that he could shoot generals, among them Gen. von Schleicher who had been chancellor before him. The murder of Mrs. Schleicher was added as an incidental touch. All the officers could do was to rescue the general's name from the infamy of the Hitler charge that he had been a traitor.

The theory that the fuehrer has been the instrument of the general staff pays too little attention to the shrewdness of Hitler's demonism. The reports of the elaborate precautions he took against the army itself were apparently well founded. It was estimated that his own selected troops numbered over a half million, Nazi fanatics whose fortunes were bound up with the fate of the party leaders, who were trained to kill Germans without compunction and fight any dissident elements in the army. Hitler broke generals at will. Only his favorites had any security.

When Hitler stepped out of the 1939 bomb explosion in Munich by a matter of minutes it was surmised that he knew what was coming and avoided his own petard. Allowance is made now for the possibility that he planted the bomb which started the present army purge. Herr Hitler is a scoundrel so nearly perfect that nothing can be put beyond him. Until there is better evidence to the contrary the safer assumption is that he escaped an attempt on his life, but the methods used indicate how little opportunity and assurance the officers had to make their attack directly and successfully. It would have been more in character if they had walked in on him and shot him.

The idea that Hitler is the tool of some superior power in the German nation does not hold up. He and his intuitions may add up to defeat and disastrous military operations. Apparently they are the operation the German people must sustain. So long as the Nazis hold power there is no one in Germany with whom peace could be discussed and no one with whom an armistice could be signed. At least the United States could not consistently offer armistice terms to Hitler or any of his Nazi subordinates. These Germans could surrender, but no negotiations could be had with them. The government of Germany has only an outlaw status.

The authorities to whom the victors can give their preliminary terms have not yet arisen. We'd assume that they will be military rather than civil officers. That effigy of a parliament, the Nazified reichstag, has been lifeless ever since Hitler suppressed opinion and intelligence. It could hardly be expected to put forth any elements either capable of exercising authority or acceptable in doing so. Not the least of Hitler's performances has been to create a vast government with which his enemies in arms cannot deal except as judge to criminal. If the army cannot put forward some fairly clean spokesmen when the time comes the allies may have to search out what is left in the concentration camps to accept the armistice terms.

By that time Hitler, Himmler, Goering, and Goebbels may have tried their escape by plane to Japan, where their welcome will have worn very thin. Japanese uses for such refugees would be hard to find. Enough trouble is already marked for delivery in Tokyo.

Mayor Jeffries appointed 14 Detroiters to organize a stay-at-home-for-your-vacation drive. They will start their campaign as soon as they get back from their vacations.—Detroit Free Press.

When the Tokyo radio announces that a great victory impends in the Pacific it neglects only one detail. It doesn't say whose.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

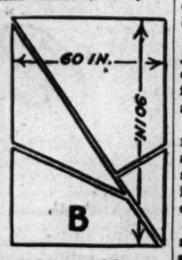
Select the answers which you consider best. The last problem counts five points. Then look for the correct answers below.

1. Theatrically speaking, which one of these following is a "heavy"? Basil Rathbone Roland Young, Groucho Marx, Robert Young.
2. Which one of these terms includes the other three? Dismantling, Razing, Wrecking, Leveling.
3. The term Quisling could not be applied to which one of these? Laval Petain Darlan De Gaulle.
4. Which one of these words is inappropriate in this general grouping? Nub Shell Kernel Core.
5. Wool is obtained from which species of farm animal? Shropshire Duroc-Jersey Poland China Percheron.
6. A rectangular plate glass window, 60 by 90 inches, was shattered as indicated below. What would be the dimensions of the largest rectangular pane that could be salvaged from the fragments?



Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—The last question counts five points.]

THE RESCUE SQUAD.

Exactly as might have been expected [and, confidentially, we planned it that way], a formidable task force of first aid poets comes sailing in offering emergency rations of rhymes for "Hudson"—the river which all that is in President Roosevelt cries out to go home on. And as might also have been expected, the rhymes are horrible.

* * *

Worst of the lot [and our compliments to the perpetrator] comes from Duke Bakrak, who ends his couplet lines with "Hudson" and "mud, son." Next to the worst, bearing the signature of one "Professor Pincus Pinkwillicus," is a thing which, lame as it is, does sound a note of warning which, in our judgment, is too important to be withheld from a tempted public. We therefore quote it in full:

Swim not in the troubled Hudson
With your fancy Sunday duds on.

The rest were neither good enough nor bad enough to merit consideration—things like "suds on," "spuds on," "floods on," and all the other words ending in "uds" that could be followed by "on."

* * *

It is always dangerous to prick a poet with the hypodermic of challenge. They won't stop. When they have exhausted "Hudson," they plunge madly forward to rhyme other rivers. They study atlases. They read the Russian war news solely for the rivers crossed.

One bard, seeking to encourage Mr. Roosevelt to settle down as remotely as possible, proposes:

I guarantee to write a pome on ANY stream he'll make his home on.

And even Miss Winn, who behaves so decorously in her own column, launches against the Line the following doodlebug:

Think never of the Amazon;
It is just a phantason.

She probably thinks her phantason is the habitat of Ogden Nash's "rhinoceros prepoceros."

* * *

Our favorite, however, for box office and other reasons, is the one we made up ourself to prove we could rhyme Mississippi:

How to the Line
On the Mississippi,
And never you min'
Where falls the quippy.

That will be about all, we promise again and again and again, on the subject of rhyming rivers.

Cobwebs and Rain.

Here I am in our attic, sitting on top of an old tin trunk stenciled "Hamburg."

There are strings of apples drying, and onions hanging from nails driven into the rafters. There is the old base burner, relegated to the attic for the summer, its nickel plated parts greased with vaseline and wound with cloths. All about there is the smell of apples, onions, vaseline, exposed wood, and there are dust and cobwebs. It is raining, and one cannot play out of doors.

So we regale ourselves with books which were likely placed there because we should not read them. There is a dime novel or two, "Dead Eye Dick," and the more elegant "John Halifax, Gentleman," and we must not forget "Black Beauty," who wrote so touchingly about his friend Ginger.

And there is the "Mill on the Floss" and its poignant last paragraphs, where Maggie and her brother, Tommy, are being swept out to sea in the River Floss. They are clasped tightly in one another's arms, holding fast to what remains of their lives, but their thoughts fly backward to the days when they were children. He looks at his sister, his last look, and utters only one word, a name that he called her during their childhood, "Magsie."

Then they are engulfed in the waters; the same waters that now fall on the roof over your head; the same waters that gather in your eyes, and as you close the book, splash on its cover and make tiny puddles, as little puddles and greater puddles are made out of doors.

You close the book which is never really closed. The rain stops, but it never really stops, and the sun, which never stops shining, shines again.

You jump off the old trunk and run out again to play. Do you remember, and don't you wish you could live it once again? Roy Engel.

I'll speak of going here and there,
I'll study travelogues,
Debate on auto, sea, or air,
And buy appropriate togs.

I'll dream of countrysides in Spring,
Of piquant street-cafe,
The fun a South seas cruise may bring,
Or fishing in the bay.

I'll be a vagabond and roam . . .
Or leastwise so I say,
Deep down, I know I'll stay at home,
Never to go away. . . .

Never, my love, to go away,
It wouldn't be worth while,
I grow so lonely when I stray
The radius of your smile.

The army has no rule on this question. Ordinarily only men under 35 or 38 are sent, but if an older man were attached to a unit being shipped he would not be removed from the unit if physically qualified for general duty or noncombatant service.

ARE YOU LOGY? CHECK THE THYROID.

THE glandular system of the body is supposed to be automatic. We are not obliged to open a valve when we want more insulin, adrenalin, or any one of the chemicals which our endocrine structures prepare. Nevertheless, all these substances are required and there must be enough of each. They govern the wheels of existence and in addition regulate scores of activities.

One of the most puzzling factories is the thyroid. It can become sluggish and refuse to manufacture its normal quota of secretion. We call the condition "hypothyroidism" and it is more widespread than many of us believe. There is considerable evidence to show that, chiefly among women, the disorder may be detected in from five to eight per cent of those between 30 and 50 years of age.

We fail to recall that all of our glandular depots may be reduced in output—at least, temporarily—by an infection, even a severe cold. A wasting disease can so sap vitality that the quantity as well as the quality of the product may be altered substantially.

Most of us are familiar with the picture presented by the one who lacks thyroid. The most common complaint is weakness. These individuals tire easily and may reach the end of the day with every muscle aching. They behave as tho they had been desperately overworked. Hence they will embrace every opportunity to rest and sleep. Many are inclined to become slug-a-beds, demanding ten hours rather than the average eight. Furthermore, there is a definite decrease in alertness and many will exclaim, "I feel so heavy." This may be actual as well as fanciful as a pronounced tendency to obesity will be observed.

The answer lies in measuring the metabolic rate—the speed at which the patient uses oxygen. If this falls much below minus ten, we have reason to suspect that the gland is lazy. More than one laboratory examination should be made and under ideal conditions. Once convinced that a deficiency exists, the remedy is relatively simple. Small amounts of dried extract may be taken under the watchful eye of the family physician.

It should not be forgotten that we are dealing with a powerful drug and, now and then, one will be encountered who reacts unfavorably. If the heart exhibits a tendency to race or palpitate, the preparation will need to be administered in some other form. After a few weeks, a recheck on the metabolic rate will determine whether or not improvement is progressing. Most patients will seem so much better, will take so much more interest in life, that the test may be regarded as merely confirmatory.

One business man of my acquaintance continued to gain weight despite an earnest effort to follow a reducing plan. At the same time, he became indifferent, lackadaisical, and forgetful. One of his partners persuaded him to see his physician. The average of three metabolic levels showed minus 28. Under fractional doses of thyroid material, he became his former vigorous self.

GROWTH ON EYELIDS.

F. O. writes: What should be done for a xanthoma?

REPLY.

Nothing, except for cosmetic reasons. As a rule, these tiny, yellowish raised blemishes appear on the eyelids of those of middle age and beyond. They seldom enlarge and a laboratory examination of the contents will disclose various innocuous ingredients.

ALLERGY.

J. T. writes: Will you please name some disorders that are of allergic origin?

REPLY.

Asthma, eczema, hay fever, hives, urticaria, etc. In certain conditions of the eyes, nose, skin, and intestinal tract, symptoms may be produced by sensitivity to some food or substance in the environment.

DETECTIVE WORK.

D. L. writes: What is meant by "a differential diagnosis?"

REPLY.

Sometimes a patient will present symptoms that are characteristic of a dozen diseases. The physician, after a physical examination, laboratory tests, and a study of the history will attempt to determine the exact nature of the malady.

BONE DISEASE.

D. T. writes: What is osteomalacia?

REPLY.

Softening of the bones. It is a disorder of adults, similar to rickets in children.

Having trouble with your cook? Then consider this tale just brought back from Calcutta by a member of the American consular service. There he had a Bengali cook who was an artist but a grafter. When the cook finally went too far in padding the grocery accounts, the diplomat called him in, reprimanded him, and deducted 20 rupees from his account. The cook cried and wailed to no avail, then went back to his pots and pans. A few nights later the diplomat had a British major as a dinner guest, and the cook produced a little masterpiece. The dessert was something that the diplomat describes as a chocolate vermage, which the cook had decorated with whipped cream applied with one of those squirters used to make lilies and bells on wedding cakes and spell out "Happy Birthday." The British major spooned up some, muttered his appreciation, and said to the diplomat, "What is this?" The diplomat replied that it was a chocolate vermage. "No," the major said, pointing with his spoon. "I mean, what is this?" The diplomat bent over and inspected the dessert carefully. There, spelled out by the cook in whipped cream, was the legend: "I lose money on you."

Sorrow on the Lake.

One of Chicago's more unhappy visitors is the man from a dry state who learned that here he could go out for a moonlight ride on a lake steamer, get a stateroom and a bottle and drop into a fine stupor to the sound of dance music. He purchased a ticket and happily boarded the boat, only to find that the boat had been rented for the evening by the Christian Endeavor, that all the staterooms were locked, that there was neither liquor nor dance music. The group spent the entire evening singing hymns. He found a deck chair on an upper deck and slept.

This, the fringe of the dog days, seems as good a time as any to revive the classical pigeon stories, and the first that comes to mind is that of the dignified old gentleman who went to the desk of the Blackstone hotel to complain of a terrible odor in his room. "What!" the old gentleman cried belligerently, "and let all my pigeons out?"

Our recent advice on the warrior career of Siwash, the marine duck, which stated that Siwash landed on Saipan with the first assault waves, as usual, seems to have been in error. "You'll just have to say Siwash was on a working party this time," said Col. Prestley M. Rixey, Siwash's commanding officer and benefactor. "We value him too much to have to eat him, as we would if he got in the way of a burst. Besides, we have no sliced oranges to serve with him."

WHEN DO THEY START FIGHTING?

Chicago, July 26.—It might interest the American people to know what their candidates for President suggested doing about getting our allies into the Japanese war. Now is the time for them to open up their second fronts, not after we have beaten Germany for them. England's stake and Russia's too, for that matter, is greater than our own. We Americans, who owe no allegiance to any other country, want our allies to come thru with some material help, quickly.

Certainly, we can beat Japan on our own. We are doing it now. We want to save the lives of American boys. I'm vitally interested with a boy in the army. I want to know what Mr. Roosevelt intends to do, and if Mr. Dewey expects votes from men of my frame of mind, he ought to announce his intended policy, if elected.

I'm not interested in electing either Mr. Roosevelt or Mr. Dewey. Democrats and Republicans mean nothing to me. My boy means everything. Now is the time to get action not promises of what will happen when Hitler is beaten. M. V. D.

DESTRUCTION BY EMPIRE.

Chicago, July 25.—In your editorial, "The Foreign Press in America," you state, "the policy of defamation may be an unavoidable consequence of empire, which is an evil thing and can be maintained only by evil means."

The truth of this statement is immediately apparent. An empire can only exist and prosper by defaming, degrading and destroying other peoples. Plunder is the core of its policy, and for this reason those whom it selects as allies are its victims equally with those whom it designates as its enemies.

We see this happening before our eyes in the case of the United States. If England can use us to destroy Germany and at the same time use our young men as a sort of Class B constabulary to guard her possessions and threaten her foes, she will have at one stroke gotten rid of two competitors. If thru her own machinations and by use of the friendly natives she succeeds in doing this, we will be reduced to the condition of helots and we will deserve to be destroyed.

CHARLES NOONAN.

AND HE TOOK US IN WITH HIM.

Chicago, July 26.—It seems strange to me that the New Dealers should allow a song like "Don't Change Horses in the Middle of the Stream" to become a part of their campaign to reelect Roosevelt. The great man started to cross the stream in 1933, and now, after 11 years—by their own admission—he's still in the middle of it.

THE "ISM" PARTY.

Chicago, July 27.—The F. D. R., Democratic, C. I. O., New Deal convention is over and it ran true to form. If F. D. R. is elected again we can be certain that, as a republic, we are thru, and elected or not the Democratic party is thru. The "isms" and crackpot philosophies instilled and driven down the throat of the Democratic party by the New Deal the last 12 years cannot be erased by one election or one defeat.

Looking back on the history of the Democratic party, it has always been susceptible to radicals and "isms." In 1854, '55, and '56, they were in favor of seceding and were pro-slavery. In 1892 they took in the Populist outfit, Cleveland and free trade, and were known as the Demipops. In 1896 they embraced Bryan and free silver. In 1912, Wilson with his watchful waiting, internationalism, and war headed the party. In 1933 and since they got Hillman, Brewder, C. I. O., and more C. I. O., Madam Perkins, John L. Lewis until they nauseated him, Harry Hopkins, Wallace, Biddle, Frankfurter, war rationing, the outfit that was going to defend America by aiding the allies [by the way where are they?], union now, plain unvarnished communism, Eleanor, campaigning by inspection trips—[taxpayers please pay], and last but not least a 250 billion dollar debt. And they want us to keep them in power!

A SOLDIER'S VIEW OF STRIKES.

Chicago, July 21.—The enclosed is an excerpt taken from a letter that I received from my brother who is a soldier in the army medical corps in Italy:

"I saw in the paper today that the first train from Rome to Naples had gotten thru. This is really an engineering masterpiece. When we came up along that way, every bridge was blown up—rails and ties torn up—looked as tho the Germans had pulled them all apart with a big powerful hook. These engineers are really working and doing a good job. They are getting soldiers' wages while the unions at home strike. . . . Stuff like this really gets me hot. Why should we fight for people who are that foolish, and who let us down in a pinch? What kind of a country will we find when we get back? . . . We don't want a country that is controlled by the unions, and that will fold up on us when we need it most." W. T. M.

MAY APPLY FOR CHANGE.

Chicago, Aug. 1.—I was divorced 12 years ago. In compliance with the decree I have paid regularly a set sum for the support of my daughter. Thru lean business years, sickness, and unemployment I have never failed her. She has finished high school and holds an exceptionally well paying position, whereas because of illness my income has been greatly reduced. Do I have to continue sending my daughter support money when she is obviously doing very well on her own? J. D.

The facts stated would be a basis for you to apply to the court for a change as to your payments, but the change would not be automatic.

DISTILLERS WORK AT CAPACITY IN WHISKY HOLIDAY

Illinois Plants to Make 6 Million Gallons.

Peoria, Ill., Aug. 2 (Special).—The distilling industry here, which normally produces approximately one-sixth of the nation's supply of whisky, swung back today to the production of beverage alcohol for the first time in 22 months.

By working at full capacity 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, the distilleries here hope to turn out between 6 million and 7 million gallons of alcohol by the end of the one month holiday from war production permitted by the war production board.

Distillery officials said no bourbon whisky will be made during the month because no corn has been made available for distilling purposes. Approximately 60,000 bushels of grain, mostly wheat, will be used each day, and the resulting neutral spirits will be put to immediate use for blending with aged whisky and for manufacture of gin, it was said.

Will Make Some Rye Whisky.

The distilleries plan to make a comparatively small amount of rye whisky during the month, officials said. This will be placed in barrels for a minimum of four years' aging.

Munitions have taken all the alcohol the country's distilleries have been able to produce for the last 22 months. The Hiram Walker and National Distillers plants here and the American Distillery at nearby Pekin employ 3,500 men.

The change over from war to peace commodity production in the distilleries here, a part of the first major reconversion in the country, was accomplished without a hitch, it was reported. Several days ago the distillers began preparing their vats of mash and making minor changes incidental to the change over. Promptly at midnight a few valves were turned and it was only a matter of minutes before barrels filled with liquor were rolling down to the warehouses, some of which have become somewhat vacant during the past year or so.

Will Produce Year's Supply.

Officials estimated the coming month of beverage alcohol production thruout the nation will result in the production of a year's normal supply. Altho no bourbon is being made, bourbon will become more freely available because distilleries will be able to resume blending on a large scale, it was said. No price changes are indicated, it was said, present prices being dictated largely by federal taxes.

Spokesmen for liquor industries said the alcohol holiday will have no effect on the supply of Scotch whisky in this country. All Scotch is made in Scotland, where the distilleries have been closed for some time. The industry there has petitioned the British government for a holiday to replenish its stocks, but thus far none has been granted.

CATHOLIC ORDER HITS MAGAZINES' 'UNFAIR' ATTACK

"Discredited Stories" by Time, Life Cited.

The attitude of Time, Life, and other magazines was condemned in a resolution adopted yesterday at the 32d international convention of the Catholic Order of Foresters for articles which, in the Foresters' opinion, have attempted to place the Catholic faith in a false and unfavorable light. The "other magazines" were not named.

"There can be no unity in our nation if class be arrayed against class and if religion be made the ridicule of professional agitators and abettors of bigotry," the preamble to the resolution read.

"Revamp Old Accusations."

The magazines have made their "unfair attacks," the resolution charged, "mainly by revamping old, discredited, hackneyed, and ridiculous accusations on no more authority than unnamed and supposedly 'experienced authorities'."

The magazines thereby gave the accused no opportunity to challenge the accuser, the resolution claimed, "which practice in itself is thoroly un-American and unworthy of the aforementioned publications."

Also adopted at the second day session of the three day convention, which is being held in the Morrison hotel, was a resolution reiterating the Foresters' opposition to divorce and birth control.

Urge Juvenile Director.

Thomas H. Cannon, high chief ranger of the order for 50 years, recommended the appointment by the Foresters of a national juvenile director who would coördinate the organization's juvenile development work and help to reduce delinquency.

The Most Rev. William D. O'Brien, auxiliary bishop of Chicago and president of the Catholic Church Extension society, thanked the Foresters for their gifts to the society. These gifts have exceeded $30,000 in recent years.

In the morning delegates attended a requiem mass in St. Peter's church for the 136 members who have been killed in the present war.

CHAS. HARDINGE, INDIA'S VICEROY 1910 TO 1916, DIES

LONDON, Aug. 2 (AP).—Charles Hardinge, known as Lord Hardinge of Penshurst, former viceroy of India, died today. The 86 year old peer had been a member of the British diplomatic staff before his retirement in 1923.

Charles Hardinge.

He became secretary of the legation in Teheran, Persia, in 1896, and two years later went to St. Petersburg [Leningrad] as secretary of the embassy. In 1903 he was made under-secretary for foreign affairs. From 1904 to 1906 he was ambassador to Russia. In 1910 he was appointed viceroy to India, a post he held until 1916.

CARTER FORTUNE SPENT IN FIGHT TO CLEAR NAME

Oberlin M. Carter, some times called the American Dreyfus, who died July 18 at the age of 88 years, left only a nominal estate, it was disclosed yesterday in Probate court. Former associates of the brilliant engineer explained he spent his fortune in a 40 year fight to clear his name of charges of defrauding the government.

The estate consisted of his home at 2947 Wilson av., a 160 acre farm in Van Buren county, Michigan, and $1,200. Probate Judge John F. O'Connell granted letters of administration to John T. Dempsay, public administrator. Carter was survived by two heirs, a brother, Isaac Stanton Carter of Idaho, and a nephew, Emerson C. Lucas, who is in Red Cross service in Memphis, Tenn.

Carter was graduated from West Point with an all-time scholastic record second only to that of Robert E. Lee. As a captain of engineers, he was charged with defrauding the government of $2,000,000 in the construction of a harbor project of Savannah, Ga. He was sent to Leavenworth for five years by a court martial in 1898, and after serving the sentence he sought his vindication thru 27 rulings of federal courts. The case reached the United States Supreme court four times.

CHILD, 2, KILLED IN OWN YARD BY KINSMAN'S AUTO

Priscilla Brinker, 2, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brinker of Mannheim rd., Leyden township, was killed while playing in the yard at her home last night when she was struck by a car driven by Horace Douglas, 38, of 728 N. Albany av., Chicago, a cousin of her father.

Douglas had been a guest for dinner at the Brinker home, and was leaving when the accident occurred. He told county highway police at the Mcrton Grove station that he was driving from the yard and did not know Priscilla was there until she screamed.

Douglas was ordered to appear at the coroner's inquest at 10 a. m. today in the chapel at 6453 Irving Park rd.

Joel Flesh, 65, of 18 W. Ontario st., died in St. Luke's hospital shortly after he had been injured by a Chicago Motor Coach company bus at Jackson blvd. and Michigan av. Park police reported that Flesh walked against the left rear wheel housing of the bus as it turned right into Michigan av. Firemen jacked up the bus to extricate Flesh.

EQUIPMENT WORTH $271 STOLEN.

Radio equipment and phonograph records valued at $271 were stolen early yesterday from his automobile, E. R. Crane, 30, of the Eastgate hotel, 162 E. Ontario st., reported to police.

BLAME SOARING TRAFFIC DEATHS ON WAR NERVES

Sharp increases were reported yesterday by both the city and the park district in traffic accidents and fatalities this year compared with 1943. War nerves were blamed.

Leslie J. Sorenson, chairman of the Chicago street traffic commission, said fatalities in the city are up 18.9 per cent, with 195 deaths for the first six months of this year against 164 for the same period last year. Total accidents increased 7.1 per cent, from 5,659 to 6.063, and the number of injuries rose 9.2 per cent, from 6,871 to 7,509.

Park district figures for eight months to Aug. 1 showed lower totals but similar percentage of increase. Fatalities were up 17.9 per cent, from 28 to 33; injuries up 9.4 per cent, from 938 to 1,026, and total accidents of all kinds up 7.7 per cent, from 2,938 to 3,164. These figures were prepared by Otto K. Jelinek, chief traffic engineer.

C. D. Allens' Aviator Son to Visit Soon

BY JUDITH CASS.

ALTHO army and navy orders have taken members of the C. Durand Allen family to various posts since the beginning of the war, the Allens are hoping to have all of their children with them in Winnetka soon. Lt. C. Durand Allen Jr., who has been on foreign duty with the army air forces for 14 months, has written that he has completed his missions and will be coming home soon.

Lt. Allen, who holds the air medal with nine oak leaf clusters, recently was promoted to first lieutenant and awarded the distinguished flying cross. He has been serving as a fighter pilot on the Italian front and has seven German planes to his credit. His sister, Mrs. Robert C. Meleney Jr., and her 9 months old son, Coit, have been living home with the Allens, but Mrs. Meleney has been spending the last few weeks with Capt. Meleney at Fort Belvoir, Va., where he is stationed with the army engineers.

Also expected in Winnetka soon is the Allens' other daughter, Mrs. John Patrick Trench, and little Suzette. They have been living in Sea Island, Ga., where Lt. Trench is stationed as a naval instructor and will return to the Allen home when he goes to sea.

Other Service News.

When Lt. Daniel J. Coyne arrives in this country some time soon he will be wearing the distinguished flying cross, which was awarded to him recently "for extraordinary achievement while serving as copilot of an army air force bomber over continental Europe." Lt. Coyne, who has also been awarded the air medal and three oak leaf clusters in the year he has been overseas, will see his 2 months old daughter, Meredith Anne, for the first time when he arrives home after the completion of his missions. Mrs. Coyne, the former Madeline Porter, and their daughter are living with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin L. Porter of Kenilworth, while Lt. Coyne is on foreign duty.

Two other Winnetkans who recently have been honored for distinguished service are Col. Joseph A. Moller, who has received the distinguished flying cross, and Tech. Sgt. Dorr E. Tippens, son of Mrs. Albert H. Tippens, who has completed more than 40 missions and received the air medal and five oak leaf clusters. Col. Moller, who also holds the air medal and five oak leaf clusters, and Sgt. Tippens both are stationed in England.

On the Calendar.

The annual Ravinia Musical Roundup, a party for trustees, contributors, and members of the guaranty fund and coupon book sale committee of the Ravinia Festival association, will be held Sunday night at Ravinia park, with the executive committee of the association as host. Percy B. Eckhart heads the executive committee. Supper will be served from 6 to 8 p. m., and then the members of the Chicago Symphony orchestra will present a program of works unheard during the symphonic season, as well as several surprises.

This afternoon's program of races at the Washington Park track will mark the close of the Arlington Park season, being held at the south side track again this summer. The racing season is not over, however, for Washington Park will open its own meeting tomorrow.

The Knollwood Country club will repeat its annual Darby and Joan tournament Aug. 27, when husband and wife teams will gather at the club to play around the golf course, with each "Darby" and "Joan" taking alternate shots all the way around. The event will be followed by a buffet dinner.

A similar dinner is being planned for Aug. 19, which has been reserved as Past Presidents' day, with Adelor J. Petit Jr. in charge. This Saturday members and their guests will attend one of the club's dinner-dances, and another event of this week-end will be the first round of the championship golf matches.

Here and There.

Lt. Hulburd Johnston spent a few days in town on his way from Texas to Charlottesville, Va., where he will take a course in army administration in the occupied countries. He had a visit with his sisters, Mrs. Conway Olmsted, whose husband, Lt. Comdr. Olmsted now is in the Pacific, and Mrs. Otis Hubbard, who, with Otis Jr., will join Lt. Hubbard in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., as soon as he has found a house.

Pvt. James Douglass has returned to his army post in El Paso, Tex., after a visit with his mother, Mrs. Kingman Douglass, in Lake Forest. Col. Douglass is stationed in England. Mrs. Bruce Baker and her children expect a visit soon from their husband and father who recently was promoted to a first lieutenant in the marines. He is attending the marine aviation school near Quantico, Va.

With the exception of her two sons, Roger, who is somewhere in the Pacific, and Leo, who is stationed with the army air forces at Keesler field, Miss., Mrs. Leo P. Cummings' family gathered last week-end at their summer home at the Midlothian Country club for a family reunion. Mrs. Edward Fitzgerald had been visiting Ensign Fitzgerald at the navy air base at Jacksonville, Fla., for the last few weeks, but returned to the family group for the occasion. She and her two young children, Penny and Edward Jr., have been living with her mother.

Another of Mrs. Cummings' seven daughters, Mrs. Joseph O'Neill Jr., and her 5 months old daughter, Helen Marie, have been spending the summer at Midlothian, but left Tuesday to return to Los Angeles, where Mr. O'Neill is engaged in government work. Capt. William Dorsey, who is being transferred from Camp Carson, Colo., to Fort Knox, Ky., is also at Midlothian to spend his leave with Mrs. Dorsey, the former Virginia Cummings.

Engaged to Ensign Now Serving Aboard Submarine

Women in War Work

By Dorothy Johnson

Extreme measures to increase tin can salvage now are imperative, Mrs. Walter J. Kelly, chairman of can salvage for the Chicago office of civilian defense and head of women's activities for the war production board in this district, said yesterday.

Her appeal, directed both to housewives and to institutional users of tinned products, followed a statement from J. G. Sheldon, executive secretary of the WPB in the Chicago area, who said tin now is the nation's No. 1 critical material.

A bulletin from Erwin Vogelsang, national director of the WPB tin and lead division, explains the tin supply crisis.

"In spite of all efforts for the conservation of tin," he said, "requirements are increasing while supplies are decreasing. We depend to a greater extent now upon the tin which we can recover from used tin cans. All other forms of recoverable domestic tin are becoming scarcer every day.

"Our immediate demand for tin, especially for the production of all types of ships, is surpassing all previous estimates. The inroads on our available stocks have caused a crisis of such dimensions that, unless we continue to increase salvage, we may be faced with a shortage for which there will be no solution."

The most recent specific allocation of tin by the WPB goes to meet military requirements for hermetically sealed ammunition boxes which keep cartridge powder dry. Five hundred million cans must be salvaged thruout the nation for this purpose alone.

Mrs. Kelly reported collections systems have been improved in spite of the lack of labor available for picking up prepared cans. The preparation of tins is of primary importance, she added. They must be washed, dried, de-ended, and pressed flat before being deposited in salvage receptacles.

New billets for both officers and enlisted women are open in the SPARS, recruiting officers at 53 W. Jackson blvd. have announced.

One volunteer with a thoro reading and speaking knowledge of Portuguese, who also can translate Italian and German, is needed for an officer's position. Five other officer candidates with mathematical and scientific training, plus a knowledge of German, also are sought. Another is needed to supervise the operation of business machines. The age limit is 35 for commissioned positions.

Enlisted billets as pharmacists' mates also are open. Applicants should have a background in mathematics, physiology, biology, and chemistry, or have had experience in first aid as a medical technician, ambulance orderly, laboratory assistant pharmacist, veterinarian, athletic instructor, dental assistant, cosmetologist, or practical nurse. Former medical students also are eligible.

Music Pleasing on Ideal Night in Grant Park

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.

If the Chicago Park district ever wants to draw up specifications for ideal concert conditions at Grant park, it might consider last night, which was warm without being stuffy, fresh without being windy, and equipped with a backdrop of deep blue sky hung with a round, golden moon and pierced by the tall spire of Buckingham fountain, its spray changing rainbow colors in the distance. Weather luck was with the Woman's Symphony orchestra, making its bow under its new conductor, Jerzy Bojanowski, and with Lucille Manners, its pretty radio soloist.

Apparently the orchestra and the Polish conductor are going to be a compatible pair. Their way with Beethoven's "Egmont" was weak in tone, despite the presence of several males at strategic orchestral posts, but Mendelssohn's "Italian" Symphony went well, particularly in the andante and in the playing of the winds in the scherzo. Mr. Bojanowski obviously wanted more lightness and sparkle than he was able to get, but it promised well for next time. And next time, too, the orchestra may be in more virtuoso mood to capture the bizarre charm of Rozycki's "Court Jester," which was only partially projected last night.

Miss Manners is so exclusively a radio singer that she should have been heard only over the park's amplification system, a fact I tumbled to rather belatedly in her program. From down front, she was an attractive blonde in a sheath of ice blue satin stabbed with purple orchids, but her voice was no more than adequate in quality and it lacked the focus, sheen, and dexterity of perfect placement. Her singing of Massenet's aria, "Il est doux, il est bon," from "Herodiade," lacked operatic luster, and Rossini's "La Danza" missed the sparkle and pace of true tarantella. Later, with Robert Macdonald at the piano, these same faults marred Rachmaninoff's lovely song, "In the Silence of Night," which for some unaccountable reason Miss Manners chose to follow with a solo version of the barcarolle from "The Tales of Hoffman," better known as a duet.

But all this was from down front, where her soprano came only partially, if at all, thru amplification. Outside for the encores, it was quite another story. An accomplished radio technician, Miss Manners knows how to make the microphone stand up and beg. It makes her voice richer, fuller, and infinitely more attractive. Next time she comes, I'll be out there in left field, listening.

Thru the Looking Glass

We have just made a short swing thru our nearby resort areas—and we are appalled. It's as tho the war had done away with mirrors and many women simply don't know what a ghastly picture they present when they adopt the studiedly "casual" in dress.

First, there is the stout woman in slacks, ungirdled. With these she wears clogs with abnormally high heels. She piles her hair high in the most towering of pompadours and invariably tucks not one but two or three flowers into the mass. She looks like a creature from some weird—but not wonderful—world.

Then there are the play suits. Maybe they should never have been designed. They are for the slim, the pert, the pretty of figure; at least, only those whom this description fits should dare to appear on city streets wearing the little jobs of bra and brief skirt. All other women should be wary of 'em.

And the bare midriff costume, ladies. On slim little tunkets it looks good. But even on them it's best for beach wear, not for promenading.

There are certainly objections to the too revealing and the vulgar costume on moral grounds, but putting these aside we'd like to make with screams on esthetic grounds. Women are obsessed with the pursuit of beauty. Why, why do they lose all sight of the main objective—that of being attractive to look upon — when they choose their clothes for summer sports or summer relaxation?

Are we wrong, or is this deliberate negligee effect becoming to the female? We would really like to know.

J. F. Reeve Reweds Louise Falk Reeve in Ceremony Here

In a quiet ceremony in Chicago yesterday, Mrs. Louise Falk Reeve of Milwaukee and Jay Frederick Reeve of Chicago were remarried. The first marriage of Mrs. Reeve, daughter of Mrs. Clarence Falk and the late Mr. Falk of Milwaukee, and Mr. Reeve was a fashionable ceremony 19 years ago in Milwaukee. They were divorced in 1936. They have two children, Frederick, who is in a navy V-12 program at Parkville, Mo., and Peggy, who is in Milwaukee with Mrs. Falk. Mr. Reeve and his second wife, the former Josephine Patterson, were divorced recently.

Cook County's Vocal Finalists to Vie Tonight

BY PHILIP MAXWELL.

What many believe to be one of the most thrilling vocal contests in America will be held tonight, beginning at 7 o'clock, in the Grand ballroom of the Drake hotel. There the winners of voice classifications from the north, west, and south sides of Chicago and Cook county will compete for the right to sing in the semi-finals of the Chicago Music festival voice competition to be held in the Drake at 9 a. m. Saturday, Aug. 19.

Dorothea Brodbeck.

In the semi-finals two men singers and two women singers will be chosen to compete that night at the festival concert before 90,000 persons in Soldiers' field.

For the first time, 29 voices, instead of the usual 30, will be judged in the Cook county contest—10 each from the north and south sides and only nine from the west side, because no basses were entered there. Tonight's judges will be Edwin Kemp, Virginia Haskins, and Charles Sears. Robert McDonald will be the piano accompanist. The public will be admitted. Admission is 35 cents.

William Donaldson [left], Mrs. Marion Brown [center], and William E. Johnson.

Those who will sing tonight, listed by voice classification and section, are:

Lyric sopranos — Georgia Anagnost [north], Elaine Porter [west], Mrs. Marion Olson Brown [south].

Coloratura sopranos — June Browne [north], Leona Farrington [west], Dorothea Brodbeck [south].

Dramatic sopranos—Margo A. Oswald [north], Delia F. Marshall [west], Emily Arnold [south].

Mezzo sopranos — Alicia Helminiak [north], Lucille Smith [west], Lois Bernice Shamberg [south].

Contraltos—Vera Jeske [north], Carol Louise Smith [west], Winifred Heckman [south].

Lyric tenors — James L. Bailey [north], Everett W. Westman [west], Ralph E. Whelan [south].

Dramatic tenors — Rudolph Kist [north], Jared Allen [west], Carl Chevedden [south].

Baritones—C. C. Smith [north], Raymond McAfee Jr. [west], Harlan H. Schroeder [south].

Bass-baritones — Burford Huffman [north], Peter Kuhns [west], William Donaldson [south].

Basses—Roy J. Urhausen [north], William E. Johnson [south].

The field of 29 was completed last night in the last of the south side auditions in the Shoreland hotel, where a lyric soprano, coloratura soprano, bass-baritone, and bass were selected.

Mrs. Brown, 24, of 6829 Indiana av., won first place in the lyric soprano division. She is the wife of 1st Lt. Donald Brown, a veteran of the Salerno and Italian campaigns, who has never seen his 10 month old son, Donald Jr. Mrs. Brown won first place in the south side finals five years ago, but failed to place in the county contest. Second in the lyric soprano division was Flora Palma, 21, of 6121 Drexel av., Mrs. Ruth M. Pedersen, 20, of 2842 E. 78th st., was third.

Miss Brodbeck, 16, of 7831 South Shore dr., a senior at Loretto [Woodlawn] academy, won first in the coloratura soprano division. Second was Adelle Druktenis, 18, of 6955 S. Talman av., and third was Elaine Marilyn George, 19, of 11806 S. Eggleston av.

First place in the bass-baritone division went to Mr. Donaldson, 38, of 6626 S. Wolcott av., a printer for the Chicago Surface Lines, who won third place in the division two years ago and second place last year. Second and third, respectively, were Kay Graves, 17, of 1903 W. 47th st., and Thomas Woodall, 44, of 10000 Calumet va.

Mr. Johnson, 37, a Negro, 4856 Indiana av., placed first in the bass division. A butcher at Armour & Co., he has won the south side contest for the past two years. Second in the division was Andrew Foldi, 18, of 5530 Dorchester av. Paul Stogis, 52, of 400 W. 72d st., was third.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY

What Can I Tell My Heart?
So quickly did you say goodbye
And hurry on your way,
I wonder if you knew you took
My heart along that day.

Were you concerned with cabs and trains
And things you hoped to see,
So much your heart had little time
To rue its leaving me?

Or was the taste of freedom strong
And tempting you to rush?
If so, what can I tell my heart
Except "Be still, now; hush!"

Fools Rush In. . . .

Our lady boss is preparing a manual for the use of the stenographers. Of the many examples of her mastery of English, the two that we find most irksome are "Ruzevelt" for "Roosevelt" and "proven" for "proved."

A few of the girls are college graduates and the one who majored in English vows that if the manual is thrust upon her she, by the same token, will volunteer to give Oscar Levant instruction in music.

SANS MERCI.

It Sticks in the Mind.

The zany office which has tipped off the temporary secretary of the big boss that if he grows wolfish she is to yell "Timber, Timber!"

The address given before a group of press women by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S Will Davidson [6 feet 6]: "I Come from a Long Line of Newspaper Women." His mother, grandmother, sister, aunts, and, no doubt, his cousins were newspaper women.

Maurice Lazare's observation [in the mail] that "a man's worst years are often those which his wife—when complaining she has squandered her youth on him—calls the best years."

Dis and Data.

Bob Rice, our Toledo mail car reader, writes to beg white collar girls to use the postal zone number instead of a comma. . . . How many white collar girls know the correct way to insert a letter in an envelope? The bottom third should be folded up, the top third [with the letterhead] down, and the back of the letterhead toward the back of the envelope. . . . Now you can buy a "him" book for date rating, cute for the girl who must put it in writing. A card to our desk will tell you where to get it.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Aug. 2.—John Hodiak, a he-man if there ever was one, is coming up the glamor way. He started his career opposite Tallulah Bankhead in "Lifeboat." He went to Lana Turner in "Marriage Is a Private Affair." [Lana got her divorce while making that picture, proving her marriage wasn't a private affair.] Now he'll play opposite Greer Garson in "Valley of Decision." Greer's father will be Lionel Barrymore. And Tay Garnett, who did so well by Greer in "Mrs. Parkington," again directs. . . . Billy Wilder, who "Ain't Afraid of Nothin'," is deep in the throes of trying to buy James Cain's story "The Postman Always Rings Twice" from Metro. If he gets it—and he will—Barbara Stanwyck says she'll make it with him. You can look for lots of Wilder-Stanwyck pictures since "Double Indemnity." They ring the bell, and I don't mean the postman's. . . . Virginia Gilmore's added to "Wonderman" which makes five of Sam Goldwyn's discoveries in that picture. Virginia's last part on the screen was in "Pride of The Yankees" with Gary Cooper. . . . Twentieth Century-Fox's remake of "Swamp Water" will be made in the heart of the desert!

How About It, L. O. P.?

George Jessel, having so much trouble getting Betty Grable and Alice Faye into "The Dolly Sisters," says, "If this keeps up, I'll have to cast Louella Parsons and Hedda for the parts." Well, I could do the technical work. The year I became a bride, the Dolly twins worked with DeWolf Hopper, and were they cute! And I might add, cunning, too. . . . Jane Wyman heads for New York Saturday [don't crowd, fans!] for some good will on "Doughgirls." Jane still denies there's any misunderstanding between herself and Ronnie Reagan. Hollywood's still got its eye glued to the keyhole—hoping for the worst. What with the Esther Williams separation and the Artie Shaw divorce, anything can happen, and don't worry—it will. . . . So Cary Grant will know that he played in "Arsenic and Old Lace," Jack Warner's letting him look at it this week. . . . Before Bing Crosby shoved off for overseas, he recorded with the Andrews Sisters "Don't Fence Me In." That's the song Roy Rogers and his Pioneers did for the "Hollywood Canteen" picture, while his horse, Trigger, danced to it.

Not Settled—Not By Any Means.

The Greta Garbo-Lester Cowan situation over the Norwegian picture she had agreed to do, titled "Women of the Sea," is by no means settled. Lester's being very fair about it. He's placing the matter before a committee of the Screen Actors' guild. There's much more involved in this case than meets the eye, because the Norwegian government was very much interested in this case, and the film had its backing and blessing. . . . Gen. Lesley J. McNair, who recently was killed in France, was responsible for getting Lester and Ernie Pyle together for Cowan's picture "G. I. Joe." Gen. McNair has been written into the story now, and a new sequence added as a tribute to a great man. . . . When Garry Moore first met David Selznick, with whom he signed, he was wearing one of those campus lick hair cuts. Selznick asked, "What would you call that thing on your head?" Garry said, "That's strictly collegiate." David replied, "That may be, but it's strictly San Quentin to us. Go grow yourself some hair." And it took Garry seven months before he could have a regular haircut, which he'll display in "Brewster's Millions."

Well! Well! What a Coincidence.

Mrs. Charlie Chaplin gave birth to a baby girl in the same hospital where Joan Berry was held incommunicado for days. . . . After Loretta Young Lewis's 7 pound boy arrived, Billy Goetz wired her, "May I be the one to give him his first scream test?" . . . Jack Capp signed Bette Davis for an album of recitations to symphonic music. They'll include "Star Spangled Banner" and "Columbia, The Gem of the Ocean," and will be used in schoolrooms. . . . Nigel Bruce's brother, Michael, and Squadron Leader L. A. Childs of the R. A. F., shot down two robot planes over England. Michael can be mighty proud of his record. He was a gunner in the last war. . . . That nice Jerry Hoffman moves from Columbia to head the praisery department for Sol Lesser. . . . The Richard Lanes bought a house in Beverly Hills across the street from the Berkeley school about a year ago, and the daily sight of merry children was too much for them. So last week they adopted an eight months old boy and four months old girl. Now they want two more. They've been childless 15 years.

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1944: By Ely Culbertson.]

When one pair in a team of four match collects 900 points while another pair holding exactly the same cards collects only 110 points for a part score, something is wrong! Consider this case:

West, dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.
Total point scoring.

NORTH
♠ K 6 4
♥ 3
♦ Q J 9 7 4

WEST
♠ A 9 3
♥ A Q J 7 4
♦ A 8 5
♣ 9 2

EAST
♠ Q J 8 5 2
♥ 6 2
♦ K 10 6
♣ 8 7 3

SOUTH
♠ 10 7
♥ K 10 9 8 5
♦ 3 2
♣ K J 10 4

At both tables West opened with one heart, North overcalled with two diamonds, East and South passed. At one table West then bid two hearts and every one passed. West made exactly two hearts, and therefore earned 60 points below the line and 50 above for a part score contract at duplicate.

At the other table the West player was somewhat more forceful. He doubled two diamonds. Altho this was technically for a takeout, East decided that there was no future in the hand for his side and that two diamonds might well be defeated two tricks, so he passed. South should have followed his example, but he feared that two diamonds might take a bad licking, so he made the desperation runout to no trump.

West, realizing that the declarer liked the heart suit all too well, "crossed him up" by leading the spade three. This was ducked in dummy, and East's jack won. A heart return put West in with the jack, and again West boldly underled his ace of spades. Declarer should have guessed the correct play, the king from dummy, but evidently he placed West with the spade queen and East with the ace—at any rate, he let the lead ride to his own ten. East won with the queen and returned another heart. West won with the queen, cashed the spade ace, laid down the diamond ace to see what card East would play, and when that card proved to be the ten, cashed the heart ace before leading a second diamond. East then collected two more spade tricks, for a five trick set!

Mrs. Fred M., Chicago—Oil the casters of your washing machine frequently. I do. These casters get wet and rust easily. Until I took to generous oiling I was always busy removing rust, etc.

Mrs. T. E. Carter, Pennsylvania av., Charleston, W. Va.—To prevent annoyance of salt caking in the shaker, keep a small glass turned over shaker when it's not in use.

Mrs. Ed M., Des Moines, Ia.—I painted the walls of a bedroom last spring. Following a tip by a friend I rubbed down each successive coat with fine sandpaper and got a beautifully smooth and velvety finish. It was well worth the extra effort.

Dr. and Mrs. John Pellettieri of Wellington av. announce the engagement of their daughter, Jean Vivian, to John J. O'Brien, son of Mr. and Mrs. James O'Brien of W. 54th st. Miss Pellettieri and her fiancé were graduated from Chicago Teachers' college.

Potato Soup made with Wine

VICTORY FOOD RECIPE

Cover 3 or 4 diced potatoes, 4 diced carrots and 1 diced onion with 2 cups boiling water; add 1½ tsps. salt and cook until very tender (about 15 minutes). Do not drain. Mash, add 2 cups milk; season with salt, pepper and celery salt; heat to boiling. Add ½ cup Sauterne wine and serve at once, sprinkling top with minced parsley. Makes 5 cups.

Wine brightens wartime menus 2 ways If you like to "make a meal of soup"—here's your dish! Flakes of carrot give this rich puree its golden color ... and California Sauterne works the miracle of its flavor! Then for a crowning touch, serve glasses of the same delicate Sauterne wine the soup is made with. Try a good wine in and with your war meal tonight. Fresh peaches are high on the list of plentiful foods this month. They're one of the best fruit buys available at present. Remembering last year's peach shortage, we can be happy about this situation. There's no more luscious fruit than the peach.

And no more luscious dessert than a fresh peach upside down cake.

Peach Upside Down Cake.
[Serves five.]

- 1¼ cups sifted cake flour
- 1¼ teaspoons baking powder
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¼ cup butter or other shortening
- ¾ cup sugar
- 1 egg, beaten
- ½ cup milk
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Topping: ¼ cup butter or margarine, ½ cup firmly packed brown sugar, 6 pared, sliced peaches.

Sift flour before measuring. Resift with baking powder and salt. Cream butter and sugar thoroly, add egg, then flour mixture in alternate portions with milk, beating well after each addition. Add vanilla.

To make the topping, melt the ¼ cup butter in an 8-inch iron skillet, add the firmly packed brown sugar, and stir until the sugar has melted. Arrange sliced peaches over sugar sirup and pour batter over them. Bake in a 350 degree oven for about 50 minutes. Loosen cake at sides and bottom and turn out upside down on a large plate. Cut in wedges and serve with whipped cream, or a garnish of cream cheese beaten with enough milk to make it fluffy.

A one crust peach pie is delicious, too, especially when made with sour cream and brown sugar.

Peach Sour Cream Pie.

- 4 cups fresh sliced peaches
- 1 cup thick sour cream
- 1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- ¼ cup granulated sugar
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 2 tablespoons quick cooking tapioca
- Pastry for 1 crust

Combine mixture of sugars, flour, and tapioca with sour cream and add peaches. Fill pastry crust and bake at 425 degrees for 15 minutes, then reduce heat to 350 degrees and continue baking until peaches are tender and crust is browned. Serve warm or cold.

If some of your peaches are on the green side, cook them tender in a medium sugar sirup and make them into tarts. For each tart, you need half a peach and a square of pie pastry big enough to encompass the peach half. Place the drained, cooled fruit on one triangle of the pastry, fold the other half of the pastry over the peach, and press the edges together. Gash or pierce the top of each tart. Arrange in shallow baking pan and pour some of the peach sirup over each tart. Bake at 400 degrees about 15 minutes, or until pastry is brown and crisp. Serve the tarts warm, with more of the peach sirup. The sirup may be boiled down to heavier consistency and enriched with a tablespoonful of butter. A sprinkling of nutmeg or cinnamon may be added, too. These peach tarts are wonderful a la mode—with just enough vanilla ice cream to act as a sauce.

Some Children Take a Look at Own Problems

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.
[Copyright: 1944: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

When a mother wrote to me not long ago that she and her young son Billy, who had been a great problem to her about obedience, were sharing the reading of my column on certain days, I was a little surprised. I might not have thought that the answer to her dilemma, but according to her letter it was.

I suppose that somehow or other the printed word of some one he didn't know had a great deal of importance to Billy; and also the fact that his mother would sit down and treat him as an adult and be willing to talk over the situation in a somewhat detached way must have made an impression on him.

There probably are lots of situations in which this thing wouldn't work out at all. But I have had several reports from mothers who have found out that their children are reading these articles almost every day and who have even heard the children discussing them among themselves.

Here is a rather amusing letter in this connection:

"Dear Mrs. Bevans:

"I am one of those children who used to read your column practically every day. I am now 18 and I thought you might be amused at the following incident:

"One evening during dinner some years ago my mother tried a new tactic with me. She told me that unless I ate my soup I could not have the corn on the cob that I was crazy about. She knew that the worst possible punishment for me would be to deprive me of the corn. I mentioned the fact [and I must have been insufferable] that most child authorities instruct mothers not to make any futile threats, but to carry out punishment when the child had been warned. So my mother for once in her life, when I least wanted her to take the child authorities seriously, followed this advice. I didn't have the soup, so I didn't get the corn on the cob, and I was heart broken.

"I lived thru the balance of the evening somehow—my mother with a twinkle in her eye—and the next morning bright and early I asked for my share of the corn. Well, Mrs. Bevans, nothing could have surprised me more than to have my mother say that she had thrown my share out—thrown!—why to me it was like throwing out a precious jewel. I couldn't believe my ears or my mother's heartlessness; but I know she was right.

"So I often think that those mothers and fathers, who know their children follow columns such as yours, should share it with them, at least, sometimes. It could do no harm, and it might do a lot of good."

As usual, your own good judgment and a grain of salt will guide you.

Ministers Told Democracy's Source in U. S.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Democracy has flourished in the United States because of the seed sown by religious revivalism in colonial America, Prof. William W. Sweet of the Federated theological faculty said yesterday, addressing 200 ministers of the Pastors' institute at the University of Chicago.

Virginia, according to Prof. Sweet, could not have played so conspicuous a part in America's independence had it not been for the large dissenting element, created by revivals, favorable to the principles of the revolution. It was in that state, he added, that the common people for the first time found leadership in their midst and thru this leadership plain folk came to realize their importance and strength.

"Everywhere revivalistic bodies unanimously sided with the party demanding all the rights of free men," he continued. "Among democratic influences stemming from revivals was the increase in those colonial congregations possessing popular forms of church government, especially the Baptist and Methodist. A Baptist, who never before had a voice in government, found himself with equal vote in managing church affairs; Methodism, tho authoritarian from the beginning, gave full right of self-expression to every member at class meetings."

Prof. Sweet stated that the revivalist doctrine of "equality of man in the sight of God" was the dominating factor in developing the urge to participate in political affairs.

Dr. Ernest C. Colwell, vice president of the University of Chicago and dean of its divinity school, admitted the laymen's claim that the minister is not an intellectual leader as too frequently correct. He also stated that theological schools gave little promise of improving this situation in the near future because of their concentration upon other functions of the ministry which, he said, had reached ominous proportions.

"It can be granted" he asserted, "that the minister should be priest and pastor, that he should be skilled in the management of budgets, choirs, old maids, young peoples' picnics, pre-marital counsel, and kindergarten curricula. Yet he can, and does, operate passably in all these fields without serving his parish as an intellectual leader."

Dr. Colwell urged that theological schools should develop programs attuned to the broad problems of society and to current intellectual advance in all fields of knowledge.

Sally Appeals for Help in 3 Worthy Cases

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

We hope our readers can assist Mrs. B. She is the mother of four children, and, since the death of her husband, she has been ill. She is receiving state aid, but her budget provides only enough for food and rent. She needs a single and a full size bed. Clothing for the children is another problem, and she would be grateful for apparel for boys, sizes 16 and 10, and girls, sizes 12 and 10. Clothing, size 40, is needed for Mrs. B. herself. The address is on the north side.

Mrs. P. is the mother of seven children and has appealed to us for a junior size bed, complete, for a son who has been ill. He now sleeps with two older brothers but does not receive sufficient rest in such crowded quarters. Other needs are a living room rug and a book case. The address is on the west side.

Perhaps some reader who has a coat, size 48 or 50, would like to pass it on to an elderly woman who has appealed for one. She is 68 and has been crippled for the last seven or eight years. It is imperative that she be warmly dressed. She lives on an old age pension which is insufficient for clothing needs. Further information will be given to any interested reader.

WILSON'S WEEKLY Bulletin
By George Rector
Food and Nutrition Consultant to Wilson & Co.

GOOD PLANNING MAKES SPEEDY DINNERS

There's no reason for anyone spending long hours in the kitchen these hot days. Quickly prepared foods can be equally as attractive and nutritious as those which take long hours to prepare. So don't be a slave to your meals . . . work with your head instead of your heels.

Hot Potato Salad and MOR—A Summer Delight

1 can MOR	3 tbsp. vinegar
2 tbsp. bacon fat	¼ cup hot water
1 small onion, minced	4 med. potatoes, cooked and cubed
1 tsp. mustard	2 hard cooked Clear Brook Eggs, chopped
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. pepper
1 tsp. sugar

Cut MOR into 10 slices; dice two of these slices to add to salad. Heat bacon fat (drippings) and cook onion in it about 5 minutes, browning very lightly. Add seasonings, vinegar and water and when hot, add potatoes, egg and diced MOR, mixing gently. Cover and allow to heat through, stirring occasionally. Serve hot, on a platter, surrounded by slices of MOR. Serves 4.

Clip Recipe Here

Good planning for the quickie above includes two things: First, that you have a liberal supply of MOR in your pantry; and second, that you have cooked both eggs and potatoes earlier in the day or the previous day. It's so easy when boiling potatoes to cook enough extra for one or two later meals. And what a convenience! Scrub well and boil them in their jackets if you would conserve the greatest possible amount of food value and flavor.

And speaking of food value, you'll find MOR is a great help in planning nutritious as well as quick and delicious meals. For MOR is made of high quality pork shoulder meat, which is so rich in thiamine (Vitamin B_1), commonly known as the nerve vitamin.

VICTORY GARDEN SPECIAL

Hot corn-on-the-cob, fresh from the victory garden, made temptingly juicy with Clear Brook Butter and seasoned to perfection with salt and pepper makes a grand accompaniment to the salad plate pictured. For crispness and that "something raw," chilled carrot sticks are a year round favorite. And to add a cooling note for the finale, let it be ice cream, with or without cookies.

♥ ♥ ♥

Save Cooking Water

In order to get the most from your victory garden, be sure to use every bit of liquid the vegetables are cooked in. Simplest way I know to do this is to keep a jar in the refrigerator for storing all vegetable water. Then when you serve a cold-plate meal, heat the vegetable water, add 1 tsp. B-V for each cup of liquid and you'll have the best clear soup you ever tasted. Besides the valuable minerals and vitamins in the vegetable water, B-V itself furnishes valuable amounts of iron, copper, riboflavin and niacin.

Another bit of good news: B-V does not add any calories to your diet. So use B-V soup and B-V cocktails liberally to add minerals and vitamins if you are "counting your calories."

Sincerely yours,
George Rector

EGYPTIAN LOTUS GOES ON BEAUTY SPREE IN LAKES

Greatest Flowering in 14 Years Reported.

BY GLADYS PRIDDY.

The famous Egyptian lotus beds among the bulrushes of Grass and Fox lakes in Lake county are in luxuriant bloom—the greatest flowering in 14 years.

Chicagoans who haven't enough gasoline to drive to the two beauty spots can take the Soo Line to Grass lake or the Milwaukee road to Fox lake, both points being about 50 miles northwest of Chicago. The American Coach company bus line also goes near the lakes and connections can be made by taxi.

A drop of seven inches in the water level of the lakes is the prosaic reason for this season's profusion of the rare flowers, William Redman, president of the Fox Lake Chamber of Commerce, said yesterday.

Sixty-Five Acres of Beauty.

Whatever the cause, the result is 65 acres of great pale yellow flowers swaying in soft adagio with the motion of the water. Each tiny dip is a shower of delicate fragrance.

The lotus of the lakes is rarely found outside of Egypt and China. Attempts to transplant the flower have not been successful. Residents of the region do not attempt to explain how the flowers got there. An old booklet on the subject credits fish hawks with bringing the seed from Egypt.

The same source states that no one in the vicinity of the lakes knew the lilies were rare and therefore valuable until an old settler from Grass lake traveled in Egypt, admired the lotus there, and came back to discover the same flower when he went out fishing.

In the bud, the lotuses shade from yellow to chartreuse and in size and shape resemble an artichoke. Half open, they are giant tulips. Fully spread, the lilies are deep plates of rich cream colored petals whorled around centers the color of field ripe grain.

Huge Leaves Carpet Bed.

Great discs of green leaves—half a yard across—carpet the beds. Some of the leaves round up to the sun like inverted parasols. Others lie flat—smooth landing fields for the flying insects operating as water-level aircraft.

Usually the flowers bloom in open beds while the reeds make the border, but some lilies, like Moses, hide in the bulrushes. Picking is prohibited and the flowers are protected by legislation. It takes seven years, the people of the lake say, for a new flower to come up from seed.

Over the years thousands of flower lovers have made annual pilgrimages to the beds. Boats are operating again this season, Redman said yesterday. Inquiries in the Fox Lake business district will bring travelers information about daily trips, either on excursion boats or small motor launches.

MILITARY CHIEFS LAUD ELKS FOR AIDING WAR VETS

Members of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks attending their 80th annual convention yesterday in the Stevens hotel were urged by army, navy, and government officials to continue the lodge's program for rehabilitation of war veterans. Plans accordingly were made to rededicate the Elks Memorial building at Lakeview av. and Diversey pkwy. as soon as World War II. is ended.

The Elks war conference will end this morning after a final session of the grand lodge, and the installation of new officers. The conference has been in progress since Monday.

Speaking at yesterday's sessions were Rear Adm. Arthur S. Carpender, 9th naval district commandant; Brig. Gen. Albert Lee Sneed, army air forces, Lowrey field, Denver, Colo., and Col. George E. Ijams, assistant administrator of veterans' affairs, Washington, D. C.

The Elks were commended particularly for the development of and operation of 119 fraternal centers for service men in 35 states, Alaska, and Puerto Rico, the monthly shipment of cigarets to Yanks overseas, and the furnishing of slippers to disabled veterans in government hospitals.

TAX ADJUSTER GETS 6 MONTHS IN FRAUD CASE

Earl Simmons, 45, of 230 Crystal av., Crystal Lake, a tax consultant with offices at 120 S. La Salle st., was sentenced to six months in the county jail and was placed on three years' probation yesterday by Judge Julius H. Miner in Criminal court. He pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny by embezzlement of money given him on his claim he could adjust personal property taxes. Asst. State's Atty. Francis McCurrie estimated Simmons had obtained about $1,100 from several firms, but he was convicted on a specific charge of obtaining $204 from the Scientific Brake Service laboratories.

DAY by DAY on the FARM & GAIL COMPTON

Aug. 2, 1944.

THE oat harvest is well under way at the Wheaton farm, with more than 40 acres cut. The yield is running fairly high despite the fact that this was a poor year for oats. One seven-acre patch is estimated to have produced approximately 70 bushels to the acre.

The average for the farm will not run this high as the grain rushed to maturity and filled under drouth conditions. The oats already combined are of good quality and heavy, but the straw is short and the yield will be below average. Late planting harmed the yield of the fields, as did the dry weather later on.

Every Bale Needed.

While the combine moves thru the fields the baler follows up, packaging the straw. Every bale of straw will be needed this year to bed down the Angus and Shorthorn herds, as well as the dairy cattle, horses, and feeder steers. The baling machine has been working steadily since hay making started and still has many more days to go.

Altho the oat fields have not been finished, the big clover field at the west side of the farm again is ready for cutting. The entire field is in bloom and should be harvested soon unless it is combined for its seed.

With a serious shortage of legume seed facing the nation it might be good policy for the manager to use this second clover crop for seed instead of hay. Farmers may find it difficult to get clover or alfalfa seed next year. The government now is paying a $3.50 an acre bonus to farmers harvesting clover seed.

New Plantings Retarded.

The second crops of clover and alfalfa show the effect of the dry weather. The plants are short and the yield promises to be light. A week of gentle evening rains would be worth thousands of dollars to the farm right now. The new seedings of legumes in the oat fields are promising but the ground is too dr, for good growth. The seedlings need moisture now to push them above the oat stubble and get them set for the winter.

The Karakul and Southdown sheep have moved to new quarters in an old apple orchard. Here they are getting a fresh supply of green feed as the orchard has not been pastured in some time. In addition to the grass, the ewes are nibbling on the apples that fell during the June drop. They seem to be thriving on the grass salad and applesauce diet and there have been no reports of stomach aches.

The GARDEN by Ben Markland

MANY gardeners are noting decay on the bottoms of tomato fruits. This is the result of a tomato disease called blossom end rot, which seems to be more common than usual this season. The rotting can occur on fruits at any stage of development, and now is showing mainly on half-grown, green tomatoes.

The rot is not caused by insects, hence sprays have no effect on it and should not be used. The disease is caused by excessive fluctuation in the plants' absorption of water. The long summer drouth, followed by a heavy shower last week, provided the conditions which brought on the end rot. Excessive use of nitrogen fertilizers also contributes to the disease.

The only method of combatting blossom end rot is by mulching the ground under the plants with clean straw or compost. Suburban feed stores are selling straw at about $1 per bale, enough to mulch about 300 square feet to a depth of four inches. The straw mulch tends to stabilize the plants' absorption of water.

GIRL WHO POSED AS BOY GETS A YEAR IN PRISON

Betty Carr, 26, the young woman who fled Evanston to masquerade two months as a boy farm hand, was sentenced yesterday by Judge Harry Porter in Evanston Municipal court to a year in the Illinois women's reformatory at Dwight. Miss Carr pleaded guilty to cashing a $6 fraudulent check on July 5. A charge of violating probation on a previous check charge will be heard Sept. 1.

The young woman, whose home is in Marietta, Ga., formerly was employed in a war plant. Dressed in trousers and sports shirt, her hair cut short, she hitched rides thru half a dozen states after fleeing the check charge.

Truck drivers with whom she rode assumed she was a boy of 15 or 16, she said. When taken before Judge Porter yesterday, Miss Carr said she thought a prison sentence would do her good.

CITE PRECEDENT IN HIGHER WATER RATE TO SUBURB

Water rates paid to Chicago by several outlying industries provide a precedent for asking the village of Maywood to pay more than the city meter rate, Public Works Commissioner Hewitt yesterday advised Ald. Bowler [25th], chairman of the city council finance committee.

Maywood's petition to buy city water at the gross rate of 8 cents for 1,000 cubic feet, or a net rate of 7.36 cents, must be approved by Bowler's committee before a contract is signed.

The state sanitary district act does require Chicago to furnish suburbs with water at city rates, Hewitt stated in a memorandum to Bowler, but the act does not prevent the outside communities from paying more if they are willing.

Hewitt urged that Maywood pay 11 cents gross rate, or 10.1 cents net, for 1,000 gallons. West Beverly, a community south of the city limits, has offered to buy city water at 12 cents gross, or 11 cents net, he said The Corn Products company, in Argo, has asked to buy Chicago water at 11 cents gross, and would lend the city $254,000 for laying new mains.

The Douglas Aircraft plant near Park Ridge has a gross rate of 11 cents for city water, and the Aluminum Corporation of America plant in McCook pays a net rate of 9.39 cents to the city.

BEATEN GIRL STILL UNCONSCIOUS.

Miss Arletta Cornelius, 21, an Indian, who was found severely beaten Sunday afternoon in the ramp leading to the Pure Oil building garage, 35 E. Wacker dr., remained unconscious in County hospital yesterday. Authorities there said she had suffered a skull fracture.

New Assignments Given Municipal Court Judges

Municipal Judge Drucker will succeed Judge McCarthy in Renter's court on Monday, according to August assignments released yesterday by Edward S. Scheffler, chief justice of Municipal court. Judge Bonelli will take over Boys' court, replacing Judge Sullivan, who has been assigned to the Stock Yards and Wabash Avenue police courts. Judge Daly will replace Judge Gorman in South State Street court, while Judge Schiller will succeed Judge Daly in Safety court.

BILL DALEY TO JOIN ALL-STAR FULL BACKS

ENDED BEATS OCCUPATION IN $17,050 STAKE

Strong Finish Takes Great Western.

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN.

Ended, a California long shot owned by the Mill B stable of San Mateo and ridden by Charley Corbett, whipped Occupation and the record breaking Three Dots with a courageous stretch drive to win the $17,050 Great Western handicap at Washington Park yesterday.

The 5 year old son of Felicitation-Last Act, never worse than third in the field of six, but a length and a half behind Jules Fink's African Sun and three and a half lengths back of Occupation as they entered the last 16th, drove into the lead and won by a nose as Three Dots came up fast to take the show.

Sirde Never in Race.

Sirde went to the post at odds of 9 to 1. Allen Drumheller's Sirde held the public's confidence as the 8 to 5 favorite with J. H. Rouse's Three Dots quoted at 2 to 1 and John Marsch's Occupation 3 to 1. Sirde almost was left at the post and was sixth nearly all the way in the seven furlong event, but finished fourth.

The winner paid $21.40 for a $2 win ticket, $8.60 to place, and $4.20 to show. Occupation returned $5.60 and $3.80. Three Dots paid $2.80. The winner's time was 1:23, two seconds slower than the track record set by Twilight Tear on July 6.

The value to the winning owner was $11,500 after four scratches—Marsch's Jezrahel, Mrs. V. E. Smith's Sirius, T. D. Grimes' With Regards and Miller and Burger's Traffic Court.

African Sun Makes Early Pace.

A crowd estimated at 16,500 was on hand when the Great Western field went to the post and saw Sirde, with George Woolf up, break out of the gate a poor last as African Sun, a 15 to 1 shot, took the lead, with Ended and Occupation in close pursuit.

Down the back stretch Occupation took over, but African Sun, ridden by F. A. Smith, held on and Corbett was content to keep Ended in third place. As they came out of the stretch turn, Occupation held a head lead with African Sun two lengths in front of Ended and Three Dots fourth as Sirde moved ahead of Signator.

Martin Rides Triple.

Then, half way to the judges' stand, Corbett made his move as African Sun played out and Three Dots went into high gear with Occupation gamely out in front until the last stride when Ended caught him and pushed his nose out in front for the decision, which took the judges several minutes to make from the photo.

Jockey Jack Martin scored a triple with Red Canter in the second race, Border's Boy in the third, and Ted Gardner in the fourth. The daily double on Lady's Chance in the first and Red Canter, paid $52.40. The day's mutuel handle was $967,273.

Meeting Closes Today.

Arlington Park's sensationally successful 40 day meeting, which included five days of racing sponsored by The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., in which all five metropolitan tracks participated by contributing one day allotted to them, closes today with an eight race card, headed by the $3,000 Springbok handicap.

The event of 9 furlongs for 3 year olds and upward has drawn five entries, Take Wing and Olympus being assigned top weight of 116 pounds. Others entered are Snack, 110; Syl's Jimmy, 111, and Pirate, 102.

Washington Park takes over tomorrow for the remaining 30 days of the 70 day coördinated meeting, which closes Sept. 7. Then the scene shifts back to Hawthorne Sept. 9 for a fall session of 34 days.

Roy Henshaw to Rejoin Tigers; Metro Released

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 2 (AP).—The Detroit Tigers announced last night the unconditional release of Charley Metro, utility outfielder, and the removal from the voluntarily retired list of Roy Henshaw, 33, relief pitcher for the Tigers last season.

No Hidden Ghosts.

He was indifferent to both praise and blame
When he had done the best that he knew how;
He never sought renown or worldly fame
Nor craved a hero's garland for his brow;
He did the things his conscience bade him do
No matter what the men around him thought,
And yet his staunch admirers were few,
And most of his example went for naught.

But when the end drew nigh he had no fears,
'Twas with a smile he laid life's burden by;
No hidden ghosts stalked out of the past years
To stand beside his bed and watch him die;
And those who saw him draw his final breath
Wished that they might have such a peaceful death.

SOX WIN, 7 TO 3, OVER A'S; LOSE FIRST GAME, 9-3

Cuccinello Is Star of Second Contest.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The seven game series between the White Sox and the Philadelphia Athletics in Comiskey park, which seemed to some to have been going on all summer, came to an end yesterday, Allah be praised.

The Sox salvaged the second game of a double header, 7 to 3, after blowing the first one 9 to 3, a horrible affair in which the A's made a tying run in the eighth and seven runs in the ninth. The A's took the series, five games to two, and lead the season ratio, 10 to 6.

Tony Cuccinello, who also is famous as a cigar consumer, was the sparkling star of the second game, his first scintillating since Manager Dykes drove him away from his humidor and put him to work several days ago. Tony made four singles in four times at bat, drove in two runs and scored two.

Winning Teams Outhit.

Both games were free hitting affairs, and oddly enough the winner was out-hit in each match—the Sox making 13 hits to the A's 12 in the first; the A's 12 to the Sox's 11 in the second.

Scoring didn't start in the first game until the fourth inning. In the fourth, however, the Athletics made three hits and one run, and the Sox made five hits and two runs.

The A's marker was produced on singles by Roberto Estalella, Ford Garrison, and Joe Burns. The Sox's pair in the fourth was produced on Ralph Hodgin's single and Hal Trosky's homer.

Mike Tresh, and Ed Lopat later in the inning knocked singles to load the bases, but they died on base.

Unearned Run in Eighth.

The A's tied the score with an unearned run in the eighth. Irving Hall opened with a single and Hal Epps was called out on strikes. Hodgin fumbled Frank Hayes' grounder, Hall reaching third and Hayes second. Estalella grounded out to Schalk, Hall scoring the tying run, Hayes reaching third.

The seven run attack which the A's effected in the ninth included two errors, a tardy fielder's choice play, a stolen base, singles by Bill McGhee and Ed Busch, doubles by Burns and Epps, and triple by Estalella, which drove in two runs and bloomed into a third. Lopat held down production considerably by striking out Hall and McGhee on the latter's second trip to the plate during the inning.

The Sox, losing 9 to 2, fought back in their half of the ninth. Wally Moses singled with two down and scored on a triple by LeRoy Schalk.

Score Three Runs in Second.

Two singles were all the hits required by the Sox in accomplishing three runs in the second inning of the second game. Trosky walked and Tucker singled. Vince Castino walked, loading the bases. Then Cuccinello singled to left, scoring Trosky and Tucker. Johnny Humphries bunted, and when Don Black threw late to third the bases were loaded and Carl Scheib was on his way in from the bullpen to replace Black. Before he pitched once, Scheib was charged with a balk, Castino scoring. Then Schalk fanned and Carnett and John Dickshot also were retired.

The A's scored a run in the third on Busch's double, Scheib's single, and Hall's fly.

Maltzberger Rescues Humphries.

With one out in the sixth Castino singled and Cuccinello knocked his third straight single. When the ball got past Epps, Castino scored and Cuccinello got to third. Humphries doubled to right, scoring Cuccinello. Jonas Berry replaced Scheib and threw out Schalk. Carnett singled to center, scoring Humphries.

Humphries was knocked out in the seventh by successive singles by Busch, Berry, and Hall, good for a run. Gordon Maltzberger went in and pitched a single to Epps which scored another run. Then Hayes and Estalella were retired.

The Sox added their final run in the eighth on Cuccinello's fourth hit, Maltzberger's sacrifice, and a single by Schalk.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Aug. 2.—Between the weather and the street car tieup, the Cubs escaped from Philadelphia this afternoon with no more expenditure of energy than was necessary to get them to the depot under their own leg power. However, they didn't forget to bring along their seven game winning streak, and they'll have it on exhibition on Ebbets field, hideout of the Dodgers, when they go thru a double header tomorrow as a means of ridding themselves of previous postponements.

Being excused from the final in Philadelphia leaves the Cubs a problem for the season's final appearance there in September, but, nevertheless, the boys welcomed the delay. It put them in fairly good shape for pitching, not only tomorrow, but over the week-end in Pittsburgh, where they will face a night game Friday, a Saturday matinee, and the customary two Sunday shows for the price of one.

They'll Be Busy Later.

To work off the Philly delays later, the Cubs will play five games in three days unless one or two of them should be transferred to Chicago.

Tomorrow the Dodgers, who contributed the first three games to the Cubs' present streak, will be given an opportunity to look over Bob Chipman and Claude Passeau. Chipman tamed them last week with a 4 to 1 act which marked his seventh success since the Dodgers handed him to the Cubs for Eddie Stanky. Henry Wyse, who would have shared the Brooklyn chores tomorrow if the final at Philly hadn't been delayed, will be saved for Friday's night game in Pittsburgh.

Then They Come Home.

After disposing of their business in Pittsburgh, the Cubs will return to Wrigley field, but in between there will be a two day pause. On Monday they'll enjoy a day off, but on Tuesday night some of them will go over to Michigan City to play an exhibition game.

PAYSEUR SHARES SKOKIE'S KILTIE PRIZE WITH HILL

Charles Hill, a member, and Ted Payseur, Northwestern university golf coach, who was a guest, tied for first honors in the Skokie Country club's annual Kiltie day golf tournament yesterday. Their 27 hole low gross scores of 115 each were the best in a field of more than 200. Hill had 39—39—37—115 and Payseur scored 37—37—41—115.

No contestant was permitted to win more than one prize, and awards were made for low scorers at both 18 and 27 holes. Other prize winners:

18 HOLES—Low gross, J. C. Cormack, 38—40—78; second low gross, C. Eichenberger, 40—40—80; low net, E. A. Kline, 91—21—70; second low net, Ray Bowen, 86—16—70; low net foursome, F. V. Moulder, F. W. Jenks, T. B. Hale, and W. Riggs, 300.

27 HOLES—Low net, A. M. Petrie, 122—15—107; second low net, H. K. Young, 129—20—109.

Atten Upsets Esposito in Amateur Golf

Two upsets featured the second round of play in the 40th annual City Amateur Golf tournament yesterday over the Jackson park course. The first came when Jack Atten, 17 year old Edgewater player, defeated Lou Esposito, Franklin Park railway clerk, 2 and 1. The other was the elimination of Hymie Judelson of Old Orchard, 1936 champion, by Pete Joneson, unattached, 1 up.

Alex Zgorka.

Atten, who posted a 69 for runner-up honors in the qualifying round Monday, is a protege of the veteran Chick Evans. For the last five years he has been learning a few of the game's tricks from the old master, and two years ago was captain of the Sullivan High school golf team which won the Chicago Public High School league championship.

Reach Turn All Square.

Esposito was runner-up last year in the City meet, and two weeks ago won the Midwest Amateur crown over the Waveland course in Lincoln park. The match yesterday was a nip and tuck affair to the turn, which they reached all square, each shooting a 37, three strokes over par. Atten won the 11th, 13th, and 14th to go 3 up and closed out the match with a par 3 on the 17th green.

Johnny Dobro, the medalist, continued to pace the other favorites who remained in the running when he moved to the third round with a 4 and 3 decision over Charles Grennan, unattached. Dobro won the qualifying medal Monday with a 68, and in yesterday's match he again was shooting under par golf.

Miss Nelson Beats Olson with Eagle 2

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

A former champion, two newcomers and one of the district's perennial contenders comprise the foursome who will battle this morning in the 18 hole semi-final matches of the 13th tournament of the Chicago Women's District Golf association at the La Grange Country club.

The first of these penultimate bouts, beginning at 9 o'clock, will send Jane Nelson, 16 year old Hinsdale High school senior, against Virginia Nilles of Rolling Green, a steady competitor whose most recent performance was a runner-up effort in the 1944 state event. Five minutes later, Mrs. Lawrence H. Selz of Northmoor, who has been playing the brand of golf that won her the 1931 championship, will tee off against Mrs. Jac Ochiltree of St. Charles, former Indiana state title holder.

Long Putt Squares Match.

Miss Nelson was the heroine of yesterday's quarter-final matches, squaring her duel with Helen Olson of Ridgemoor, the tournament medalist, via a 15 foot birdie putt on the 440 yard 18th. This would have been a happy feat in any golfer's day, but Jane, who moved here about a year ago from Washington, D. C., was saving the shot of the day, if not the whole party, for the extra hole.

After Miss Olson had hit her second shot on this 386 yard test to the right of the green, Jane fired a No. 3 iron that traveled 160 yards to the green and then rolled into the cup for an eagle two.

Miss Nilles, like her young rival of today, also had to work overtime in order to gain the final foursome. Two down to Mrs. Harold Sims of Evanston, former Minnesota state champion, after 11 holes, Virginia won the 12th and 17th to square the match and won on the 20th after Mrs. Sims had missed a putt for a victory at the 19th.

Mrs. Selz Now Favorite.

Mrs. Selz in eliminating Mrs. Lillian Zech Krauss of Tam o' Shanter, 1937 champion, by the convincing margin of 6 and 5, was still continuing on the same beam which enabled her to finish runnerup for the qualifying medal and now makes her the favorite to win the title.

Mrs. Ochiltree, who, as Harriett Randall, won the 1939 Indiana title, didn't have to go extra holes to advance, but did travel 17 holes before eliminating Marion Schuster of the home club, 2 and 1.

CHAMPIONSHIP FLIGHT.

Jane Nelson, Hinsdale, beat Helen Olson, Ridgemoor, 1 up, 19 holes.
Virginia Nilles, Rolling Green, beat Mrs. Harold Sims, Evanston, 1 up, 20 holes.
Mrs. L. H. Selz, Northmoor, beat Mrs. F. J. Krauss, Tam o' Shanter, 6 and 5.
Mrs. Jac Ochiltree, St. Charles, beat Marion Schuster, La Grange, 2 and 1.

Semi-Final Pairings.

Miss Nelson vs. Miss Nilles.
Mrs. Selz vs. Mrs. Ochiltree.

FIRST FLIGHT.

Jane Brown, La Grange, beat Hazel Olson, Ridgemoor, 6 and 5.
Mrs. G. C. Davis, Oak Park, beat Mrs. Alfred Berkman, Idlewild, 6 and 5.
Virginia Bartock, Butterfield, beat Mrs. E. C. McCarthy, Ridge, 7 and 6.
Mrs. Berry Conner, Edgewood Valley, beat Mrs. C. V. Potter, Medinah, 2 up.

Semi-Final Pairings.

Miss Brown vs. Mrs. Davis.
Miss Bartock vs. Mrs. Conner.

Call for Musicians

MUSICIANS who wish to join the College All-Star band, which will appear in Dyche stadium the night of the All-Star game, Aug. 30, are asked to communicate with Ray Dvorak, director of bands at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Bill Daley, the hard driving full back who gained half of all the yards Michigan advanced on the ground in the six games he played for the Wolverines last fall, will go against the doughty Chicago Bears in Dyche stadium Aug. 30. Daley, who played three years for Minnesota before being transferred to Michigan as a navy student, has accepted an invitation to join the All-Stars for the 11th game in the series sponsored by The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

Of all the men who have joined the 1944 All-Star squad Daley undoubtedly is best known to Chicagoland football fans. From 1940, his sophomore year at the University of Minnesota, until he compiled his brilliant record last season at Michigan, Bill has been recognized as one of the finest ball carriers in collegiate football.

Mr. Daley Goes Places.

In 1940, for instance, Daley had an average gain of 7.47 yards. The next year he carried the ball 157 times for the Gophers, an average of 4.61 yards. And in six games last season at Michigan he carried 120 times for 817 yards. Michigan's total gained by rushing in these six contests was 1,646 yards.

Statistics, no matter how impressive, do not adequately picture the ability of this 215 pound sprinter who literally threatened to score each time he blasted at an enemy line.

Minnesota fans will recall, among his many exploits, how he ran 73 yards on the Gophers' first play from scrimmage to score against Illinois in 1941. Michigan's supporters also will remember how last fall in Dyche stadium, once more on the first play from scrimmage by the Wolverines, Daley raced 37 yards around the defensive right end of Northwestern's line for a touchdown.

High Competitive Spirit.

Daley's explosive power is sparked by a fine competitive spirit. It is true that physically he possesses the weight and speed to play superlative football. Others have been equally well equipped, but few could match Daley's determination. Bill's best when the chips are down, as, for instance, in the Notre Dame-Michigan game last fall in Ann Arbor. Michigan suffered its only defeat of the year, a setback which compensated the Irish for their loss to the Wolverines in 1942. Yet Daley gained 135 yards against a great Notre Dame line which outplayed the Wolverine forwards.

Daley scored one of Michigan's touchdowns and his record for six

SOFTBALL HEAD LEVIES 3 FINES IN UMPIRE ROWS

Harry Hannin, president of the Windy City softball league, yesterday announced the fining of two star pitchers and a team for actions reminiscent of prairie softball.

Lewa Yacilla, Witt Hanley Yankee pitcher, was fined $50 and given a ten day suspension for throwing punches at umpire Jack Goldie in Hilburn stadium Tuesday night while emphasizing his disagreement with a decision made in the ninth inning of the Hanley-Collegian game.

Steve Donchez, temperamental pitcher of the Fewer Boilers, was fined $50 for leaving the field before the completion of the Fewer-Hanley game last Monday in Bidwill stadium. In addition the Fewer team was fined $100 for not taking the field in the eighth inning of the same game after a play dispute.

The $200 fine will be divided between the Red Cross and one other war fund.

TENNIS TOURNEY STARTS SUNDAY AT EXMOOR CLUB

The annual North Shore Mixed Doubles invitational tennis tournament will begin Sunday afternoon at Exmoor Country club. Teams have been invited from seven clubs to compete against the home club's representatives of Kenneth Ives and Mardy Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bennett, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Hixson jr.

Play will be divided into two divisions. Each team will play four games against every other team in its division, with the winner of each division then playing a single set for the championship.

Woods Sure of Big Rooting Bloc at Bout

BY FRANK MASTRO.

When Sgt. Lou Woods, Camp Grant middleweight, meets Lou Angelucci, former city Golden Gloves 160 pound champion, in Marigold Gardens Monday he will have a number of his buddies from the army post at Rockford in attendance. Woods is inviting all his service friends to be on hand as the guests of Promoters Irving Schoenwald and Jack Begun. The latter have made arrangements to admit free all service men and women.

If Woods can obtain permission from Col. Frank S. Matlack, commanding officer at Camp Grant, his whole company will make the trip to Chicago to see the fight, Lou's first since he scored a fifth round technical knockout over Tommy James in the Stadium on June 2.

Joe Baksi's fine form impressed observers at his workout in the C. Y. O. center gymnasium yesterday afternoon for his 10 round bout with Lee Savold. Paterson, N. J., heavyweight in Wrigley field Monday night. The Kulpmont, Pa., boxer went three rounds with Roosevelt Thomas, former city Golden Gloves light heavyweight champion. After it was over, Trainer Whitey Bimstein ordered Baksi to rest today, his third layoff since Friday.

Thus, Savold, who won and lost in two previous contests with Baksi, will have the spotlight to himself when he resumes training in the Coliseum gymnasium this afternoon. Lee was idle yesterday.

Larry Lane, Trenton, N. J., heavyweight, will arrive Saturday for an eight round semi-windup against Georgie Parks of Washington, D. C., on the Wrigley field card.

The annual amateur boxing program sponsored by the Tri-County division of the Illinois Police association will be held tonight in Parichy stadium, Harrison st. and Harlem av.

PAIGE DROPPED FROM PLANS FOR ALL-STAR GAME

Leroy [Satchel] Paige, star pitcher for the Kansas City Monarchs and generally regarded as the biggest drawing card in Negro baseball, no longer figures in the Negro American league's plans for its all-star game with the Negro National league's best at Comiskey park Aug. 13, Dr. J. B. Martin, president of the American circuit, said last night.

Martin said he had not banned Satchel from the game, but that: 1, Satchel asked a special cut of the all-star game gate receipts; 2, when denied this he suggested the game be played for army relief; 3, when denied this, he threatened to call a player strike; 4, falling in this, he has evinced no further interest in the game, and, 5, the American league, with six other all-star pitchers still available, no longer is interested in having Paige in the contest or in having his name used in connection with the publicizing of the game.

PATENT POLICY HINDERS ARMS DEVELOPMENT

Inventions Become U. S. Property.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 2.—American development of secret weapons comparable to the Nazi robot bombs has been hampered by rigid army and navy contract provisions on inventions and discoveries, it was acknowledged in military circles today.

Under army and navy contracts all inventions and discoveries become the property of the government. The government can manufacture any invention without paying the customary royalty fee, not only in the plant where the invention was created, but in any other plant.

Further, the government has the right to sell or lease the invention abroad if such action is considered advantageous. The manufacturer is required to turn over all papers relating to inventions where patent applications are pending so the government can press for issuance of the patent.

Takes Effort from War.

The result of these rigid provisions on inventions has been to turn emphasis in industrial laboratories from purely war inventions to those which may have some application in time of peace, when royalties can be resumed, according to informed circles here.

The United States has, for example, been slow in the development of muzzle brakes for tank guns. Captured German tanks and loaned Russian tanks have these brakes, compensators which reduce the shock of recoil and hold guns more accurately on targets. They also permit use of heavier guns in the foreign tanks.

These have not been developed by American inventors because such inventions would win no royalties in time of war and also because they have no apparent peace time application where royalties lost in war might be recouped.

Army Wants Own Patents.

A further curb on American inventiveness has been the reluctance of the army ordnance department to develop weapons on which it does not possess the patents. The army prefers to develop its own weapons, rather than to experiment with private weapons of promise.

The restrictions on inventions and discoveries are covered in contracts under the following article:

"Inventions and/or discoveries—The contractor agrees, as part of the consideration and without any further cost to the government, to grant to the government an irrevocable, nonexclusive, royalty-free right and license to make, use, sell, and cause to be made, used, and sold, for any purpose, devices, materials, and processes utilizing any and all inventions and/or discoveries made and/or reduced to practice in the performance of this contract, whether patented or unpatented.

Must Disclose Inventions.

"The contractor agrees to make to the government, prior to final settlement under this contract, a complete disclosure of all inventions or discoveries made and/or reduced to practice in the performance of this contract and to grant a power to inspect the papers involved in the prosecution of applications for patent on those of said inventions or discoveries which have been or will be covered by applications for patents filed or caused to be filed by the contractor.

"As to all such inventions or discoveries not covered or to be covered by applications for patents filed by the contractor, the contractor agrees that the government shall have the right to file, prosecute, and act upon applications for patents therefor and that the contractor will secure the execution of the necessary papers and do all things requisite to protect the government's interest in prosecuting such applications to final issue."

Hold Conferences to Help Settle Canceled War Jobs

The first of a series of all-day conferences to assist producers in obtaining prompt settlement of canceled war contracts will be held next Thursday in the Commonwealth Edison building auditorium by the Chicago Association of Commerce and the various army procurement services.

Strike Again Hits Houdaille Buffalo Plant

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

About 1,200 employes left their jobs yesterday at the Houdaille-Hershey corporation's Houde engineering division in Buffalo, N. Y., a union spokesman said. It was the second work stoppage at the plant in five days and put above 30,000 the number idle in labor disputes.

Charles Hallifax, international representative of the CIO United Automobile Workers, said the walkout was unauthorized.

"Apparently the workers felt arbitration of about 26 issues was not progressing speedily enough, he said. "An arbitration hearing was adjourned Tuesday until Aug. 22 without any decisions."

Officials of the company, which manufactures airplane parts, could not be reached for comment.

New Detroit Dispute Flares.

A new dispute making 4,000 employes of the Kelsey-Hayes Wheel company idle, developed in Detroit.

The war labor board described this as a "lockout" and ordered the company to resume work immediately after a show cause hearing over working hours. The company was ordered to maintain a 7 a. m. starting hour until the board rules on a proposal to change the starting time to 6 a. m. It denied the lockout charge, contending employes had ignored a schedule change three straight days.

Meanwhile, the UAW executive board acted in Milwaukee to end a strike of 7,000 employes in five Detroit plants of General Motors' Chevrolet gear and axle division. The board designated Melvin Bishop, a regional director for the union, as administrator of local 235, with which the strikers are affiliated.

End Pennsylvania's Strike.

One dispute ended was at Pottstown, Pa., where 1,500 employes of Spicer Manufacturing company had been off the job for two days. Union officials had asked the war labor board and President Roosevelt to take over the plant, charging present management was "sabotaging" war production, but the men voted to return to work after pleas by union officials at a mass meeting.

Still closed was the General Steel Castings company, Granite City, Ill. A three day strike involving 4,300 workers ended Tuesday, but was resumed almost immediately when 300 Negro chippers walked out for the second time, forcing idleness on the other 4,000.

In Muncie, Ind., 500 AFL glass bottle blowers of Ball Brothers company, idle since July 23 in a jurisdictional dispute, voted to ignore a WLB order to get back to work.

PEACE OUTLOOK SAPS STRENGTH OF GRAIN PRICES

Speculation that Germany may surrender by fall, based on discussions in the British house of commons, yesterday started a selling movement in the Chicago Board of Trade grain markets that more than offset an early upturn caused by short covering.

Rye was the most active grain. It moved in a range of 1¾ cents a bushel and closed ⅝ to ½ cent lower. Wheat was off ¼ to ¾ cent, May leading the dip. Oats finished ¼ cent lower to ¼ cent higher, and barley was unchanged to ¼ cent higher.

Welding Change Boosts Output of Landing Gears

Toledo, O., Aug. 2 [Special].—Willys-Overland Motors has increased production of landing gears for the navy's Grumman fighter planes by approximately 30 per cent in the last six months by substituting arc-welding for gas-welding in a tube joining operation, Ward M. Canaday, chairman of the board, said today.

People and Events

George E. Arthur, Chicago attorney, yesterday was elected to the board of directors of Sun Kraft, Inc., maker of ultra-violet ray lamps. He has been counsel for the company for more than a year. Arthur, who also has offices in Washington, D. C., has been working with the Illinois joint legislative commission on the rationing of petroleum and petroleum products. He formerly was assistant attorney general of Illinois.

George E. Arthur.

The executive committee of the Chicago Stock exchange announced the election to membership of Homer P. Hargrave, partner of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Beane, brokerage firm. John J. Quail, president of Quail & Co., Davenport, Ia., also was elected.

James F. Ryan has resigned as Chicago district manager of the Colt Patent Firearms Manufacturing company. He was appointed vice president in charge of sales of the Efengee Electrical Supply company.

E. E. Le Van, vice president and general manager of Haynes Stellite company, a unit of Union Carbide and Carbon corporation, has been elected president to succeed the late Francis P. Gormely. Le Van will continue to make his headquarters at Kokomo, Ind., where the general offices and plant are located.

R. C. A. PROFITS DECLINE UNDER YEAR AGO LEVEL

Radio Corporation of America yesterday reported a decrease in earnings for both the half year and quarter ended June 30 compared with the corresponding periods of 1943. Consolidated net income for the first six months this year was $4,440,214, or 21 cents a common share, against $4,918,794, or 24 cents a share, for the first half of 1943.

June quarter profit was $2,038,980, equal to 9 cents a share, compared with $2,323,882, or 11 cents a share, a year earlier. The results are subject to renegotiation of war contracts, the company said.

Public Service Company of Northern Illinois reported net earnings for the six months ended June 30 of $1,607,947, equal to $2.40 a share of common stock, compared with net income of $1,789,633, or $2.67 a share, in the first six months of 1943.

BLACK & DECKER VOTES 40 CENTS EXTRA DIVIDEND

Black & Decker Manufacturing company, manufacturers of electric tools, yesterday declared an extra dividend of 40 cents with the regular quarterly dividend of 40 cents.

Plymouth Oil company declared a dividend of 1½ per cent on common, payable in stock, in addition to the quarterly cash dividend of 25 cents. A similar stock dividend was paid by the company in December, 1942.

A dividend of $4 on arrears on the preferred stock was declared by American Woolen company. This brings disbursements to $8 for this year, equalling last year's total payments.

Vote Broader State Rule of Job Benefits

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 2.—The senate finance committee today approved a bill giving additional powers to states in the administration of unemployment compensation, an action hailed by Republican senators as a step toward restoring states' rights in public welfare legislation.

"This is a step in the right direction," Sen. Nye [R., N. D.] said in an interview. "It's time the states had some control over the granting of benefits to their people."

Sen. Revercomb [R., W. Va.], a critic of New Deal-sponsored legislation providing billions of dollars in unemployment benefits and vocational training for demobilized war workers, said the finance committee action opened the way for turning relief measures for war workers over to states, leaving veterans' relief a federal responsibility.

Sen. George Introduces Bill.

The bill acted upon by the finance committee was introduced in the senate yesterday by Sen. George [D., Ga.], chairman of the committee and a frequent critic of New Deal policies. He was one of the anti-New Deal senators whom President Roosevelt tried unsuccessfully to purge in the 1938 election.

Two million federal workers employed in arsenals, shipyards, and federal owned corporations would be placed under state unemployment systems by George's bill. At present, such workers are not included in any unemployment benefit system or in the federal retirement system.

Other provisions of the George bill are for federal reimbursement to states for payments to federal workers, and a revolving loan fund to enable states to liberalize their benefits, which now average $18 a week. Provisions of the bill would be in effect until two years after the end of the war.

Will Face Vote Tuesday.

The George bill, which is scheduled to be voted on Tuesday in the senate, is one of several pieces of legislation before congress to provide for the reconversion of the nation's economy from a war to a peace-time basis.

The senate military affairs committee tomorrow will consider a bill drafted by a subcommittee, composed of Sen. Murray [D., Mont.], Sen. Truman [D., Mo.], and Sen. Revercomb. Revercomb refused to sign the subcommittee report and has filed a minority report criticizing generous provisions covering benefits for demobilized war workers. The bill also provides machinery for contract terminations and resumption of peace-time manufacture by plants in war production.

"This bill certainly was drawn with an eye cocked for political appeal in this election year," Revercomb said in an interview. "These highly paid war workers should have saved money for the demobilization period, but it's part of the New Deal philosophy to plant the idea that the government will take care of them. Thrift no longer is a virtue in the minds of those running our government."

Cook County Auto Agencies Five Fewer than Year Ago

The 394 automobile agencies in Cook county on July 1 were only five fewer than a year earlier, the Chicago Automobile Trade association reported yesterday.

SURPLUS GOODS SALES METHOD SET UP BY OPA

Over-All Program Effective Sept. 1.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 2 (AP).—The office of price administration today outlined what it described as "broad over-all methods" of price control for sales of surplus government property, covering all commodities except food and those originally purchased for resale or stockpiling.

Effective Sept. 1 or earlier at the option of any government agency, the new methods are flexible enough to cover the vast number of expected sales, OPA said.

Regular Ceilings on New Goods.

For new commodities, the program provides that established dollars-and-cents ceilings will apply. Where a varied group of new commodities is held at one place and sold to one purchaser, and where determination of dollars and cents ceilings "would be unduly burdensome, the entire group of commodities may be sold at the acquisition or replacement cost."

If the varied group is made up of new and used or all used commodities, the ceiling for the whole lot may be 75 per cent of the acquisition cost, OPA said.

In the sale of used commodities under other circumstances, maximum prices are to be determined by [1] dollars-and-cents ceilings where they exist, [2] formulas in existing price regulations for the same commodities, or [3] formulas used by the selling agencies and approved by OPA.

Use Scrap Materials Ceilings.

Dollars-and-cents ceilings where they exist also will apply in sales of scrap materials. Scrap not listed in existing regulations is exempt from price control.

Government agencies may apply to OPA for a ceiling price, or exemption, in all cases where dollars-and-cents ceilings are not provided, or where alternative methods are not utilized.

Specific exemptions from price control include sales by one government agency to another; to any foreign government; to any contractor using the commodities to carry out a prime contract with a government agency; to any relief organization for donation or export sales; of all or substantially all of the government-owned contents of a plant to the plant owner, lessee, or operator, or any single buyer purchasing for use, and of building installations, facilities, equipment, and personal property attached to the land.

Besides government agencies, the order applies to contractors selling for the government.

Order Draft of Complete Plan for City Traction Ownership

The drafting of a complete physical and financial plan for acquisition of the elevated and surface lines by the city of Chicago was ordered yesterday at a meeting of the city council's local transportation committee. The plan will be submitted to the council for approval, and to Federal Judge Igoe at his traction hearing on Aug. 16.

The proposal is to be drawn up by Philip Harrington, commissioner of subways and superhighways, and his staff. It will be placed before the transportation committee next Tuesday. A special meeting of the council might be called to act on the plan. The Sidley committee appointed by Judge Igoe is to be invited to the committee meeting.

"No Private Owner Solution."

Harrington told committee members there was no solution of the traction problem under private ownership, and that any city offer accepted by the operating companies would be subject to referendum and the sale of securities.

The city has made a preliminary offer of 83 million dollars for the elevated and surface lines.

Harrington suggested that Judge Igoe be requested to order the submission of the city ownership plan to the security holders, and added that the proposal would provide for allocation of the purchase price to the security holders.

Foreclosure Is Suggested.

Joseph F. Grossman, assistant corporation council, said a court sale of the properties under foreclosure proceedings would take the matter out of the hands of the Illinois commerce commission and the securities and exchange commission.

Action on a resolution submitted at the preceding council meeting by Ald. Lindell [9th], calling upon the city to cease all negotiations to purchase the traction properties or renew the franchises, and to organize a separate company and have a referendum on municipal ownership at the November election was deferred until the committee determined its policy regarding the new plan.

Stocks Extend Rise in Face of Peace Caution

New York, Aug. 2 (AP).—The stock market today extended yesterday's upturn. Market leadership was supplied by the steels, motors, and a few "blue chip" industrials.

Speculative caution resulting from recent ideas about a sudden ending of the war in Europe was accentuated by Prime Minister Churchill's optimistic speech in the house of commons, the Turkish-German diplomatic break, and the hard battering of the Nazi line in France.

General Motors and a few other issues were helped by good earnings reports. Rails were sluggish as a group, altho Union Pacific pushed up 1½ points.

The Associated Press 60 stock composite gained 0.2 point at 55.0. Transactions totaled 797,280 shares, against 746,410 yesterday.

BONDS SELECTIVELY HIGHER.

New York, Aug. 2 (AP).—The bond market was selectively higher today on expanded demand for the recently neglected rails and investment interest in low yield groups.

Denmark loans dropped 1 to more than 2 points, but Czechoslovakia 8s advanced 4 to 75.

CHICAGO PRICES RISE.

Prices on the Chicago Stock exchange were higher yesterday on transfers of 26,000 shares. Volume leaders included Commonwealth Edison, up ⅝, Electric Household, up ¼, Spiegel, up ⅛, and Standard Dredge, unchanged. Consumers preferred at 32, up 1¼, and six other issues reached new highs.

RETAILERS ASK ONLY FREEDOM AND FAIR CHANCE, SAYS MEEK

Retailers seek legislation which encourages free enterprise and oppose that which contains the "deadly virus of more government regulation and burocratic control," J. T. Meek, executive secretary of the Illinois Federation of Retail associations, said yesterday at the annual convention of the National Association of Variety Stores in the Merchandise Mart.

Meek said the small merchant needed only the opportunity to borrow from local banks, abolition of war time economic controls as soon as possible, an immediate reconversion program, and revision of the tax structure.

An example of the type of legislation which the retailer opposes is the so-called "small business" bill recently introduced by Sen. Murray [Dem., Mont.], Meek said.

"Actually, this legislation would set up advisers in thousands of communities, develop a huge lending system to the detriment of our local bankers and our own economy, and build more burocratic controls which would harm the very people who must have good jobs and buying power if we are to survive," he said.

12.7 Per Cent Sales Rise Reported by Jewel Tea

The Jewel Tea company yesterday reported sales of $4,350,480 for the four weeks ended July 15, against $3,860,536 a year ago, an increase of 12.7 per cent.

FISHERS RESIGN AS EXECUTIVES OF GEN. MOTORS

Four Brothers End 25 Year Service.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

The widely known Fisher brothers of Detroit—one of the nation's richest and most active family groups—yesterday gave up their "jobs" with the General Motors corporation, ending a 25 years' relationship with the world's largest automobile company. Organizers of the Fisher Body corporation, in which G. M. bought a two-thirds interest in 1919 and later acquired complete control, the brothers continued to operate the body activity as a division of G. M.

W. A. Fisher.

Alfred P. Sloan Jr., chairman of the board of G. M., announced with "great regret the retirement from active service in the corporation" of William A., Lawrence P., Edward F., and Alfred J. Fisher. Lawrence, William and Edward had served as vice presidents of G. M., and closely associated with Fisher Body. Alfred was director of aircraft activities of Fisher Body.

Predict New Joint Activity.

Sloan gave no reason for the resignations and the Fishers were non-committal. Lawrence Fisher said in Detroit that he and his brothers may make a joint statement in a few days. The Associated Press said Detroit sources indicated, however, that the Fisher brothers plan to "get back together again" in an independent corporation of their own. Speculation among their acquaintances suggests their entry into a manufacturing operation, possibly connected with the aviation industry. The brothers now have a company, Fisher & Co., to handle their investment interests.

At one time six Fisher brothers were with G. M. Fred J., and Charles T. Fisher, the elder brothers who organized the body company, retired in 1934 to devote their time to their own interests. Fred died several years ago and Charles continued as head of Fisher & Co.

Continue as Directors.

The seventh and youngest of the brothers, Howard, was never connected with G. M., but was inter-

LABOR CHARGES UNFAIR, CHICAGO FIRMS CONTEND

Two Say Report Wrongly 25 Year Relationship.

Officials of two of three Chicago companies listed by a house military affairs subcommittee Tuesday as among "typical cases" investigated in excessive costs of labor rented to war contractors, yesterday termed the listing "unfair" and "erroneous."

The subcommittee, headed by Rep. Durham [D., N. C.], had said no reflections were intended on legitimate engineering companies supplying specialists to companies in connection with war contracts they are supervising.

Denies Firm Rents Labor.

John P. Jones, general manager of George S. May company, one of the companies listed, said his firm had been "erroneously included in the list."

"According to the government's own definition, the company should not be included," he asserted. "We do not rent labor at all, and our work is accomplished under strong organizational supervision. We are engaged in legitimate industrial and business engineering and the record will show that."

Al Conn, managing director of La Salle Designing company, another Chicago firm listed by the committee said:

"It is very unfair that the committee includes legitimate firms with 'racketeering' firms in the industry. We have not made a business of renting out employes, but we do have contact men in plants who pick up work and send it back."

Few Work Outside Plant.

He said his company is engaged in tool designing, special machine designing and management engineering. He asserted that 15 per cent, at the most, of the firm's employes were engaged in work outside the plant and that the total of employes averaged between 125 and 200.

The company's net profit in 1943 was low enough so that the renegotiation board gave it complete clearance, he said.

Barnes & Reineke, the third Chicago company listed by the committee, said it had no statement at this time.

FLY 100 B-24S AWAY WEEKLY AT WILLOW RUN

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 2 (AP).—The Ford-operated Willow Run bomber plant is flying away more than 100 completed B-24 Liberators each week, the company announced today.

July was the first month during which all planes were flown away, it said, and more completed bombers were delivered to the army than in any previous month.

The bomber plant shipped part of its output in knockdown form for final assembly in other aircraft factories until a few weeks ago.

BASIS FOR RENT ADJUSTMENTS IN HOTELS CHANGED

Washington, D. C., Aug. 2 (AP).—OPA today changed the basis for making an adjustment in the maximum rent of hotels and rooming houses in cases involving a major capital improvement or an increase or decrease in services, furniture, or furnishings.

Effective tomorrow such adjustments will be based on the difference in rental value resulting from the changes. Heretofore they were on the basis of rents generally prevailing in the area for comparable accommodations on the miximum rent date.

SUTHERLAND PAPER.

Please report on Sutherland Paper company. What is the raw material situation?—T. U.

Answer: Sutherland is a leading manufacturer of paper board packages. Production consists largely of specialized containers for food, including paraffined types used by the packing and dairy industries. The company has reported increased sales in each of the last five years and the 1943 volume of $15,479,000 was more than double that for 1938.

Part of the gain may be attributed to special war time influence, but the paper container industry is hopeful of retaining some of the new sales outlets. With the resumption of Scandinavian pulp shipments after the war, the possibility is seen of lower prices for this raw material, which, if realized, would tend to offset the effect on earnings of some decline in sales of finished products.

Sutherland produces paper board from pulp bought from Canadian and domestic mills and from waste paper. Raw material supplies are described by officials as sufficient up to this time. The company's plants are in Kalamazoo, Mich.

Capitalization consists of 287,000 shares of $10 par. Per share earnings for recent years were: 1943, $2.86; 1942, $2.57; 1941, $2.85; 1940, $2.84; 1939, $2.52; 1938, $2.04. For the first half of 1944, the profit was $1.18 a share. The regular dividend rate in recent years has been $1.20 a share a year, plus an annual extra of 5 cents paid since 1941. Net working capital as of Dec. 31 last, after provision for retirement of the last of a serial debenture issue, was $2,484,724.

FISHERS RESIGN AS EXECUTIVES OF GEN. MOTORS

ested principally in private business of the group.

Sloan said that Lawrence and Edward would continue to serve on the G. M. board of directors and that Edward and Alfred would continue with Fisher Body as long as their services are needed in connection with war work.

Altho most of their activities have been in Detroit, the Fisher brothers have had some Chicago business interests. Charles is a director of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company and is a frequent visitor in Chicago. The brothers at one time were reported associated with the late Arthur Cutten in stock market operations here.
